STOCKS DROP SHARPLY IN LATE TRADE AFTER RALLY

New Selling Wave Depresses Several Leading Issues to New Lows on Movement, Many Shares Closing 4 to 15 Points Lower.

LARGE BLOCKS SELL IN THE LAST HOUR

Trade Volume Large Indicating Liquidation—Selling Is Concentrated in the Favorites in Recent Advance.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The stock market had a severe sinking spell today, failing to respond to such old-time tonics as a cut in the rediscount rate and the consequent cheapening of call money.

After a flood of selling had reached high tide during the morning, and begun to subside, support was thrown into the market, which caused a moderate rally. In the last few minutes of trading, however, a new deluge of selling depressed several leading issues to new low levels for the movement, many showing net losses at the close of 4 to 15 points.

The selling was concentrated in the popular trading favorites, which led the recent advance. Allied Chemical lost 15 points, and shares losing 10 or more included Eastman Kodak, American Power & Light, J. I. Case, and Houston Oil. Shares selling off 6 to 8 points included Johns Manville, Radio, Vanadium, Worthington Pump, Columbian Carbon, United Aircraft, American Can and Standard of N. J. 5 points, and U. S. Steel nearly 4.

The average closing price of 20 utility stocks was off 12.3 points and 50 industrials were down 5.5 points, while 20 railroads were up .1 point, with the total of 90 stocks down 5.9 points.

Large Blocks in Deals.

The late dumping of stocks included blocks of 10,000 shares of Radio and General Electric, and 20,000 shares of Warner Bros. The decline was undoubtedly accelerated by heavy short selling. Total sales, however, were carried to 5,986,330, the largest turnover of the year, and such heavy volume indicated that real liquidation was in progress.

President Hoover's optimistic report of general business conditions failed to bolster the stock market. For while it is widely recognized that business is gradually improving, and should reach normal proportions by autumn at least, the stock market has found its rise of early spring was excessive, has found itself vulnerable to unfavorable first quarter earnings statements.

Furthermore, it is faced with the normal seasonal slack in industry during the summer. All these factors have combined to discourage professional traders who were enthusiastic over the market a few weeks ago.

Member Loans up $406,829,020.

Total borrowings of members of the New York Stock Exchange against security collateral at the close of business April 30, showed an increase for the month of $406,829,020, with a total of $5,063,131,359. This however is far below the total of $6,774930395 reported at the end of April 1929. The high record was reached at the end of last September when borrowings totaled $8,549,383,979.

Money rates in the open market reflected the process of downward adjustment to conform with the new standard established by the cut in the bank rate. Bankers' acceptances which were cut late yesterday are now quoted 2¾-2⅞ per cent for 30-120 days maturities, time money was shaded from recent levels, and the same was true of commercial paper rates. While confirmation was not obtainable, it was reported that the Federal Reserve Bank had cut its buying rate for bills to 2¾ per cent on maturities up to 4 months. Call money renewed at 3½ per cent, the lowest since the middle of March, and later dropped to 3 per cent, the lowest since March 21 last, with demand loans against acceptances offered at 2¾ per cent.

Stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on pages 23C, 24C and 25C.

Sixty Percent of Teachers Vote For Dry Enforcement; Doctors Two to One in Favor of Change

Special Poll by Literary Digest Shows 55 Pct. of Lawyers for Repeal— Clergy 57.9 Pct. for Prohibition.

School teachers, the greater part of whom are women, vote 60 per cent for prohibition enforcement; the clergy, practically all men, vote 57.9 per cent for enforcement; physicians, 49 per cent for repeal of the eighteenth amendment; lawyers, 55.6 per cent for repeal; and bankers, 41.5 per cent for enforcement and 40.6 per cent for repeal. in the special polls conducted by the Literary Digest in connection with its main prohibition poll of 20,000,000 votes.

The special polls, in which the Digest sent out 2,136,621 ballots, and in which it received 987,511 votes, are distinct from the main poll, of which the Digest this week prints no figures. Many of the teachers, bankers and others to whom special ballots were sent, also voted in the main poll, and this gave rise to charges that some persons were "voting twice."

Besides the groups named, the Digest sent special ballots to all its subscribers. Its figures for the six groups are:

Bankers, 218,711 ballots sent out, 84,824 votes cast. Enforcement, 35,210; modification, 15,096; repeal, 34,518.

Clergy, 116,235 ballots sent out, 46,639 votes cast. Enforcement, 26,863; modification, 3864; repeal, 15,912.

Educators, 490,895 ballots sent out, 157,083 votes cast. Enforcement, 95,422; modification, 22,705; repeal, 38,956.

Lawyers, 132,489 ballots sent out, 62,730 votes cast. Enforcement, 18,101; modification, 9743; repeal, 34,886.

Physicians, 154,670 ballots sent out, 65,579 votes cast. Enforcement, 19,956; modification, 13,568; repeal, 32,235.

Literary Digest subscribers, 1,023,621 ballots sent out, 570,656 votes cast. Enforcement, 224,921; modification, 110,465; repeal. 235,270.

The clergy vote shows a wide variance in different states. Of 35 states in which the clergy gave majorities for enforcement, the most pronounced majorities are in Virginia, 678 for enforcement to 92 for the combined wet proposals, and in North Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee.

In Kansas, chief seat of dry sentiment in the general poll, the clergy vote 709 for enforcement, 75 for modification and 269 for repeal. In the District of Columbia, the clergy vote 42 for enforcement, 38 for modification and 234 for repeal. In Louisiana, New York and Wisconsin, a majority of the clergy vote for repeal. The Missouri clergy vote is 738 for enforcement, 139 for modification and 649 for repeal.

Among the educators, no state shows a majority for repeal, though New York comes within 127 votes of doing so, out of a poll of 22,369. In 41 states, including Missouri and in the District of Columbia, the educators give a majority vote for enforcement

As to the educators polled, the Digest says:

"We have chosen the well-known efficient and long-suffering schoolmistress to represent the teachers, but this group also includes thousands of men, school principals, college professors and presidents and large numbers of men teachers in all the grades. The teachers are faced every day with the vital problem of our young people, which flames out in the news columns all too often,

MISSOURI U. CURATORS FILE CHARGES AGAINST DR. MEYER

Professor Once Suspended Because of Sex Questionnaire to Be Heard May 16.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 2.—Charges of insubordination against Dr. Max F. Meyer, recently reinstated head of the psychology department of the University of Missouri, were voted by the University Board of Curators here today. The charges are based on Meyer's speech at Nashville, Tenn., two weeks ago, attacking the methods of the board, which suspended him for one year for his part in the circulation of a sex questionnaire at Columbia last spring.

Frank M. McDavid, Springfield, and H. J. Blanton, Paris, the curators whom Prof. Meyer criticised most severely in his speech, did not participate in the framing of a statement.

J. E. Goodrich of the Board of Curators said Meyer would be heard in Columbia May 16. Heyer will be invited to appear with counsel if he wishes.

The speech which caused the curators' action was delivered before the Southern Society of Philosophy and Psychology.

HOOVER WANTS $10,660,000 TO BEGIN BOULDER DAM WORK

Requests That Congress Make That Amount Available Immediately for Power Project.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—President Hoover today reqested Congress to make available immediately $10,660,000 to begin construction of Boulder Canyon Dam.

The request was made in order to supply funds for the commencement of work on the main stream of the Colorado River at Black Canyon to create a storage reservoir and for a power plant and incidental structures suitable for the development of the project to produce electrical energy and to control the flood waters of that stream.

YOUNG BROTHERS' OFFICE FIXTURES SOLD AT AUCTION

Sale Held in Room Where "Pep" Meetings Were Conducted Before Firm's $2,000,000 Crash.

PROCEEDS TO GO TO CREDITORS

Expensive Desks, Chairs and Partitions Among Few Tangible Assets of Bankrupt Brokers.

Two hundred men and women attended a spirited auction today in the eight-room suite of offices of the collapsed brokerage firm of W. H. Young & Bros., Inc., on the second floor of the Central National Bank Building, where formerly the high-pressure stock salesmen held their "pep" meetings.

In announcing he would accept bids on the office furnishings, Auctioneer Alexander Selkirk Jr. sounded a note of skepticism induced by the firm's failure. "Cash deposits required," Selkirk declared. "We know you people are all good as gold—but so were Young Bros."

Dealers, office managers, housewives, customers and curiosity seekers trooped with the auctioneer from room to room, the dealers shaking their heads sadly as the bidding rose above what they considered true values.

Some of the Prices Paid.

The luxurious fittings in the private offices of President William H. Young and Vice President Fred C. Young attracted comment. William's red leather divan and chair brought $192.50; Fred's, $185. A radio brought $19; bookcase and books, $62.50; private telephone system, $80; swivel chair and glass-topped table, $165 each; two carpets, $75 each; desk set in the shape of an elephant, $75; desk lamps, $6; desk and chair, $220; eight walnut chairs, $48 each; walnut partitions, $550; inlaid wastebasket, $15.

"They must have used that wastebasket to throw crumpled $1 bills in," suggested one cynical spectator.

A costumer was sold for $15, prompting an observation: "The customers were already sold."

Undertaker Buys Limousine.

Sales totaled $6286.25 although the articles had been appraised at only $4000.

In addition, two Cadillac limousines owned by the company and used by the Young brothers, were sold at an auction in a garage at Ninth and Chestnut streets. Arthur J. Donnelly, undertaker, paid $2100 for the five-passenger limousine, and J. A. McFall, liveryman, $2200 for the seven-passenger car.

The proceeds of the sale will be used for the benefit of creditors.

Few tangible assets have been discovered by the Federal receiver in bankruptcy, F. E. Williams. It has been estimated that Young Bros. customers will lose approximately $2,000,000, including $1,400,000 on the firm's worthless preferred stock.

To save rent, the receiver has vacated the spacious suite and taken a small adjoining office, while winding up the company's affairs.

Stock in the Midwest Holding Co., one of several subsidiaries of Young Bros. is worthless, according to attorneys familiar with the Midwest Co. The Midwest Co. apparently held small equities in four Kansas City apartment buildings, against which foreclosure proceedings are pending. The present value of the buildings is such that it appears only enough will be realized to satisfy the mortgage holders, and perhaps not so much.

One of hundreds of complaints being made by Young Bros. clients has come from Miss Mattie Ashley Jack of Columbia, Mo., and is typical of many others. Originally she held $3900 worth of stock of Investors' Royalty Co., distributed by Young Bros., but decided to sell a small part of her holdings. In order to obtain a new certificate, she turned the old one back to Young Bros. She now has nothing to show for her money, as the new certificate was never delivered.

SHOEWORKER, LOAN FIRM HEAD, $11,000 SHORT

FORGED SIGNATURES ON FICTITIOUS NOTES

Brotherhood Loan & Investment Co. Paid 6 Pct. on Deposits—$67,000 in Accounts Due.

Benjamin Greenberg, an ambitious shoeworker, who branched out into the small loan and banking business as president of the Brotherhood Loan and Investment Co., with an office in the Buder Building, is being sought by police on complaint of the company's receiver that he misappropriated $11,000.

Greenberg is about 40 years old. He has not been seen since March 15, when he left his wife and two children at their home, 5874 Maffitt avenue. His deserted family has since moved to an address on Cates avenue.

"Greenberg was employed as a cutter at one of the International Shoe Co. factories," Carl M. Dubinsky, receiver for the Brotherhood Co., told a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "He interested shoeworkers and other wage earners in the company, which had approximately 350 borrowers and 200 depositors.

$67,000 in Accounts Due.

"Accounts due total $67,000, represented mostly by promissory notes bearing the signature of the borrower and two indorsers. What loss the company will suffer depends upon how many of the notes can be collected. The company has $20,000 capital.

"It appears the company did a banking business, although not chartered to do so. Savings deposits were accepted and 6 per cent interest paid on them. The company put the money out at 10 per cent, a profit of 4 per cent. The 6 per cent appealed to workingmen who were offered 3 to 4 per cent at banks.

Returned $312 to Receiver.

"Careless management resulted in a receivership March 13. Greenberg then admitted to Herman Schachter, 5158 Palm street, an attorney and secretary of the company, that he had taken $11,000 by retaining collections, 'boosting loans' and writing out new loans with forged signatures or fictitious names. He turned back $312 and stayed around the office for a few days, helping the receiver and auditors by pointing out the irregular transactions. He was not arrested at the time as his assistance was needed. He promised to be available when wanted, but suddenly disappeared."

Greenberg had continued to work daily in the shoe factory, tending to the loan business at night and drawing only a small salary as president of the firm. The receiver has no information that the $11,000 was gambled away, and thinks Greenberg spent it on his household.

MAN ENDS LIFE BY GAS; LEAVES NOTE IN HAT BAND

"I Am Bernard D. Thomas," It Says; Asks That Insurance Man Be Notified.

The body of a man who ended his life with gas after registering under an assumed name, was found in a third-floor room of the Forest Park Hotel this afternoon. Apparently he had been dead for about 24 hours.

Stuck in the band of a hat on the dresser was a note which read: "I am Bernard D. Thomas. Please arrange to notify Mr. Howard, who will take care of everything." Attached was a business card of Grover C. Howard, assistant superintendent of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., 3638 Olive street. Howard declined to tell anything about Thomas until he had viewed the body.

At the hotel it was said the man registered Wednesday as E. A. Stalley of Dallas, Tex. He appeared to be about 35 years old. The body was found on the floor of the room when an engineer smelled gas and broke open the door. A rubber tube led from a gas burner to a funnel, where it was fastened with adhesixe tape. The funnel, inverted, was fastened to the dead man's face.

Police found amon gthe man's possessions a bank book showing deposits in an East Chicago, Ind., depository.

WOMAN KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

Pilot Brown of St. Louis Slightly Hurt in Accident Near Fort Scott, Kan.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., May 2.—Mrs. Joseph Wasson, of Marshall, Mo., passenger in an airplane piloted by Warren Brown of St. Louis, was killed when the plane crashed and burned in a cornfield near Archer Field this afternoon.

The plane, a low-wing two seater, fell from a height of 100 feet and Mrs. Wasson, in the front cockpit, was enveloped in flames. Brown was thrown clear and landed in soft earth about 40 feet away. He was slightly injured.

A few minutes before the accident the plane circled over the city several times before heading toward the airport. Brown, who had purchased the plane in Marshall, was on his way to Waco, Tex., and Mrs. Wasson was to have accompanied him as far as Tulsa, Ok. She is the wife of the assistant sales manager of the company which made the plane.

Brown received his pilot's license last Wednesday.

Brown is the son of Mrs. W. C. Brown, 4402 McPherson avenue.

DO-X TO GO TO SOUTH AMERICA

World's Largest Plane to Extend Flight to United States.

By the Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 2.—Maurice Dornier, one of the builders of the world's largest airplane, the Dornier DO-X said yesterday the 12-motored ship would fly to South America after completion of its flight to the United States.

The flight to the United States is scheduled for late in July or early in August, depending on the outcome of tests with the American motors which have been installed, and will be by way of the Azores and Bermuda.

LATHERS CUT WORKING DAY TO SIX HOURS

With 40 Per Cent of Members Idle, Union Acts to Provide Jobs.

In an effort to find work for the unemployed 40 per cent of its membership, Lathers' Local Union, No. 73 voted last night to adopt a six-hour work day, beginning Monday.

The lathers, one of the first unions to put the five-day week into effect, are the first local labor group to shorten the working day in a practical application of the principle of "one for all and all for one." As all union building workmen are paid for the number of hours they work, the action will have no effect on construction costs, but will reduce the daily wages of lathers from $12 to $9. By reducing the work day of each man two hours, one adidtional man to every three now working will be needed. There are about 300 men in the union.

Maurice J. Cassidy, secretary of the Building Trades Council, who recently estimated that 40 per cent of the 18,000 building craftsmen in the council are idle, said the shortened work day probably would be accepted by other unions in an effort to "spread out the available work."

Reduced working periods during the present depression in the building industry are advocated by the American Federation of Labor, Cassidy said.

Harry J. Hagen, business agent for the lathers, said the men were unanimous in voting for the shortened day. About 70 per cent of the membership were unemployed all winter, the union giving financial assistance to many. "We had to do something to help the fellows who, through no fault of their own, cannot find work," Hagen said.

Under the new arrangement lathers will go to work at 8 a. m. and quit at 2:30 p. m., taking a half hour for lunch.

Building permits issued so far this year total $4,995,406, as compared with $11,394,752 in the same period last year. April permits amounted to $2,577,845, a decrease of $1,476,966, as compared with April, 1929.

VOTE GOES OVER UNTIL NEXT WEEK; FIVE-DAY DEBATE

Nebraska Senator Says North Carolina Judge Could Have Been Less Severe in West Virginia Miners' Case.

ANOTHER DECISION PUT IN RECORD

Black Places Case Involving Restraint on Helping Workers Seeking to Retain Their Homes Before Senators.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The spectacular struggle over the confirmation of John J. Parker as justice of the Supreme Court closed its fifth day in the Senate this afternoon with every indication that the outcome would be decided by a very narrow margin. Neither side was willing to risk an immediate decision lest the other win, and the Senate recessed late today until Monday.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, leader of the opposition, engaged Senator Fess of Ohio, leader of the Parker forces, in a colorful debate on the Senate floor but it was no secret that the real fight was being conducted behind the scenes, where administration leaders waged a furnious campaign to line up the few additional votes necessary to insure confirmation and the opposition resisted tenaciously.

If Parker is confirmed the margin of confirmation will consist of the votes of Southern Democratic Senators, cast for him largely because of his anti-Negro record. If President Hoover had to rely upon Republican votes to confirm his nominee, Parker would be rejected.

Norris, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which reported unfavorably on Parker's qualifications, launched a powerful attack on the nominee's action in upholding an injunction issued under the notorious "Yellow Dog" contract.

He said the contract and the injunction based on it were "relics of barbarism," and that a Judge who upheld either was "out of step with modern civilization."

"Yellow Dog" Contracts.

Norris read to the Senate a number of typical "yellow dog" contracts, whereby employes pledged themselve not to join unions or to do any one of a large number of things prohibited their employes. He also produced copies of inqunctions based on the contracts. In one issued by Federal Judge Scott of Iowa employes were restrained from talking to union organizers; from desclosing, eith orally or in writing, any information about their wages or working conditions or even revealing the fact they had signed "yellow-dog" contracts. "I thing it is time to put some humanity into the courts," declared the white-haired Nebraskan. "I have no personal feeling against the men who have issued or upheld these cruel injunctions, but it is obvious that they are relying upon barbarous precedents. From the Supreme Court there is no appeal, and it is our duty to pass upon the views of these Judges who pass upon the liberties of the people.

"I insist that the men who go upon that bench shall have in their hearts some sympathy for their fellow citizens and some respect for the rights of those who toil. I insist that they must discard these barbarous precedents and approach these problems with some regard for the demands of civilization."

Norris Quotes Marshall.

Norris, himself a noted Constitutional lawyer, denied that Parker was bound by precedent to uphold the notorious "Yellow Dog" injunction against West Virginia miners.

Norris said there were two prior decisions, equally applicable to the case, under one of which Parker could have upheld the injunction, and under the other of which he could have modified it. Parker chose the former course, and—Norris remarked—"not only upheld

WET LEAGUE HEAD QUESTIONED ON LIQUOR PURCHASE

W. H. Stayton Denies Buying Supply "For Celebration for Presidential Candidate in 1928."

HE WAS "BILL", EX-DRY CHIEF "L. C."

Letter From Lincoln C. Andrews Asking Aid in Getting Law Through Congress Read.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, told the Senate Lobby Committee today his association had not purchased any liquor to be served at a "celebration for a candidate for the presidency of the United States" in 1928."

Caraway read a letter written by Stayton to former Senator Wadsworth of New York on April 6, 1928, which discussed a speech Wadsworth was to deliver.

Denies Buying Liquor.

The chairman also read from several slips he said were attached to the letter. The notations mentioned champagne, gin, vermouth and Scotch and gave what purported to be their price. The total Caraway said, was $76.50.

Stayton said he was unable to explain the notations. The correspondence indicated the speech was to have been delivered at the University Club at Baltimore.

In response to a question by Senator Blaine, (Rep.), Wisconsin, Stayton said his association had not purchased any liquor to be served at a "celebration for a candidate for the presidency" in 1928.

The topic was not mentioned further.

Stayton said he knew President Hoover "is not at heart a dry," in a letter to Herber L. Clark of Philadelphia. It read:

"From what I hear, Mr. Hoover has made up his mind that the drys are of that temperament which impels them to regard somewhat fanatically the wet and dry issue as being superior to all questions of government and of morals, and that, consequently, a dry will always scratch from the ticket a man who does not do lip service to the dry cause.

"At the same time, Mr. Hoover, I learn, believes that the wets are of a different temperament and he thinks that he can get votes from the wets without espousing their cause and that therefore, as a matter of vote getting, he had better take the dry side.

"If he were sincerely a dry, one might hope to convince him by argument or statement of fact, but, as I know that he is not at heart a dry, I fear that I must approach the conclusion that he is a dry because of the prospective profit in votes and nothing that has to do with right and wrong or with facts will make any impression upon him."

Stayton Excused.

Stayton was excused today and the committee adjourned until Tuesday. It will then begin an investigation of the Anti-Saloon League, whose witnessses have not been decided on.

Caraway read a memorandum purporting to have been prepared for Irene du Pont of Wilmington, Del., by G. T. Barnhill Jr., Delaware manager of the association on July 31, 1929. The memorandum said in part:

"It seems to me that our association should endeavor to help select a new appointee in order to establish contact with the school system in Wilmington and thereby prevent the teaching of dry propaganda originating with the Anti-Saloon League and kindred organizations.

"I have discussed this matter with Capt. Stayton over the telephone and he apparently is in full accord with the idea and with this thought in mind, I was instrumental in having Prof. C. W. Schantz, now superintendent of the Smyrna Special School District, make application for the position.

"With the exception of yourself and a few other people, no one knows that I have any connection with the Schantz application."

Discusses Supreme Court.

Another letter written by Stayton on March 13, 1929, to Henry Alan Johnston of New York, discussing the Supreme Court said:

"In the days of Mr. Taft, we have one that is quite as wishy-washy as was his administration of the presidential office."

It added: "If we do not give the present Court an opportunity to hand down an opinion prepared under dry dictation, we will, I think, be better off one, two or five years from now, when we come to present the matter to a court with a changed personnel."

A pamphlet, prepared by Arthur W. Machen Jr., former Maryland manager of the association, said: "If the dry tyranny is not overthrown by ballots now (Jan. 20, 1930) it is bound to be destroyed by bullets hereafter. The patriot must be up and stirring while peaceful means are still possible."

The pamphlet was addressed to "members of the Executive Committee of the Maryland Division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment."

Stayton said he agreed with the pamphlet in a "broad general view," but that he could not explain what was meant by the "bullets" referred to.

Doesn't Rate Davis as Wet.

Stayton, at the outset today said he did not regard James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor as a "wet" but he reiterated his opinion expressed yesterday that Davis thought prohibition was a failure.

Chairman Caraway of the committee said a friend of Davis had called attention to an apparent inconsistency in Stayton's testimony yesterday, when he expressed the opinion that six members of the Hoover cabinet considered prohibition a failure.

Caraway then read testimony by Stayton which said he classified Davis as a "wet" and later said he was "not wet hardly."

"I do not regard him hardly as a wet," Stayton testified today, adding that he still believed Davis thought prohibition a failure.

Other members of the cabinet mentioned were Secretaries Stimson, Adams, Mellon, Lamont and Postmaster-General Brown.

Stimson, Adams and Lamont said yesterday Stayton had not spoken for them; while Davis, Mellon and Brown did not comment.

Andrews Asked His Aid.

After the mention of Davis, Caraway turned to some correspondence exchanged in 1927 between Stayton and Lincoln C. Andrews, then Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement. The letters showed that Andrews had drawn up some proposed medicinal spirits legislation and had asked Stayton to aid in obtaining its passage through Congress.

In a letter to Andrews, the witness said he would co-operate. Later letters showed he had discussed the legislation with members of Congress. They addressed each other as "Bill" and "L. C."

Quoting Jouett Shouse.

A letter from Thomas J. Anketell, who was not identified, to Henry B. Joy of Detroit, read by Senator Robinson, said it quoted from a letter from Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, as follows:

"I think I told you in our conversation that the recent testimony of Mr. Joy of the Packard Motor Co. before the Judiciary Committee of the House at Washington, was to my mind the most convincing and the most constructive statement made during the hearing of those who believe that there must be some change in the existing conditions relative to prohibition.

"I read Mr. Joy's testimony with a great deal of interest and called Mr. Raskob's specific attention to it."

Robinson read a letter from Emory W. Clark of Detroit, to Stayton, on April 17, 1930, which said:

"The dinner for men only in New York the other evening, where the Statue of Liberty was made the butt, and Uncle Sam ridiculed, was to say the least an unfortunate affair.

"If there is to be a revolution in this country let us approach it with a calm and sane mind."

Stayton said the letter did not refer to a meeting of his association.

Couzens Authorized to Poll Six Absent Members and Report Accordingly.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2. — The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today voted, six to six, on the revised Couzens resolution to restrict railroad consolidations.

The committee authorized Chairman Couzens to make a favorable or unfavorable report to the Senate on his proposal on the basis of a poll of six members, who were absent. Two of the six absent members have demanded the legislation during committee hearings, while two others favored certain provisions. Two have been outspoken against it. The resolution would prohibit until March 4, 1931, any consolidation or acquisition of railroads where the merging would be in violation of "any of the antitrust laws."

GANDHI APPEALS FOR MOSLEM AID IN HIS CAMPAIGN

Nationalist Leader Promises Purification of Hearts in Addressing Meeting at Gujerat.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 2.—The correspondent of the Times of India just returned to Bombay says agitators are linking the civil disobedience movement of Mahatma Gandhi with the Government's child marriage act, which the northwest tribesmen hate. He says they are saying the same act was directed also against use of the veil by women and other Moslem customs, reform of which recently cost Amanullah Khan his throne in Afghanistan.

In Gujerat Gandhi is making definite appeals to Moslems to join the fight against the salt tax and drink, and to promote the use of homespun. He told a meeting of Moslems at Rander yesterday that if they complied their hearts would be purified.

Plans of Gandhi to lead his movement personally in Bombay if 100,000 followers wearing homespun can be assured him were regarded here today as portending possibly the most serious developments yet of the present unrest.

While there has been no act tending to confirm published statements that arrest of Gandhi was imminent, there was general opinion the Government could not hold its hand much longer if the Mahatma persists in this intention.

Gandhi has thousands of followers in Bombay already enrolled, with recruits coming constantly. Although professing a policy of non-violent resistance to law, it has been the experience of authorities that such non-violence sometimes breeds disturbances with regrettable outcomes.

Uncertainties on the northern frontier continue to arouse apprehension here. Peshawar is reported still quiet but the India National Congress agitators are busy there and in the surrounding country.

WHY are some women so patient with pain? Shopping with a head that throbs. Working when they ache all over. Sometimes it's hours before they take Bayer Aspirin and get relief! Most men take these tablets the moment that some ache or pain threatens their comfort. So should you. Genuine Aspirin is perfectly harmless; cannot depress the heart. The tablet stamped Bayer is always genuine Aspirin; always the same, always safe. ANTI-PROFITEERING MEASURE PROPOSED BY BRITISH CABINET

Bill Authorizes Government Board to Fix Prices on Food, Clothing, Fuel.

By Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1930, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, May 2.—The British Labor Government's anti-profiteering scheme for fixing maximum prices of foodstuffs, clothing, fuels and other articles of general use is disclosed with publication of its "consumers' council bill," introduced in the House of Commons by William Graham, president of the Board of Trade.

The bill provides for creation of a paid council of seven members, two of whom must be women, who would have the power to obtain information regarding the cost of any article under consideration. If and when this council reports that an excessive price is being charged for any article, it may at the same time specify what it considers a fair price and recommend that the Board of Trade issue an order requiring reduction of the selling price to that level. Board of Trade price-fixing orders, the bill provides, may not only govern actual selling prices—wholesale or retail—but also brokerage or commission rates paid to distributers.

The measure empowers the Board of Trade to prosecute violators of its price-fixing orders and private citizens may also institute proceedings for alleged violations.

The bill provides a penalty of $25 fine for the first offense and a $50 fine or three months' imprisonment, or both, for subsequent violations.

$250,000 ADDITIONAL SOUGHT FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT BOARD

Hoover Also Requests $6,000,000 to Cover Deficiencies in Government Departments.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2. — President Hoover today requested Congress to appropriate immediately a second $250,000 for the Law Enforcement Commission's expenses.

Mr. Hoover said the additional $250,000 was needed to continue, during the fiscal year 1931 the inquiry into the problem of enforcement of the prohibition laws of the United States, together with the enforcement of other laws. Director Roop of the budget, in submitting the estimate, said the first deficiency act for the fiscal year 1929 provided $250,000 for the inquiry, but that the rate of expenditure was increasing.

He also called upon Congress today to make available quickly almost $6,000,000 to cover deficiencies in Government departments.

the injunction, but smacked his lips when he did it."

Norris cited examples where the courts' opinions had been severely criticised by Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln and Roosevelt and wound up by quoting a declaration by Chief Justice John Marshall to the effect that Congress should have power to reverse a decision of the Supreme Court.

Fess, who is not a lawyer, had consumed approximately an hour yesterday dilating on Marshall's greatness and quoting Marshall's utterances to support Fess' contention that the Senate should ignore a Judge's opinions in voting to place him on the Supreme Court. He was obviously startled by Norris' reference, and hastily inquired where it could be found.

Income Tax Decisions.

Norris replied that it was contained in a letter from Marshall to Justice Chase, who had been impeached. Marshall expressed a belief that impeachment was a harsh proceedure and stated:

"I think the modern doctrine of impeachment should yield to an appellate jurisdiction in the legislature."

Norris alluded to the historic decision in which the Supreme Court by a five to four vote, held the first income tax law valid and then, by one of the justices changing his mind, held it invalid by a similar vote. As a result, it was necessary to amend the constitution, a process that required about 15 years, and was completed in 1913.

"The action of that one justice might have resulted in calamity," Norris said. "Every Senator here knows that, without the income tax, it would have been impossible to raise the funds necessary to carry on the war. It required a two-thirds vote of both Houses of Congress and action by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the States to remedy the evil caused by one Supreme Court Justice changing his mind. And yet we are told the views of these Judges is none of our business."

Norris repeated the statement of Theodore Roosevelt that "It is impossible to overestimate the public service that can be rendered by a Justice of the Supreme Court, who is not only a lawyer, but also a statesman." Norris declared any attempt to classify a political appointee of Parker's type as a statesman would be absurd.

On the Rights of Workers.

Norris harked back to the fight against confirmation of Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the Supreme Court in 1916, when, he asserted, the Republicans waged the contest against the Supreme Court nominee. He recalled that he was the only Republican member of the senate now serving who voted then for confirmation of Brandeis. He said the fight waged against Justice Brandeis in the Senate "was not on the high plane" of this fight.

Norris made an appeal for the rejection of Parker because of his attitude toward rights of workers. "Judge Parker and the Supreme Court are only incidents in this fight," the Nebraskan said. "Human liberty and the preservation of our Government is the issue. If we don't put a curb on the injunction power of judges, our boasted liberty will be gone. These judges believe we should enthrone men in power to help them further to depress the masses."

Reed and Robinson Paired.

One decision which had been awaited with singular interest was made when Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, who has just returned from the London naval conference, announced that he would have a general pair with Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, who is still in Europe. No statement was made concerning their respective positions, but it is accepted without question that, if Reed were present, he would vote for confirmation.

Robinson's decision not to vote for Parker apparently was influenced by the disclosure of a letter from Assistant Secretary of the Interior Dixon to Walter H. Newton, President Hoover's secretary, urging the appointment of Parker as "a major political stroke" toward keeping North Carolina in the Republican column. The letter, which became public through an administration blunder, has operated heavily to Parker's disadvantage.

Seldom has a presidential appointment resulted in such strenuous pressure being applied to obtain Senate confirmation, and some of it bore fruit yesterday. Senator McCullough (Rep.), Ohio, previously counted against Parker because of the nominee's anti-Negro utterances, announced he would vote to confirm him, and Hatfield of West Virginia, another Republican from a border State, who previously had urged President Hoover to withdraw Parker's name made a speech in his behalf.

Senator Black (Dem.), Alabama, placed into the record a decision passed upon by the Circuit Court of Appeals, of which Parker is a member, upholding a restraining order against unions sending help to striking miners seeking to retain possession of homes. Black made no comment on the decision but said he was placing it in the record for consideration.

ARMY FLYER KILLED IN CRASH, ON VISIT TO MEXICO, MO., HOME

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO, Mo., May 2.—Lieut. Harold Edgar Brown of Mexico, 27-year-old army flyer, was killed outright near here this morning when the army pursuit plane in which he was returning from the army maneuvers in California to Selfridge Field, Mich., crashed on the farm of his uncle, Robert H. Brown, southwest of Mexico.

The plane apparently stalled or ran into an air pocket as he passed over a barn on the farm, flying low, and crashed. Lieut. Brown's skull was crushed, and his neck broken.

Lieut. Brown left Fort Riley, Kan., at 5 o'clock this morning, and flew to Columbia, arriving at 7:30, where his plane was refueled. Then he passed over Hatton, Mo., in Callaway County, near his birthplace. C. M. Brown, his father, said his son circled several times around him as he was working in a field. He passed on north, to the farms of his uncles, Rob and Harry Brown, lying on opposite sides of the road, three miles north of his father's farm. There he waved to his uncle Harry, who had climbed on top of a low shed to wave a reply, and [illegible] over the barn, crashed.

The plane, a Curtiss pursuit machine, was badly damaged.

Lieut. Brown was a 1928 graduate of West Point. He was captain of the polo team his senior year.

His widow, formerly Miss Minerva Claire Grover, of East Orange, N. J., to whom he was married on Aug. 18, 1928, and a son three months old, survive.

EXPORT OF WINDSOR LIQUOR TO U. S. BY AIRPLANE ENDED

Dealers Dislike "Unnecessary Publicity;" 60 Clearances Made Last Month.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 2.—Because of "unnecessary publicity," liquor exporters announced yesterday they had abandoned the shipping of liquor to the United States by airplane.

Records show that approximately 60 airplane clearances were made last month for points in the United States outside the regular mail calls.

Walter S. Petty, Assistant Collector of Customs in Detroit, was quoted as saying liquor-laden planes were not landing in the Detroit area but that he thought they were going to Saginaw, Mich., Chicago and even as far west as Milwaukee, Wis., where liquor prices are higher than along the border.

CITY TO FIGHT NEW MOVE FOR STATE BUS REGULATION

ublic Service Co. Announces It Will Seek Transfer of Control by Supreme Court Suit.

CTION WILL BE FILED TOMORROW

revious Effort Failed When Public Service Commission Ruled It Had No Authority.

City Counselor Muench said to- y the city would oppose vigor- sly the latest announced move the Public Service Co. to trans- r regulation of its bus lines from e city to the State Public Service ommission, by means of a man- amus suit in the Missouri Supreme ourt.

The company's attorneys have otified the Commission at Jeffer- n City that they will file the suit morrow. That this action would taken was forecast in the Post- ispatch last March 16 in an article uoting Counselor Muench.

The action will be a petition to e Supreme Court to compel the ommission to grant the Public ervice Co. a certificate of conven- nce and necessity for a bus line om West Florissant and Taylor venue to Page boulevard and Eu- lid avenue. The company applied the commisson for such a per- it last January and the commis- on dismissed the application on e ground that it has no authority nder the general public service ommission law or the bus regula- ory act over bus operations in an ncorporated city.

Under Revocable Permit.

Busses in St. Louis operate un- der revocable permits granted by he Board of Public Service, which also regulates the fares and serv- ce. Both the Public Service Co. nd the People's Motor Bus Co. op- rate busses under such permits.

The Public Service Co. contends he commission has jurisdiction un- er the law, and if the Supreme Court should uphold this view it would result in giving the State Board the same control over busses hat it now exercises over street ars. That is, the commission could ix fares and valuations and regu- ate service. The company's chief advantage would come in that the bus lines would be included in the commission's valuation of the com- pany in which reproduction cost and various intangibles have re- sulted in a valuation of $63,500,- 00 for a street railway property or which the company paid $49,- 01,500.

The city, however, would still re- ain its exclusive charter right over franchises and its consent would be necessary before the commission could grant a permit to operate.

Wants Definite Decision.

In the case at issue the St. Louis Board of Public Service granted a ermit in its usual form, but the company took the position a certificate from the State Commission should be obtained before starting operation.

Counselor Muench said he agreed with attorneys for the company that the case be taken to the Supreme Court for final determination, and that he would try there to have the city's control over bus lines definitely established. In his statement to the Post-Dispatch March 16, he said he favored home rule over all public utilities and would fight any effort to take away any of the limited control the city row has. He said he believed the city's power should be enlarged and that it is better able to regulate its utilities than is a State board, most of whose members are not conversant with local conditions.

YOUNG BROTHERS' OFFICE FIXTURES SOLD AT AUCTION

Becker, Missouri Secretary of State, that by permitting W. H. Young & Bros., Inc., defunct St. Louis brokerage firm, to continue the sale of stock, the concern had been enabled to return $500,000 to investors.

Barnard said he had nothing to say in regard to his reported investigation of a reported contribution of $950 by the Young brothers' concern to theKansas City Better Business Bureau.

His statement follows:

"I am not impressed by the argument that by permitting Young Bros. to continue the sale of illegal stock in Missouri, that they were enabled to return $500,000 to investors.

"It seems clearly a case of 'robbing Peter to pay Paul,' and in effect to constitute a license to violate a criminal statute of the State of Missouri.

"As president of the Affiliated Better Business Bureaus of the United States and Canada, I am in Missouri to place at the disposal of the St. Louis Better Business Bureau, which long ago warned the State Securities Commissioner against Young Bros., and the public authorities, the entire resources of our movement."

CITY TO FIGHT NEW MOVE FOR STATE BUS REGULATION

Public Service Co. Announces It Will Seek Transfer of Control by Supreme Court Suit.

ACTION WILL BE FILED TOMORROW

Previous Effort Failed When Public Service Commission Ruled It Had No Authority.

City Counselor Muench said today the city would oppose vigorously the latest announced move of the Public Service Co. to transfer regulation of its bus lines from the city to the State Public Service Commission, by means of a mandamus suit in the Missouri Supreme Court.

The company's attorneys have notified the Commission at Jefferson City that they will file the suit tomorrow. That this action would be taken was forecast in the Post-Dispatch last March 16 in an article quoting Counselor Muench.

The action will be a petition to the Supreme Court to compel the commission to grant the Public Service Co. a certificate of convenience and necessity for a bus line from West Florissant and Taylor avenue to Page boulevard and Euclid avenue. The company applied to the commisson for such a permit last January and the commission dismissed the application on the ground that it has no authority under the general public service commission law or the bus regulatory act over bus operations in an incorporated city.

WOMAN WHO KILLED FATHER IS CLEARED

Grand Jury Returns Not True Bill Against Miss Anna Keipp.

The grand jury yesterday found a not true bill against Miss Anna Keipp, 21, who shot and killed her father, Philip Keipp, April 23 as he lay on a bed intoxicated after terrorizing his family. She had been held for the grand jury following a Coroner's verdict of homicide.

In a signed statement to police, Miss Keipp, who was advised by counsel not to testify at the inquest, related that her father's drinking and abuse had forced her to leave home when she was 16 years old. She said her mother came to her rooms at an aunt's home, 3940 St. Louis avenue, April 22, and told her Keipp had threatened her life, but Mrs. Keipp had to return to protect the children.

On the following day, Miss Keipp, learning that her father was drinking and her mother had hidden his revolver, was excused from her work at Union Electric Light and Power Co. and went to the house to take the revolver away. She said that her father moved as she passed him on the way out with it, and that she fired then in fear of him.

By the Associated Press.

ROLLA, Mo., May 2.—The jury in the trial of evangelist Paul Bennett of Newburg was discharged at 11:05 a. m. today after reporting that it was hopelessly deadlocked on the guilt or innocence of Bennett. Bennett was charged with libeling Miss Olive Warren, Newburg school teacher.

An hour before the jurors were discharged, they came into the courtroom and reported they had been unable to reach a verdict but were sent back to deliberate further.

The jury stood 7 to 5 for conviction almost from the first ballot, it was learned from several of the jurors.

WESTLICHE POST EMPLOYE SHORT $9878; GAMBLED

John G. Wuest Jr., Bookkeeper for German Daily Paper, Pleads Guilty and Gets Two Years in Prison

A $9878 embezzlement from the Westliche Post Publishing Co., 1128 Pine street, was disclosed today, when John G. Wuest, Jr., 34-year-old bookkeeper for the firm during the past 10 years, pleaded guilty in Circuit Judge Hamilton's court of second-degree forgery. Wuest told his employers he spent the money on gambling and night life.

Arrested last Tuesday on a warrant, Wuest waived a preliminary hearing and was held in jail until today when, upon arraignment, he pleaded guilty. Judge Hamilton sentenced him to two years on each of two charges, the terms to run concurrently.

The shortage was discovered, it was said at the publishing company today, when Wuest, who was installing a new system of bookkeeping, fell behind in his work and another bookkeeper was hired to keep the current records.

Sentenced on Two Charges.

The two charges on which Wuest pleaded guilty were based on checks for $96.75 and $119.60, which the bookkeeper had diverted to his own use. The first was made payable to petty cash, and the second, made out to Postmaster A. J. Michener, in payment for postage stamps, had been changed so it was payable to A. J. Michaels, and had been cashed by Wuest, under the name of Michaels. They were dated July 26 and Aug. 17, 1928, respectively.

When the warrants were issued E. F. Wenger, 3070 Hawthorne boulevard, business manager of the Westliche Post, stated Wuest had made a full confession and "his folks said any shortage would be made good by them."

However, a company spokesman, who declared the shortage was discovered "early this year," said today that no restitution had been made. "He hasn't got anything," the spokesman said.

Wuest lives at 5904 Leona avenue with his wife and her two children by a former marriage.

FOUR ROBBERS GET TEN YEARS EACH ON PLEADING GUILTY

Steve Obremski, One of Them, Has Been Arrested 31 Times; Twice in Workhouse.

Four robbers pleaded guilty of robbery with a deadly weapon today and received minimum prison sentences of 10 years as provided in the Henry law.

Steve Obremski, 1438A North Thirteenth street, who had been arrested 31 times and had served two one-year Workhouse terms for picking pockets, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Calhoun for the $513 robbery of Frank Supitowsky, grocer at 1717 North Eleventh street, March 29.

Henry Brown, Negro, 1311 Franklin avenue, charged with holding up two Negro women a month ago, and James Smith and John Turner, both Negroes, who robbed Harry Bronstein, 4282 Maffitt avenue, of $50, April 5, were sentenced by Circuit Judge Taylor. Smith also pleaded guilty to holding up Louis Kauffman, 4348 Evans avenue, April 1, taking $87, and was given an additional two-year sentence.

Clarence P. Alexander, Negro, pleaded guilty of robbing the home of Hyman Nudelman, 5527 Waterman avenue, March 28, and was sentenced to a five-year term by Judge Calhoun.

MANY COMPLAINTS AGAINST GAMBLING RESORT IGNORED

Southern Club, East St. Louis, Was Not Closed by Police Till Two Embezzlers Were Exposed.

Investigation has disclosed that East Side authorities ignored complaints against the Southern Club for many months until two weeks ago when the East St. Louis gambling resort was named as one of the places frequented by two St. Louis embezzlers, Oliver D. Chalmers, former manager of mail and express traffic for the Frisco Railroad, and Marvin E. Phillips, assistant cashier of the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Bank.

Albert P. Lauman, commissioner of health of East St. Louis and a member of the City Council, said today he complained about the resort seven months before it was closed, April 19, on orders of Chief of Police James Leahy and Chief Deputy Sheriff Arthur Kraessig of East St. Louis.

Lauman said he made his complaint to State's Attorney Lindauer at Belleville while the club was operating at the Southern Hotel, 300 East Broadway, before moving to its present location at 320 East Broadway, one of the city's main business corners. Citizens had complained to him, Lauman said, that the hotel had become a hangout for gangsters and gamblers because of the game.

Lindauer said he forwarded the complaint to Chief Leahy and ordered the game closed, but received no answer from the Chief. "I don't remember such a letter from Lindauer," Leahy said.

Lauman also asserted the operation of the Southern Club was brought up in a discussion of crime conditions at a caucus in Mayor Doyle's office by a member of the Citizens' Committee, an advisory body. The Mayor suggested to Herman Zierrath, Commissioner of Public Safety, that the game ought to be closed. Zierrath, who heads the Police Department, said today he recalled a discussion of crime conditions, but declared he had never heard of a dice game at the Southern Hotel.

The club has been dark since April 19, when the two closing orders were delivered to William Gleason, principal owner. The next day, State's Attorney Lindauer ordered "a thorough investigation of gambling conditions in St. Clair County," and announced he would prosecute the club owners if evidence were produced.

Chalmers embezzled $150,000 and Phillips $31,600 before they were caught. In their confessions they named the Southern Club as one of the places where they lost the stolen money gambling.

Killed on Freight Train.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 2. — The body of a man, about 35 years old, with a crushed skull was taken from a Missouri-Pacific freight train here this morning. Police said he had been dead several hours and that apparently his skull had been crushed when he stood up on a car as it was passing under a bridge or tunnel. A pawnshop check bore the name W. Cross and addressed Globe Hotel, St. Louis.

PRODUCTION INCREASES THREE TIMES AS FAST AS POPULATION

B. M. Baruch, Asserting Surplus Output Causes Industrial Troubles, Urges "Supreme Court for Business."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, May 2. — Declaring overproduction is the cause of present industrial difficulties and of many more to come, Bernard M. Baruch of New York, former chairman of the War Labor Board, speaking at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce, urged the establishment of a "supreme court of business" so that industry "can practice group self-government."

Overproduction is world wide, Baruch believes, and drastic measures are necessary. He suggested that the antitrust laws be "put to sleep" as they were during the war, since what is needed is not increased but lessened production. He warned, however, that price was an important factor in any such action.

"For a good many centuries the peril of the poor was famine—scarcity of things," he said. "It is a curious paradox that too many things — overproduction — should now be the wolf at the cottage door. Today we have business stagnation because there is more of everything than can be sold at a profit.

No Choice but to Slow Down.

"Of course, there is no choice but to slow down production until consumption catches up. That means that capital in industry ceases to earn. People go out of work. Savings are dissipated. Prices for everything go down. Everybody feels poor. Buying slows just when it ought to accelerate.

"Why do we have overproduction? Because, by combination and co-ordination of industry in groupings of enormous wealth and power, we have become so efficient that we have increased production three times as fast as population.

"It is easy to put a finger on the theoretical remedy—restraint of production.

"During the war American industry was effectively combined to work out a vast problem for the common good. For that purpose it was so co-ordinated that, toward the end, it practically operated as a single unit to the accomplishment of a national aim.

"So unusual and satisfactory was the result that men began to exclaim, 'If only something of this were possible in peace.'

Business Needs Common Forum.

"What business needs is a common forum where problems requiring co-operation can be considered and acted on with the constructive, nonpolitical sanction of the Government. It may have been sound public policy to forbid by law anything that looked to regulation of production when the world was in fear of famine, but it is public lunacy to decree unlimited operation of a system which periodically disgorges indigestible masses of unconsumable products.

"No repressive, inquisitorial, mediocre bureau will answer—we must have a new concept for this purpose—a tribunal vested, like the Supreme Court, with so much prestige and dignity that our greatest business leaders will be glad to divest themselves of all personal interest in business and there serve."

POLITICS AND TRADE CLASH ON DAYLIGHT TIME IN BALTIMORE

Industry Working on Summer Schedule, but City Officials Do Not.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, May 2.—Politics and business clash in the daylight saving dispute in Baltimore, although voluntary daylight time went into effect last Sunday with the Association of Commerce as sponsor.

Mayor Broening insists the city clocks cannot be legally placed on daylight time. Yesterday he ordered municipal employes to work on standard time. As the police work on standard time, it causes confusion for automobile drivers in parking and traffic regulations. No other city or county in Maryland has daylight time. The Mayor told a committee of business men he would co-operate so far as possible to allay time confusion.

Divorcee Remarries Secretly.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Slipping away from a party in a hotel here last Tuesday, Catherine Crerar Otis, 22 years old, and Frederick Kaehn, 24, of Chicago, went to Harrison, N. Y., and were married it became known today. The bride is the divorced wife of Ralph C. Otis, heir to the Otis Elevator fortune. Kaehn's home is in Wilmette, Ill.

DRIVER OF STOLEN AUTO INDICTED FOR DEATH OF BABY

John Matthews Accused of Killing Son of Mrs. Augusta McCall In Collision.

An indictment charging manslaughter was voted yesterday against John Matthews, 39 years old, no home, for his part in the death of Clarence Edward McCall, the 6-months-old son of Mrs. Augusta McCall, 5502 Genevieve avenue, who was killed in a head-on collision between two automobiles in front of 4801 West Florissant avenue, April 23.

Mrs. McCall and the baby were riding with Fred Crow, of 5471 Plover avenue, when the car, driven by Matthews without lights and on the wrong side of the street, crashed into them. Matthews, who had been drinking, has also been charged with the theft of the car he was driving, it having been stolen the day before from Fourteenth and Market streets. The stolen car was the property of Mrs. May Abramsky of 4624 McPherson avenue.

'CASEY' LAMBERT BUYS PLANE DESPITE CRASH

New Machine, Costing $19,235 Is Like One He Jumped From.

Undaunted by his recent experience with a Lockheed Sirius monoplane, from which he and a companion leaped with parachutes when the ailerons broke, Lieut. "Casey" Lambert of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Service, purchased a plane of the same make yesterday. The plane, which is made at Burbank, Cal., will cost $19,235 delivered here. Lambert is the son of Mrs. Adolphus Busch III.

On April 12 Lambert and Herbert Conde Jr., son of a glass manufacturer, jumped from a Sirius near Sappington, St. Louis County, when the ailerons came off as the ship was being flown at its top speed of 180 miles an hour. The plane crashed and was demolished.

Following his experience Lambert presented an expensive watch to Sergt. James Tate, parachute expert for the Thirty-fifth Division Air Unit, who packed the parachutes used in the jump. Inside the case is the inscription: "To Jimmie Tate in Appreciation of April 12, 1930." Tate, who is in charge of the National Guard hangars at Lambert-St. Louis Field, has packed parachutes used by Col. Lindbergh and other noted flyers.

Lambert requested that the salesman's commission on the new plane, amounting to about $1000, be paid to Mrs. Claire Fahy, widow of Herbert Fahy, test pilot for the Lockheed Co., who died several days ago of injuries suffered in an airplane accident in Michigan. Fahy demonstrated the plane that figured in the April 12 accident to Lambert, who said he intended making the purchase at that time.

The Sirius, powered with a 420-horsepower engine, will be delivered to Lambert within 10 days, and the first cross-country trip he has planned will be to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby. The sale was made through the Ryan Aircraft Corporation at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

The plane is of the same make as the one in which Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh set a new coast-to-coast sped record last week.

Leaps to Death From Plane.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BURLINGAME, Cal., May 2.—Paying $5 for an airplane ride with suicidal intent, John Vucasovich, 38 years old, of Sonora, leaped to his death today at Mills Field when the airplane was about 400 feet from the ground. The airplane was piloted by Walter Olsen of San Francisco. Loosening the safety straps which held him in a seat in front of the pilot, Vucasovich jumed before the pilot could stop him. A note, addressed to the man's wife said: "I cannot bear my sickness any more."

FREED ON DIRECTED VERDICT

Crew of Liquor Ship Seized Outside 12-Mile Limit.

By the Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 2.—Capt. Paul Nielson and Richard Peacock, both of Miami, charged with conspiring to violate the national prohibition laws, were freed in Federal Court here yesterday, when Judge I. M. Meekins directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

The two men were indicted in connection with the seizure of the Yacht Kolla, off Beaufort, N. C., several months ago, while it was outside the 12-mile limit. The State contended that the yacht was not searched until after it had been brought into port, when 600 cases of whisky concealed in compartments between decks were found.

JOHN D. SELLS STOCK IN BANKERS' TRUST CO.

$30,000,000 Deal Said to Clear Way for More New York Mergers.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Verification of a report that $30,000,000 worth of stock of Bankers' Trust Co. held by the John D. Rockefeller interests had been sold to a syndicate of officers of the bank and Bonbright & Co. yesterday led to many foresacts of additional bank mergers.

Observers pointed out that the elimination of the John D. Rockefeller interests in Bankers' Trust would make it easier for a merger with National City Bank to take place. Percy Rockefeller, a cousin of John D. Rockefeller, is heavily interested in National City Bank and they have few business interests in common.

National City Bank is known to be anxious to expand. The Chase National Bank recently forged ahead through a merger with the Interstate Trust and the Equitable Trust Co. in which John D. Rockefeller and his associates are heavily interested.

Seward Prosser, chairman of the Bankers' Trust Co., confirmed the purchase of the stock, but said the deal did not forecast any mergers involving his bank.

$7500 VERDICT FOR DEATH

Mother of 17-Year-Old Girl Charged Midwife Performed Operation.

Mrs. Dorthy Boyd Marx, 4421 Lafayette avenue, obtained a $7500 jury verdict in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court yesterday against Mrs. Della Unger Parks, 6303 Bartmer avenue, a midwife.

Mrs. Marx alleged that her 17-year-old daughter, Ruth Boyd, died at City Hospital March 30, 1926, as the result of an operation performed by Mrs. Parks. Mrs. Parks denied the charge and further declared she had not been a practicing midwife for 10 years.

TORNADO STRIKES AT NORBORNE, MO. 5 PERSONS KILLED

Fatalities From Midwest Gales, Lightning and Cloudbursts Total 22 — Heavy Damage.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Storms in the Middle West late yesterday killed 22 persons, injured many and destroyed property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Tornadoes struck at Tekamah, Neb., Norborne, (Carroll County) Mo., and Westby, Wis. In North Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois and Iowa, the loss of life and property damage was due to electrical storms and high winds.

The storms bounded up and down erratically in a territory including nine states. Nebraska, Minnesota and Missouri were hardest hit, but the destructiveness of the wind and driving rains also were felt in the Dakotas, Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois. The death were distributed in seven states.

Four Killed in Tekamah.

Four persons were killed at Tekamah, Neb., and five at Norborne, Mo.

A farmer was struck dead by lightning near Lawton, N. D.

Two women and a child were drowned near Lake City, Minn., when a cloudburst sent a wall of water down a ravine on their stalled automobile.

Two women were killed when their automobile skidded in a storm near Duluth.

A boy was killed at Westby, Wis., when the tornado overtook him as he ran, seeking the shelter of his home. He was buried in the debris of a building.

A man in a parked automobile at Rockford, Ill., was killed when the wind blew down a tree that crushed the machine. There was a fatality at Antioch, Ill., and another at Galesburg.

A farmer was killed at Kickapoo, Leavenworth County, Kan.

14 Hurt at Norborne.

Five persons were killed and 14 others were injured seriously when a tornado sweeping a path 300 yards wide struck Norborne, Mo., shortly after 9 o'clock. Dipping down from the sky the storm leveled approximately 25 homes and other buildings in a few seconds time.

The dead Mrs. Gertrude Wright, 47 years old, and her son, John Martin Wright, 17; Charles Storm, a plumber; Lillian Wells, 13, and her 5-year-old sister.

Mrs. Wright, the wife of Taylor O. Wright, president of the Norborne Trust Co., and her son, were found dead clasped in each other's arms in an upstairs room of their home which was wrecked. Storm was blown from his home. His body was found across the street. The two Wells girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wells, farmers, living eight miles northwest or Norborne, were killed when their home collapsed.

Tekamah Without Lights.

The failure of the electric light plant at Tekamah added to the horror of the tornado there. Throughout the night doctors at the Tekamah Hospital and the American Legion Hall, an improvised hospital, worked by lamplight and flashlights, treating men, women and children, many suffering serious injury.

Streets of the town were covered with debris. The tornado whirled toward the town as though to strike at the business district, but it veered and did its greatest damage in a residential area.

A report to American Red Cross headquarters at St. Louis that the town of Pender, Neb., had been wiped out was found to have been erroneous, but Jackson and Homer, Neb., were victims of the tornado, though in no degree comparable with Tekamah.

Baby Killed in Mother's Arms.

In Tekamah, the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Hans C. Anderson was killed in his mother's arms when the Anderson home was destroyed. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were seriously injured.

Others dead at Tekamah are John Houser, Al Brinley and Mrs. William Tuttle.

At Westby, Wis., the tornado that killed Archer Funk, 9 years old, did $100,000 damage. Nearly every building on the main street of the town of 1100 persons was upset or destroyed. A tobacco warehouse was lifted from its foundation and slammed against the walls of a railroad station.

Mrs. Louis Bishop was killed and

FIVE PERSONS KILLED; TORNADO STRIKES AT NORBORNE, MO.

eight persons, including a family of seven, injured near Russell, Ia.

Mrs. W. W. Lawler, her daughter, Betty Jane, and Mrs. Walter Dodge, all of Rochester, Minn., were victims of the cloudburst which swept down from the hills on to the car in which they were riding near Lake City, Minn. Two other women leaped from the car and ran to higher ground, escaping the river of water that covered the stalled machine.

Considerable livestock was lost in the storm around Waukegan, Ill. Many roofs were blown off buildings and power wires and poles were down. Near Antioch, on Channel Lake, Richard Shannon, 20 years old, was taken from beneath his wrecked cottage by firemen. He died in a Waukegan hospital early today.

Charles W. Barrnett, 34, a truck driver from Des Moines, Ia., was electrocuted when he drove into a high voltage wire blown down near Galesburg, Ill.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 2.—Many families were homeless today, the result of three storms in rural communities of Kansas and Missouri which last night took at lease seven lives and injured more than 20 persons.

Thousands of dollars of damage was suffered by property owners. The storm leveled homes, barns and smaller buildings. The sweep of the wind was followed by a drenching rain and hail storm.

All three of the storms originated in Kansas and two of them swirled eastward into Missouri, where a toll of five dead was left at Norborne.

Two Deaths at Kickapoo, Kan.

Kern, 43, a farmer, and his wife were killed when their home was demolished. Three children were hurt.

A farm home near Valley Falls, Kan., was blown away and five members of a family named Slocum which occupied the dwelling were reported missing.

Preliminary reports from relief workers connected with the midwestern branch of the American Red Cross, 1709 Washington avenue, indicate the storm damage is not so great as first thought.

No calls for supplies have been received. Officials think local Red Cross chapters will be able to organize and direct relief work in their communities.

Walter Over, sent from St. Louis last night, is checking Missouri and Kansas towns reported struck, and Walter Wesselius, assistant to the manger of the midwestern branch, is in Iowa.

WHAT DOES "VELOX" MEAN?

A lot of people have asked us this—particularly those who have seen "Velox" on the back of snapshot prints.

It means simply the best kind of paper it is possible to secure for amateur photography.... a paper that has been shown by actual experience to give best possible results.

Of course, it costs us a little more, but you're entitled to the added quality.

Just another good reason for bringing your films direct to Kodak Headquarters.

OFFER DEPOSITION IN CHILD ADOPTION CASE

Counsel for Mother of Donald Stobaugh and Illinois Pair Present Affidavits.

The Donald Stobaugh adoption case was taken under advisement today by Circuit Judge Rosskopf in Juvenile Court after the introduction of depositions from the 3-year-old boy's adopted parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stobaugh of Decatur, Ill., seeking to refute recent testimony by the child's mother, Mrs. Mildred Harris Scott.

Mrs. Scott, married since the birth of her child, had testified that she called at the Bethesda Maternity Home, 3561 Vista avenue, the afternoon of April 6, 1927, seeking to regain custody of her baby, and asserted that the Stobaughs had later adopted the child knowing that she wanted it.

Today's deposition asserted that Mr. and Mrs. Stobaugh took the child from the home the morning of April 6 and went home on a noon train. Later they were told, according to the depositions, that the mother had called at the home to ask "about how the child was being taken care of." Two neighbors of the Stobaughs signed depositions that they saw Mr. and Mrs. Stobaugh on the train.

None of the principals was in court. Lawyers conferred with Judge Rosskopf and agreed to submit briefs within the next two weeks discussing certain technical points in the case.

One particularly knotty question is whether Mrs. Scott, 18 years old at the time of the adoption, was an adult or a minor when she signed adoption papers. Living in Little Rock, Ark., where a woman is an adult at 18, she came to St. Louis just before the child was born and returned to Arkansas afterwards. In Missouri a woman is a minor until 21.

5 BURNED WHEN RADIATOR BURSTS IN AUTO CRASH

Parents and Three Children Injured When Car Hits Truck in East St. Louis.

A family of five suffered burns when the radiator of their automobile was broken in a collision with a truck of the Illinois Highway Department at State street and O'Fallon road, on the outskirts of East St. Louis, yesterday.

Those injured: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott, Belleville; their sons, Elas, 16, and Kennett 4; and their daughter, Mildred, 14. They were taken to the Christian Welfare Hospital, East St. Louis.

The Scott car was proceeding on East State street when it collided with the truck, driven by Merle Collins, which was turning into the street from O'Fallon road. The windshield of the automobile was shattered, allowing scalding water from the broken radiator to be dashed back on the occupants of the car.

MOONSHINER LIED, 5 YEARS, $1000 FINE

Jacob Fravala's, Whose "Orphan" Story Impressed Jury Sentenced.

Jacob Christopher Henry Fravala, 22 years old, who obtained a recommendation of leniency from a jury in a liquor case by a false story of being an orphan, was sentenced to serve five years in the Federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O., and fined $1000 by Federal Judge Davis today.

After sentencing two men arrested at a still near Union, Mo., with Fravala, following their conviction last Wednesday, Judge Davis suspended sentence on Fravala, who was convicted as Jake Carr, to give Department of Justice agents a chance to investigate his story of having been raised in a Colorado orphan asylum and taking a job offered by a stranger the day before his arrest. The investigators found that Fravala not only had given a false name but was married and both his parents were living on a farm in St. Charles County.

"The Court is disposed to be lenient in this case on account of the defendant's youth," Judge Davis said in passing sentence, "but by deliberately perjuring himself he has forfeited his claim to leniency."

NEW YORK RESIDENCE PHONE RATES REDUCED

Subscribers to Save $900,000—Business Service Schedule Increased by State.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 2.—Reduced rates for residence telephones and an increase for business phones were ordered by the Public Service Commission yesterday in fixing the permanent maximum which may be charged by the New York Telephone Co. The order cuts about $900,000 from the company's revenue and $2,760,000 from earnings under the company's proposed rates.

In New York City 92 per cent of all residence telephones, or 661,517, are reduced from the rates the company would have put into effect Feb. 1, had not the commission intervened with temporary schedules. In the area outside New York City 90 per cent of residence subscribers either will receive a duction on the proposed rates or will continue to pay the old rates charged before Feb. 1.

More than 900,000 subscribers throughout the state will benefit under the reductions. In New York City the new rates will become effective June 1 and will continue one year, unless superseded by others. Outside the city the new rates will begin May 26.

The commission found that the net earnings to which the company is entitled in 1930 are $37,734,154. The company insisted it was entitled to at least $40,197,150. In order to effect a general reduction, the commission slashed $35,185,659 from the valuation claimed by the company. In so doing it found that the fair average value of the company's property was $555,252,433, whereas the company held out for $590,438,142.

CUT WHEN BOTTLE OF BEER EXPLODES IN HIS HANDS

William Jedliska Liked Brew So Well He Started to Take Some Home.

Police who heard a slight explosion early last night found William Jedliska, 6A South Sarah street, in front of 3900 Easton avenue, trying to stop the flow of blood from a lacerated left forearm. The sidewalk was littered with glass.

On being taken to City Hospital Jedliska said he had visited a beer flat and, liking the brew particularly, had started home taking two bottles with him. Shaking of the bottles as he walked caused one to explode. He dropped the second bottle.

We always say this at the bottom of the page—

"every suit has two trousers"

—although it's really worthy of headlines

"How much are the extra trousers"? We've been asked that question a score of times during the past few weeks — very much to our surprise. We've been taking it for granted that everybody knew Bond prices always include "the extra trousers"! (We've said so for 16 years).

But perhaps we shouldn't be surprised after all — because the very excellent clothes featured all over town at about our prices, or higher, invariably include only one pair of trousers!

And so, the Bond idea of "two trousers with every suit" becomes of headline importance. Our distinguished British fashions are made to give double service. The richest woolens wear twice as long. And there's always a freshly creased pair of trousers ready to keep you looking fit and well-groomed. It's the extra pair that's included in every Bond price — the extra pair made possible by the unusual savings of operating our own factory.

Enjoy this added service with your next Bond suit. It costs no more!

TWO ANNOUNCE CANDIDACIES FOR COUNTY CIRCUIT BENCH

Fred E. Mueller and Herbert E. Bryant Enter Race for Republican Nomination.

Fred E. Mueller, former Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County, and Herbert E. Bryant, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, yesterday announced their candidacies for the Republican nomination to the two Circuit judgeships in the August primary.

The terms of Judges Arthur V. Lashly and Amandus Brackman, appointed by Gov. Caulfield, will expire Jan. 1. Neither has announced whether he will be a candidate to succeed himself. Mueller was defeated for the nomination in 1928.

MESSENGER BOY IS KILLED IN FALL FROM TRAIN

He Is Found Under Approach of Merchants Bridge and Dies on Way to Hospital.

Roy Wright, 16 years old, a messenger boy, 1917 Mallinckrodt street, was killed yesterday when he fell from a Terminal freight train as it was traversing the eastern approach of the Merchants Bridge.

The boy was found lying unconscious under the trestle but died before reaching a hospital.

CANADIAN BUDGET RAISES TARIFF ON IMPORTS FROM U. S.

Duty Automatically Fixed at That Which This Country Levies on Shipments From Dominion.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, May 2.—A new budget was before the House of Commons today embodying a system of countervailing tariff schedules which will make the Canadian duty on commodities in reciprocal trade between this country and the United States equal to the United States tariff.

The products subjected to the countervailing rates are wheat, wheat flour, rye, oats, livestock, eggs, butter, meats, potatoes, soups, cut flowers and cast iron pipe.

The budget does not specifically name the United States, but that is the only country with which Canada carries on any considerable trade in which the commodities listed are both imported and exported.

C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, in his speech presenting the budget yesterday, denied that the countervailing rates were placed in the bill in retaliation for tariffs imposed on Canadian exports.

"Those who raise prohibitive barriers against our products entering their markets," he said, "must expect that we will extend favor to our own good customers rather than to them. I speak in no spirit of retaliation. I would rather extend lower tariff favors to those who extend them to us than to impose prohibitive tariffs in return for like treatment.

High Rates Against High Rates.

"It has been decided to embody within the wording of a limited number of items provision for countervailing duties whereby Canada, while not generally raising schedule rates, imposes upon such products from another country rates equivalent to those imposed by that country upon the identical Canadian products where these are higher than the rates enumerated in the Canadian tariff schedule.

"This means that other countries that both buy from and sell to us these commodities, have it in their power, by reciprocal action on their part, to enable us to reduce duties to the level of the rates stated in our tariff."

Under the operation of the countervailing duties, wheat on which a duty of 12 cents a bushel is levied under the general schedule would be subject to a duty of 42 cents a bushel from the United States. Wheat flour on which the general levy is at 50 cents a barrel, would pay $1.04 a hundred-weight if imported from the United States. These figures are based on the present United States tariff schedules.

Automatic Adjustment.

The countervailing rates would automatically adjust themselves to any changes on the commodities listed in the new United States tariff bill now before Congress.

The new budget provides a broad extension of British preference in the Canadian market with 589 of the 1118 items listed in the schedules on the free list when imported from within the empire. On hundreds of other items duties under British preference have been reduced, in many cases on commodities on which the general tariff has been increased.

Dunning said Canada's visible exports showed a decline of $44,000,000 for the fiscal year, the total being $1,444,900,000 as against imports of $1,248,200,000.

He said the country's largest trade continues to be with the United States. Exports to that country during the last year increased $15,300,000 and imports decreased $20,500,000.

The budget showed a surplus of $44,507,000 for the fiscal year. During the year the most important expenditures were $10,000,000 for the new Welland Canal and $6,500,000 for the Hudson Bay railway and terminals.

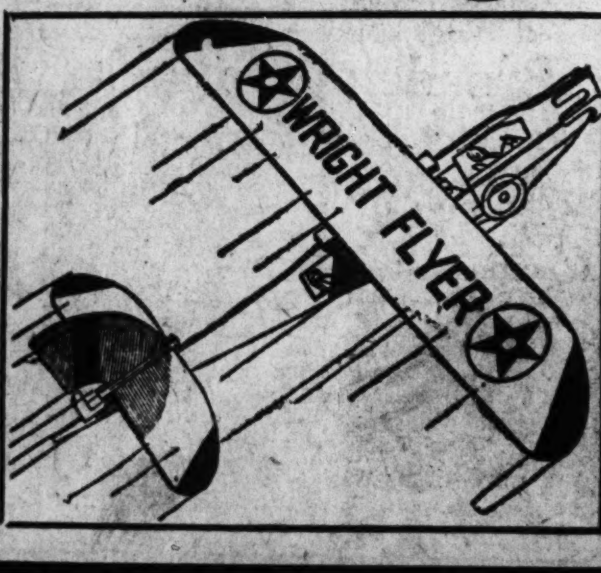
50c Wright Monoplanes

. . . For Boys and Girls



Offered as a Special Advertising Feature at . . .

15c

They Were Actually Designed and Made by the Wright Brothers, Dayton, Ohio.

Imagine it! Made by a real airplane manufacturer...a fact in itself to make your youngster "burst with pride" in the possession of one! These Planes really fly...distance flights at that. And that isn't all...by a slight adjustment of the rudder any youngster can make his Wright Monoplane do stunts ...loop-the-loop...do barrel rolls...and Immelman turns.

Every boy who's a real air fan will remember that the Wright Brothers were the first in the world to make and fly a successful airplane. Their first flight was made at Kitty Hawk, N. C., December 17, 1903. And now these same air pioneers are offering to children a toy model of their very own. No phone and mail orders.

EVERY CHILD WILL WANT ONE!

FACTION ENJOINS TWO OTHERS FROM OPERATING DOG TRACK

Third Group Brings Action Against Owners of Cahokia Plant; to Be Opened May 10.

A temporary injunction restraining two sets of officers of the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club, owner of a dog racing track at Cahokia, Ill., from transacting affairs of the organization was granted at Belleville today by Circuit Judge Miller, on application of a third faction. Decision on a request that a receiver be named to straighten the tangled affairs of the kennel club was withheld until the hearing on the injunction set for the September term of court.

James C. Gorman, John Skarha and A. W. Grunz, were the original officers, the petition relates, but another group claiming a quorum later elected John R. Benson, Nick Kokotovich and W. F. J. Fienup.

Opening of the track, prevented last fall by St. Clair County officials, is scheduled for a week from tomorrow. Recently, an injunction restraining the county officers from interfering with the operation of the track was obtained in Vermilion County. A motion to dissolve this order was filed at Belleville yesterday by State's Attorney H. G. Lindauer.

DENIES LOSS IN RYE POOL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 2.—Thomas West, president of the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co., through the bank attorneys, Tillinghast & Collins, said today that he did not suffer financial losses as a result of speculation in the rye market, as reported in the New York World yesterday. Mr. West made the following statement:

"I not only did not speculate in the rye market, directly or indirectly, and did not lose $100,000 or any other sum in such speculation as the World states, but in the 27 years of my career as a banker. I have never bought a share of stock on margin. I have never had an account with a broker, and I have never dealt in a commodity." The name of Edward Solomon, as vice president of the same bank was also mentioned. There is Henry Solomon, who is vice president, and he says he did not participate in the rye pool. Ives Goddard also asked that the impression that he participated in the rye pool be corrected. He said he took no part of any kind in the pool's operations.

COUNTY WATER CO. FEARS RATE CUT MAY AFFECT SALE

Hint Made at Hearing Increased Valuation From $5,300,000 to $9,000,000 Will Be Sought.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 2.—Demands of University City for a further reduction of water rates made on the St. Louis County Water Co., which were presented in a hearing here yesterday before the Public Service Commission, were met with a statement from the company that it would seek a new valuation, if the commission ordered a reduction, based on the rate-making value it has fixed for the company.

The application for a reduction, in addition to one of 12.2 per cent ordered by the commission in February, 1929, was taken under advisement by the commission. It allowed 30 days for submission of reports and cost figures requested of the company. The company now has an appeal pending in the Cole County Circuit Court from the original valuation of $5,500,000 placed on its property, and from the 1929 rate reduction.

Objections of the company to a further reduction of rates goes beyond any scaling down of profits to what the commission considers a reasonable return on the valuation. Such revision might have an effect on the proposed sale of the property to Commonwealth Utilities Corporation of Philadelphia, for $8,350,000 which is before the commission in another case. Completion of the transfer is dependent on consent of the commission.

Several towns in St. Louis County and the City of St. Louis are opposing the sale, contending the price is excessive by about $3,000,000 and charging that the purchasers could not hope for reasonable profits on the purchase price without exploiting the property at the expense of the consumers and the public.

Charles M. Polk, attorney for the water company, objected to testimony tending to show grounds for a rate reduction based on the present valuation, contending the valuation was too low and had not been accepted by the company. He said a new valuation would be sought, if the rates were lowered, with the present commission valuation as a basis. The commission overruled the objection.

Polk did not state before the commission what valuation would be sought, if the rates are reduced. Later in reply to questions he told the Post-Dispatch correspondent he had not made any calculations on the valuation. Based on the commission allowance, claims by the company of what the allowances should be, together with additions since the original valuation and allowances for intangibles, he said it probably would be something more than $9,000,000.

More Than Allowed Return.

Joseph H. Grand, City Attorney of University City contended the company's profits exceed the 7 per cent the commission has held to be a reasonable return on the property, and declared the rates should be reduced. He did not say how large a reduction should be made. The 1929 reduction amounted to approximately $100,000 a year, based on the company's volume of business.

The only witness called by Grand was Harold Ross, chief accountant for the Public Service Commission. He testified the average rate base of the company for 1929 was $5,341,000 and that the $445,563 the company had available for return, after deduction of depreciation and operating expenses, was equivalent to a return of 8.34 per cent on that valuation.

Ross arrived at the average rate base of $5,341,000 for 1929 by adding net plant additions for 1928 and 1929 to the original valuation of $5,500,000 which was made as of Dec. 31, 1927 and deducting $646,730 for cash deposited by customers to obtain extensions of mains, and $90,938 in depreciation that accrued in 1928 and 1929. In fixing the valuation the commission has not permitted the company to include in its rate base property installed through cash deposits advanced by customers until these deposits are refunded.

Head of Company Testifies.

William H. Henby, president of the company, testified the company was expending $648,000 this year for a new 36-inch main from the Missouri River to the company's reservoir to supplement the two present mains and meet peak water demands. He said this additional property should be included in the rate base in determining the company's earnings.

Ross testified that, if the additional $648,000 were included in the rate base for 1929, the company would have earned a return of 7.44 per cent. The commission's practice is not to allow inclusion of additions in the rate base until the property actually is in service.

Grand developed that no credit had been made to the depreciation reserve fund, which totaled $575,580 at the end of 1929 for income on any investments of the fund as required by the Public Service Commission law. The testimony showed the depreciation reserve was not carried separately, but the money was placed in the general cash of the company and used for its general purposes.

At the conclusion of the hearing the company was directed to submit reports on what part of the cost of the new 36-inch main should be charged to replacement and what part as additions, and to submit figures on some of the repairs of property, which were not available at the hearing.

URGES FARM BODY BE STRIPPED OF ITS CHIEF POWERS

U. S. Chamber of Commerce Would End Use of Federal Funds to Operate the Co-Operatives.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Overriding the spirited defense of the Federal Farm Board made before it by Government officials, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States yesterday recommended that the board's principal powers be shorn from it, and only its privilege of disseminating information left.

Adoption of the resolution recommending amendment of the agricultural marketing act, which created the board, was almost the last official act of the eighteenth annual meeting of the chamber. It was enacted almost without debate, only one speech—voicing dissent—being heard before the vote.

The resolution recorded "a continued opposition to the use of Government funds in providing capital for the operation of agricultural co-operatives, and for the buying and selling of commodities for the purpose of attempted stabilization." It asked an amendment to the marketing act to prevent the Federal Farm Board from using Federal funds for this purpose, and asserted the act was "in contravention to the chamber's proposals."

Anticipated Benefits Lacking.

"We recognize the emergency considerations which may have impelled this resort to the Federal Treasury," the resolution said, "but the experience which has been gained nom permits an appraisal both as to immediate effect and long-range results.

"The anticipated benefits to the farming interest as a whole have not been realized. On the contrary, there has been impairment of the marketing structure and prevention of support which otherwise would have given to the marketing of agricultural products which were affected by the use of public money. Without benefit to agriculture there has been imposed unbearable hardships on business enterprises unable to maintain their position against discriminatory competitions from the Government."

The resolution concluded with the recommendation that a conference to called to "study and define measures of sound and effective aid to agriculture."

For Greater Public Economy.

Nearly 20 other resolutions were adopted. They recommended greater public economy; the construction of a "great inter-American highway"; opposition to the creation of State automobile insurance funds; continuation of the work of the National Business Survey Conference; an increase of pay in the armed services; extension of Federal reclamation to furnish water to already sparselw irrigated lands, and the provision of funds to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly.

William Butterworth was re-elected president of the organization, and Julius H. Barnes chairman of the board. Karl de Laittre of Minneapolis, Minn., as vice president, was the only new officer chosen.

Statement by Legge.

Chairman Legge of the Farm Board said today that the purpose of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in urging revision of the law under which the Board operates was to make "the Farm Board impotent."

In a statement, Legge said the chamber proposed to "sponsor another national conference to adopt some more resolutions of sympathy for agriculture." He asserted that the Board intended to continue to serve the farmer. He said the chamber's action "simply confirms what we told the membership of that organization Wednesday."

"They are for something to help the farmer only until they find out it works," he added. "Naturally, we had hoped they would support our efforts to aid agriculture, but if they are going to oppose us we are glad they have come out in the open. It's much easier to deal with an enemy who is squarely against you than one who pretends to be friendly, but fights you behind your back."

$898,000 AGREED ON FOR U. S. BUILDING SITE

Attorneys Suggest That Viewers Appointed by Court Be Guided by Decision.

Agreement on a price of $898,000, for the block bounded by Twelfth, Market, Walnut and Eleventh streets, site of the new $3,500,000 Federal Building, facing Memorial Plaza, was reported to Judge Faris today by Sam B. Jeffries, attorney for Oreon E. Scott, realty dealer claiming title to the greater part of the site.

Jeffries said the price stated had been agreed on by Government agents with all the owners, or representatives of owners, who could be reached. He said the owners would receive, in addition, about $150,000 from the City of St. Louis for the 40-foot strips to be taken from the Twelfth and Market street sides of the block, for the widening of those streets.

The condemnation suit, filed by the Government, today reached the stage where the appointment of viewers, to fix a price for the land, was in order. Jeffries filed an answer to the condemnation suit, an action not customary in such cases, and suggested to the court that the viewers, to be appointed, might be guided by the price agreement.

"You seem to be running this thing, and not the court," Judge Faris remarked, after District Attorney Breuer had indicated his agreement with Jeffries' view. He asked the attorneys for suggestions in naming the viewers. Breuer named Harry McCabe, realty dealer, and Jeffries named Walter Hays, lawyer. The court appointed the two and added Joseph W. Hannauer, realty dealer, as his own selection. He said he chose Hannauer by reputation, having no personal acquaintance with him.

FATHER WHO KILLED DAUGHTER "TO END SUFFERING" FREED

Grand Jury Refuses to Indict Man, 70; State Unable to Prove Corpus Delicti.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 2.—A grand jury, consisting of 23 business men, yesterday declined to return an indictment against Charles Cutler, 70 years old, who killed his daughter to end her sufferings, both because of his story about the murder and because the State indicated it would be unable to prove a corpus delecti.

Cutler, bent and gray, walked into a police station several weeks ago and confessed he had asphyxiated his daughter five years ago "to end her incurable suffering from heart disease." At the time, the daughter was thought to have committed suicide.

The State said that in order to establish a corpus delecti, it would be necessary to have witnesses who had seen the daughter both alive and dead. The State's Attorney said he had been unable to find such a witness. The undertaker who buried the body could testify to the death, but he did not see her alive, and a patrol wagon driver saw her alive but did not see her dead.

SUES ALTON FIRM OVER USE OF MINE MACHINE PATENTS

Jeffrey Manufacturing Co. of Ohio Accuses Duncan Foundry of Infringement.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 2.—Suit was filed in Federal Court here today by the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., Columbus, O., against the Duncan Foundry & Machine Works, Alton, for an accounting for an alleged infringement of two patents on improvements on mine loading machines and a method of loading coal. The bill also asks for a preliminary injunction against the Alton concern, restraining manufacture and sale of the machines.

It is set forth that Niles D. Levin, Columbus, assigned the patents to the Ohio firm 10 years ago and that the Duncan works has infringed since that date. The patent for improvements on loading machines was filed in 1916 and for a method and machine for loading coal in 1920, it is stated.

IN 4-DAY GALE IN LIFEBOAT

Ship Skipper and Aid Reach Matamoros, Mexico.

By the Associated Press.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 2.—Tossed four days in a 14-foot lifeboat in the Gulf of Mexico, Capt. E. E. Bailey and Navigation Officer Benjamin Jones of the motor vessel M. P. reached Matamoros today to learn that six shipmates they had sought to save already had been rescued.

The M. P., which sprang a leak 200 miles out in the gulf Saturday, was picked up by a passing steamer and towed back to Alvaro Obregon, Mexico, after Bailey and Jones had set out in the lifeboat for shore to summon aid. Coast guardsmen had been searching for the lifeboat for two days. Fighting a storm for four days in the small boat rigged with an improvised sail, Bailey and Jones found it necessary to bail continually, and at times despaired of their lives.

RED PLOT PAPERS FORGERIES, SAYS RUSSIAN LEADER

Soviet Information Bureau Head Denounces Documents Seized by New York Police.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Documents made public today by Police Commissioner Whalen of New York purporting to show that the Communist Internationale of Moscow was fomenting disorders in the United States were called forgeries by Boris E. Skvirsky, director of the Soviet Information Bureau at Washington.

Skvirsky expressed a hope that the documents would be thoroughly investigated by Federal authorities.

He denied all assertions in the papers that his organization was handling funds for a Russian secret service in this country.

Skvirsky said unofficial information coming to him indicated the same purported official documents had been offered for sale for publication in New York for several weeks.

"The new Russian 'documents,' as described to me," Skvirsky said, "seem to me to be another link in the chain of forgeries concocted by certain czarist emigres.

"One of these, Druzhelovsky, confessed and was convicted in Moscow three years ago and members of the Orloff group were caught by the Berlin police and convicted a year ago. The purpose of these forgeries is always the same, to disrupt Soviet relations with other countries and particularly to cripple the foreign trade of the Soviet union.

"In the present case the object is undoubtedly to destroy the structure of American-Soviet trade, which has been built up laboriously during the last six years with profit to both countries."

New York Police Commissioner Gives Out Documents.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Police Commissioner Whalen today made public photostats of Russian documents seized by his secret police which he declared showed the Communist International of Moscow was directly responsible for the fomenting of strikes and riots in the United States. There are references in the documents to expenditures for outbreaks and support of strikers.

One of the documents is on the letter head of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, official purchasing agent in the United States for the Soviet Government. It has offices in New York and has handled hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of business in this country.

This letter names 30 men and women sent to New York by Moscow as being hard to replace and says that the recall of any one of them might seriously handicap the work.

Commissioner Whalen said the list of 30 names includes that of one Delgass, whom he described as the most dangerous of the undercover criminal secret police of Moscow and one time personal secretary to Dzerginsky, organizer of the Russian Cheka.

"Unofficial Ambassador."

Whalen also called atention to the importance given in the documents to Boris Skvirsky, "the unofficial soviet ambassador," and head of the Russian information bureau at Washington, who, he said, was revealed as handling the funds for the "Amtorg O. G. P. U. Section." He explained the O. G. P. U. was "the undercover criminal secret police of Moscow with branches operating in all countries."

The Commissioner said the attention of the Police Department was drawn to the activities of the communists through the number of unnecessary and violent strikes which the representatives of labor declared were backed by the Russian soviet government.

He said such strong circumstantial evidence in substantiation of the charges of labor leaders was produced by the United States Labor Department and the labor unions that he ordered an investigation by the Bureau of Criminal Information of the New York Police Department.

Documents in Russian.

The documents seized by the police are in the Russian language, but English translations were furnished by Commissioner Whalen. He said the documents reached this country by courier from the soviet embassies at Berlin and Paris.

One document dated from Moscow Jan. 3, 1930, and addressed to Comrade G. Grappen informs him that the Executive Committee of the Comintern and Profintern has directed he be again dispatched to the United States as general representative of the organization.

He is directed to establish temporary headquarters at Seattle, as manager of the Seattle branch of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, and that "archives of illegal work must be sent to Moscow by freight boat."

"Between the 15th and 26th of March," the instructions continue, "you will have to call in Seattle a reunion of all our general representatives which must receive instructions, literature for organization of the May 1 outbreaks from you and sums of money from Comrade Sversky who continues to be in charge of the financial department."

Attached to the letter is a list of 25 persons being sent from Russia to be distributed by Grafpen as follows: New York, 7; Massachusetts, 3; Illinois, 3; North Carolina, 3; South Carolina, 1; Pennsylvania, 3; Connecticut, 1; Michigan, 2; Georgia, 2.

Grafpen is told to use all efforts to finish the work at Seattle in six months and when "the organization work on a solid base with connections, apartments, warehouses and printing shops is finished" to return to New York.

The letter on the Amtorg letterhead naming about 30 men and women in New York being hard to replace was sent by Grafpen March 10 last to an Amtorg representative in Moscow, a copy going to Komintern International.

A document dated Dec. 16, 1929, from the Executive Committee, Komintern, Moscow, to "Dear Comrade Saul" reads in part:

"In connection with the approaching economic crisis in the United States, it is requested that all funds in your possession be turned over to Comrade Liza for the enforcement of the proletarian front. The funds must be expended by the American Committee of K. P. in branches mostly affected by the crisis—I. E. Textile, mining, fur and other industries; and the money should be given for the support of strikers with the approval of the Communistic cells for each striking group."

W. Z. Foster Mentioned.

Another document is a copy of an article in Pravda, official Communist newspaper in Moscow, on Communistic activities in the United States which one Polpred in New York is directed by Moscow to distribute among workers and in the army and navy. Whalen said the author of the article is William Z. Foster, who is now serving a prison sentence in connection with a Communist riot in Union Square on Unemployment day last March.

Peter A. Brogdanov, chairman of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, issued a statement today declaring the letters alleged to hav written by an official of th torg Corporation were forg He referred to such letters Commissioner Whalen's exhib were reproduced in newspape

TILDEN VICTOR, COEN LOSER IN MILAN TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

MILAN, Italy, May 2.—Big Bill Tilden defeated the Italian Davis Cup star, Giorgio de Stefani, 6—2, 6—4, 6—3 in the Italian tennis championship yesterday, but Wilbur Coen of Kansas City was eliminated by the veteran Frenchman, Jacques Brugnon in a five-set struggle, 3—6, 6—4, 4—6, 6—1, 6—2.

Other winners in the singles included Daniel Prenn, German champion, and Baron H. L. De Morpurgo, Italian ace.

In doubles, Tilden and Coen eliminated De Martino and Sertorio, 6—3, 3—6, 6—2, 6—1.

BLACKWELL REGATTA TO BE ROWED TOMORROW

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The annual Blackwell Cup regatta will be rowed on the Housatonic River at Derby, Conn., tomorrow. At the same time, Princeton's four eights will be meeting Massachusetts Tech on Lake Carnegie, Princeton.

Columbia swept the Housatonic in last year's triangular regatta but expert advance opinion looks for no such result this year. The Lions of 1930, in beating Navy and M. I. T. at Annapolis two weeks ago, did not loom nearly as formidable as the 1929 aggregation which topped off an unbeaten season with a spectacular victory at Poughkeepsie. Ed Leader has developed another powerful eight at New Haven. Penn figures only as a dark horse.

Princeton is favored to whip M. I. T.'s varsity which already has bowed to Columbia, Navy and Harvard.

BIARRITZ, France, May 2.—Henri Cochet, France's No. 1 tennis player, was defeated today in a sensational upset by the Irish Davis Cup player, Lytilleton Rogers, in the final of the Biarritz tournament, 6—1, 6—2, 0—6, 9—7.

Making Haste Slowly.

THE United States will send a team of women athletes to the international games at Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, this year. It is just one more evidence that woman is disputing man's right to dominate the athletic field.

However, woman's prospect of displacing man seems as remote as the next glacial age. Comparison of records made by men with those of women shows a wide discrepancy in performance in every field. To close the gap, we are told, physical and temperamental changes will have to take place in woman before athletic equality with man is pos-

FRANK VAUGHN OF ST. LOUIS WINS PLACE ON AMERICAN SOCCER TEAM

PERFORMS IN FINE STYLE IN VICTORY OVER HAKOAH, 6 TO 2

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The selected team of the United States Football Association defeated the Hakoah All Stars by a score of 6 to 2 at Star Light Park yesterday before 3000 people.

It was the second tryout game and the third and final trial will be played at the Polo Grounds on Sunday against the New York Nationals after which the team to represent the United States in the world's soccer championships at Monteveido Uraguay, in July and August.

Frank Vaughn, brilliant right full back of the Ben Miller team of St. Louis, played a great game today and after having quite a lot to do with the Hakoah downfall, is certain to be picked for a place on the United States team. Raphael Tracy, St. Louis halfback, will get a trial in the Sunday game.

Yesterday's exhibition was a hummer from start to finish and the "selected" team gave a surprising show against their well-knit rivals.

The United States is certain a strong team which will sail for South America next month.

Following some sparkling play for half an hour Mike Bookie, of Cleveland, drove in the first goal after some clever combination by Florie and Pantenaude.

Shamus O'Brien of the Giants got number two and before the interval Bert Patenaude rammed in the third by which the U. S. F. A., led to half time.

Hakoah shifted their forward line upon resuming, which brought immediate results. Only two minutes had gone when Schwarz crashed in a corking shot which beat Sousa all the way. And 10 minutes later Grenfeld converted a penalty, awarded against Wood for handling. Several new men came out for the U. S. F. A., in the second half and it took them some time to fit in with the other players, but once they hit their stride the issue was soon placed beyond any doubt. James Brown of the Giants, scored the fourth and fifth tallies and just before the end Andy Auld, of Providence, converted a penalty to make the final count 6 to 2.

The lineup:

Bears Favored to Beat Blue Jays In Track Meet

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FULTON, Mo., May 2.—Coach Emmett Stuber of the Blue Jay track team at Westminster College, scheduled to meet the Washington University Bears in St. Louis, Saturday, feels that his charges can not win more than two or three firsts, and four at the outside. On that basis Stuber feels the Bears will win the combat by a rather top-heavy score.

Stuber banks on Boyd and Talbott to be winners, the former in the shot put and the latter in the hurdles. Aside from those events Stuber can not see his men as against the better and more experienced entries of the Washington squad.

The Westminster mentor hopes to be able to pull down some seconds and thirds as a means of producing some counters for the Fulton entries but altogether he anticipates one of the worst setbacks of several years for Westminster.

The former Tiger track star has been handicapped all season by depressing circumstances. First Lee McKnelly, his long distance runner, became ill and has not yet reached his top form. Later Robnett of Clayton, looming up as a fine understudy for McKnelly, pulled a tendon and is out for the season.

Stuber had only a few veterans around which to build his machine of the 1930 season and the freshmen did not prove out as well as in former season, putting the bulk of the point winning on a couple of men.

The probable entries for Westminster will be as follows:

100-yard dash—Raymond Frankenfeld of St. Charles, John Thomason of Princeton, Carroll Crews of Fulton, Frank Kallmeyer of Glasgow.

440-yard dash—Lawrence Bell of Kansas City, Kan., Everett Cunio of Union, Carroll Crews of Fulton, Howard Leech of Pleasant Hill.

Half-mile run—H. Barrow of New Bloomfield, C. Barrow of New Bloomfield and Lee McKnelly of O'Kean, Ark., Howard Leech of Pleasant Hill.

Mile run—H. Barrow of New Bloomfield, C. Barrow of New Bloomfield, and Lee McKnelly of O'Kean.

Two-mile run—H. Barrow of New Bloomfield, C. Barrow of New Bloomfield, Lee McKnelly of O'Kean, Ark.

High hurdles—W. A. Boyd of Louisiana, Foster Wiley of Creighton and Peyton Talbott of Clayton.

Low hurdles—W. A. Boyd of Louisiana, Foster Wiley of Creighton and Peyton Talbott of Clayton.

Broad jump—W. A. Boyd of Louisiana, Peyton Talbott of Clayton and Frank Kallmeyer of Glasgow.

Pole vault—W. A. Boyd of Louisiana, Foster Wiley of Creighton.

High jump—Henry Lambin of Keytesville, Richard Edwards of Webster Grove, W. A. Boyd of Louisiana, Everett Cunio of Union.

Shot-put—Carroll Crews of Fulton, W. A. Boyd of Louisiana.

Discus—Lee McKnelly of O'Kean, Ark., Carroll Crews of Fulton, W. A. Boyd of Louisiana.

Javelin—Robert Heward of Cameron, Carl Hall of Fulton and W. A. Boyd of Louisiana.

Mile relay—Lawrence Bell of Kansas City, Kan., H. Barrow of New Bloomfield, Everett Cunio of Union, Foster Wiley of Creighton, Peyton Talbott of Clayton and John Thomason of Princeton.

ACADEMYS PLAY COOKS TO A 2-2 TIE IN TWILIGHT SOCCER CONTEST

By Dent McSkimming.

Playing before a crowd estimated at nearly 1000 the Cook A. C. and the Academy A. C. played to a tie score in the second game of the amateur Twilight Soccer League at Sherman Park, last evening. Two fine shots by Center Forward Ellison gave the Academys what appeared to be a winning lead in the first 12 minutes of play; but Kramer and Pat Reidy tied the count before the conclusion of the first half. There was no scoring in the second period and the score remained at 2—2 when Referee George Corrigan sounded the whistle for cessation of hostilities.

In spite of the summer temperature, the game was played at top speed. Great rivalry exists between these two clubs, both of which were members of the same Municipal League group, last season. The Academys seemed to show greater strength than heretofore, aided largely by the strong and sure kicking of Left Fullback Abe McHenry. The Cooks displayed a higher order of combination play, but on the whole the teams were very evenly balanced.

"Yatz" Corrigan Refereed.

George "Yatz" Corrigan, star forward of not so long ago, refereed the game, and like Jimmy Dunn, who handled the first game of the league, officiated in splendid style. The game was hard fought and only on two occasions did Corrigan caution the players, the first time to admonish Fullback Keenoy of the Academys for tripping and later sending Blaisdell, of the Cooks from the game for failing to heed his warning.

With the field laid out and marked off, play was much easier for the referee and the linesmen.

Harry Ratican, star of past years, was among the spectators at the contest. John McNamara, the printer, and an old-time soccer fan was a first nighter at the game.

Conditions were ideal for the game, and not until the game had finished, did a few drops of rain drop from the sky.

Many of the followers of the German Sport Club who played in the first game with the Dolans, Tuesday, were on hand to view the game.

VESPER SHINES AS BEARS BEAT TIGERS, 20 TO 4

The Washington University Bears are looking forward to their two-game series with the University of Oklahoma nine here Monday and Tuesday with the hope of extending their winning streak to seven consecutive games, following their one-sided victory over Missouri University, yesterday afternoon at Liggett Field, 20 to 4. It was the Bears' fifth victory in a row.

The Tigers used three men on the mound in an effort to stop the battling Bears, while Coach Don White used two, Bill Leyhe and Don Vesper. It was the pitching of the latter that probably gave Coach White the greatest encouragement for a continuation of winning baseball on the Hilltop.

Vesper, a youngster, who hasn't started a game, was sent to the mound in the fifth inning with two men on and one out. He forced the first man to face him to hit into a double play to retire the side, and held the Tigers hitless until the ninth inning. In his four and two-thirds innings on the mound he did not allow a run.

Orville Paul Quits Team.

Another winning pitcher is needed by the Bears, if for no other reason than the fact that Orville Paul, the one-armed pitcher, who was counted on as a future regular, has quit the squad. Paul expected to get the starting assignment in the Concordia game and when another man was sent to the mound he resigned from the team. He had been used as a relief pitcher on two previous occasions. The one-armed pitcher will not be allowed to rejoin the team this year, according to Coach White.

Fifteen hits were made by the Bears and, while not discounting their performance, it may be said that any sand lot team should have been able to hit the offerings of the Missouri U. pitchers. Two first string Missouri pitchers were left at Columbia in order to save them for a two-game series with the Oklahoma Sooners today and tomorrow.

Tigers Fielded Poorly.

The fielding of the visitors was wretched, eight errors being committed. Washington players were charged with two errors.

Leyhe's wildness led to his removal as Washington's pitcher. He walked seven batters in his four and one-third innings on the mound.

ILLINOIS-MISSOURI SWIMMING MEET TO BE HELD, SATURDAY

The indoor swimming season at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. will close Saturday night with the senior championships of the Illinois-Missouri Swimming Association. Teams representing Quincy, Granite City and Alton, Ill., and the North Side and Downtown Y. M. C. A.'s, of St. Louis, will compete for the championship.

The Downtown swimmers are the defending champions and from their record during the past season, it appears that they have a good chance to retain the title. The Downtown squad boasts of such swimmers as David Vitt, Charles Roth, George Ernst, Ben Schaller and Taylor Sweney, all of whom are well known in local swimming circles.

The North Side Y squad will make a strong bid for the title now held by their Downtown rivals, Adolph Jacobsmeyer, one of the finest swimmers to be developed in St. Louis in recent years, is the leading swimmer of that team. He will be ably assisted by Dan Hochstadt, former Beaumont High School star, and Wilbur Wehmeyer, whose specialty is breast stroke.

George Richardson of Quincy, Ill., will be on hand to defend his championship in the back stroke. He is at present the Illinois back stroke champion, and has done very well this season. Quincy will also have some very able free style swimmers to round out their team. Competitive swimming is a comparatively new sport at Granite City. The preliminary events are scheduled for 2 o'clock and the finals at eight.

Twelve-Stroke Handicap Wins Season's First Golf Tourney For Toedtman; O'Brien's 75 Low

By W. J. McGoogan.

St. Louis golfers are urgently in need of practice, particularly in tournament play, it would seem after reviewing the results of the first handicap tournament of the season held by the District Association at Bellerive and Glen Echo Country Clubs yesterday. Out of a field of more than 160, only 16 were able to break 80 and there were nearly 30 scores of 100 or more.

As usually is the case in these tournaments, golfers with the higher handicaps carried off the prizes. R. S. Toedtman, Crystal Lake, receiving a 12-stroke award, shot a 76 scratch to give him a net of 64 which was low for both groups. Toedtman played at Bellerive and over the same course. Doc Slocumb, North Hills, turned in a 76 which, with his 11-stroke handicap, gave him a net of 65. This was equaled by E. C. Thursby, Forest Park, who played at Glen Echo. Thursby shot a 79 and with 14 strokes off got a 65.

Chester O'Brien, young Westborough star, was the real leader for the day as he stroked the Bellerive course in 75, which was the best scratch score made.

Doubles prizes were won by J. I. Childers and O. H. Moeller, Forest Park, at Bellerive with 132, while Slocumb and Edgar Jennings, Sunset, were second with 141; Ellsworth Smith, St. Louis Country Club, and William Ehlers, North Hills, third with 142.

Forest Park Pair Win Team prize.

At Glen Echo, J. Keane Dubrouillett and A. N. Christensen, shot a scratch 81, Dubrouillett receiving a 16-stroke handicap and Christensen 14. Two teams tied for second place with 138 each. They were Ted Wice Westwood and J. R. Kearney, Woodlawn, and Ted Baehr, Triple A, and J. B. Close, Crystal Lake.

The tournament was split into two groups, following the plan announced at a winter meeting of the organization, in order to avoid congestion of one course. The plan worked well, much better than last year when the late ones would straggle in at dusk. Yesterday there were nearly 100 playing at Bellerive and about 63 at Glen Echo. The groups were started in foursomes and all were under way by 1:45 p. m. and all finished before 6 o'clock.

The next tournament scheduled to be played Thursday, May 26, will be divided between Algonquin and Westborough County Clubs, the low handicap men playing at Algonquin and those with higher handicaps at Westborough.

Stars Fare Badly.

The stars of the district had a bad time, yesterday. Jim Manion, St. Louis open champion, who burned up the Bellerive course last year in 67-68 for 135 to win the open championship, couldn't get started on the first nine and took a 42. He played better coming in and wound up with two threes in a row for a 36 on the last nine, giving him a 78.

Dr. I. R. Davis, Forest Park, tried out his clubs for the first time this year and compiled an 86, while "Cotton" Whitbread, North Hills, Missouri amateur champion, fresh from his 67 at Glen Echo the day before, turned in an 81, and Dick Bockenkamp had a 79.

Two who were not active in district affairs last season played. They were Don Anderson, Normandie, State champion in 1924, and Roger Lord, Algonquin, who won the district title nearly 15 years ago. Anderson shot a 79 yesterday and Lord an 80. Both of them plan to play regularly in the tournaments of the association this season.

Luther Schambach, Osage, runner-up to Clarence Wolf in the district tournament in 1929, turned in a 78 and announced that he had recently made a business connection that would permit him to play more golf this year than formerly. Schambach is a long hitter and only lacks steadiness, which he should acquire by more frequent playing.

Sam Conant, St. Louis Country Club, playing in a foursome with Lord, Chick Irwin and Manion, startled his companions by knocking in a birdie two on No. 18 for a 34 on the first nine, but, as he explained, returned to normalcy on the second nine and took a 42 for a 76.

Concedes Himself Four-foot Putt.

While it doesn't mean anything in a tournament such as the handicap, it was noticed yesterday that many players concede themselves putts; one was observed making himself a present of a putt some four feet long. Such an act would result in disqualification in a big tournament and it might be well for district officials to point out the rules to players in these friendly tournaments as one of the prime purposes of them to fit players for bigger things.

Both the Bellerive and Glen Echo courses are in excellent condition, but the high wind bothered the players to some extent. No. 18 at Bellerive, about 190 yards long, over a lake, which is generally played with a No. 2 or a No. 3 iron, was being played yesterday with mashies.

BURROUGHS TO MEET PRINCIPIA BASEBALL TEAM TOMORROW

John Burroughs School will clash with Principia tomorrow afternoon on the Price road diamond. The first time these two met Principia was smothered by a score of 19—4.

In that game Burroughs used her strongest pitcher, Aikin, who will not play tomorrow. The men who brought in the runs and did the best hitting were Reasor, Dick and Lane, who lived up to their last year's batting reputations.

Up until now Principia has played four games and lost them all. Burroughs has played three "ABC" League games and has won two and lost one. This is the second game this week for both schools. On Tuesday Principia was defeated by Country Day by a score of 16 to 9, while Burroughs crushed Western on Wednesday.

MARYVILLE TEACHERS BEAT KIRKSVILLE NINE

By the Associated Press.

The second game will be played here today. The batteries: Kirksville—Hauser, Bolin and McCarter, Langkip; Maryville—Taylor and Finley.

Hurls No-Hit Game.

OMAHA, Neb., May 2.—Frankie Akromis, South High School second team pitcher, will graduate to the first string today — for yesterday Frankie hurled a no-run, no-hit game against Creighton Prep. Frankie missed a perfect game when one player proved a good waiter and accepted a base on balls. Akromis won his game, 1 to 0.

CAHILL RESIGNS TO TAKE CHARGE OF PRO SOCCER BODY, IS REPORT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Coincident with the announcement here yesterday of the resignation of T. W. Cahill as secretary of the United States Football Association, it is learned that the former St. Louisan will soon propose a drastic separation of professional from amateur forces, in the national conduct of soccer. It is regarded as highly probable that Cahill will become secretary of a national professional organization.

In a prepared statement, Cahill outlines today his reasons for reaching the conclusion that professional soccer must necessarily divorce itself from the amateur group. In the main, he attempts to show that soccer's case now is almost analogous to the situation found in baseball 30 years ago, when the professional element drew away from the amateur and assumed complete control of its own affairs.

The United States Football Association as at present constituted attempts and actually succeeds in governing all phases of the game, amateur and professional. The professional element, being outnumbered by the amateur group, which extends from seaboard to seaboard, has never been able to exercise a dominating influence in the U. S. F. A., nor has it been able to obtain legislation which it considered necessary and beneficial. Briefly, the two factions have been almost constantly at war and the professionals have finally decided that they must form their own national governing body, whether within or without the pale of the U. S. F. A.

Cahill, it is said, has been chosen as the one man who can successfully bring about the reorganization. He probably will be given the post of secretary of the new body.

The recent withdrawal of the Bethlehem Steel Co., from soccer is said to have had a considerable influence in bringing about Cahill's determination to disconnect himself from the U. S. F. A.

No decision has been made by St. Louis Soccer League officials regarding their stand in the proposed separation of professional and amateur soccer in the national field but it is believed that the local league will endeavor to work in harmony with the professionals, without severing its connection with the amateur group.

ROOSEVEL

BOTH TEAMS ARE UNDEFEATED; SOLDAN PLAYS CLEVELAND HIGH

Roosevelt and Beaumont, both undefeated, will fight for the lead in the City High School League baseball race tomorrow afternoon in the second game of the double-header at the Public Schools Stadium. The first game, starting at 1 p. m., will be between Soldan and Cleveland.

Based on the showing of Merril Baumgartner, who has pitched the Rough Riders to wins over Soldan and Cleveland, Roosevelt is considered the favorite. Beaumont, while it has won from Cleveland and Central, has not impressed from the standpoint of capable hurlers. Bob Kalbitz and Harry Hannagan have failed to go the route this season. It is probable that Kalbitz will be the starting pitcher.

No changes are expected in the lineups, although it is probable that Capt. Johnny Guhman will be back at his old place at second replacing Louis Fehr for Beaumont. Guhman missed the game last week because of a slight attack of influenza.

The outcome of the Cleveland Soldan game is unimportant, although the winner is assured of being included in the tourname which will start on May 24, because Central has already lost three games and is conceded only slight chance of defeating Roosevelt in its final appearance. Cleveland and Soldan have each won one game.

Bob Lahey will be called upon to do the pitching for Soldan his probable opponent will either Bob Wilfert or Marc Benecke. Wilfert, after making nice showing against Central, hit freely by Roosevelt last we

It is regarded as highly probable that Cahill will become secretary of a national professional organization.

In a prepared statement, Cahill outlines today his reasons for reaching the conclusion that professional soccer must necessarily divorce itself from the amateur group. In the main, he attempts to show that soccer's case now is almost analogous to the situation found in baseball 30 years ago, when the professional element drew away from the amateur and assumed complete control of its own affairs.

The United States Football Association as at present constituted attempts and actually succeeds in governing all phases of the game, amateur and professional. The professional element, being outnumbered by the amateur group, which extends from seaboard to seaboard, has never been able to exercise a dominating influence in the U. S. F. A., nor has it been able to obtain legislation which it considered necessary and beneficial. Briefly, the two factions have been almost constantly at war and the professionals have finally decided that they must form their own national governing body, whether within or without the pale of the U. S. F. A.

Cahill, it is said, has been chosen as the one man who can successfully bring about the reorganization. He probably will be given the post of secretary of the new body.

The recent withdrawal of the Bethlehem Steel Co., from soccer is said to have had a considerable influence in bringing about Cahill's determination to disconnect himself from the U. S. F. A.

No decision has been made by St. Louis Soccer League officials regarding their stand in the proposed separation of professional and amateur soccer in the national field but it is believed that the local league will endeavor to work in harmony with the professionals, without severing its connection with the amateur group.

ROOSEVELT NINE IS FAVORED TO BEAT BEAUMONT AND GAIN LEAD

BOTH TEAMS ARE UNDEFEATED; SOLDAN PLAYS CLEVELAND HIGH

Roosevelt and Beaumont, both undefeated, will fight for the lead in the City High School League baseball race tomorrow afternoon in the second game of the double-header at the Public Schools Stadium. The first game, starting at 1 p. m., will be between Soldan and Cleveland.

Based on the showing of Merril Baumgartner, who has pitched the Rough Riders to wins over Soldan and Cleveland, Roosevelt is considered the favorite. Beaumont, while it has won from Cleveland and Central, has not impressed from the standpoint of capable hurlers. Bob Kalbitz and Harry Hannagan have failed to go the route this season. It is probable that Kalbitz will be the starting pitcher.

No changes are expected in the lineups, although it is probable that Capt. Johnny Guhman will be back at his old place at second, replacing Louis Fehr for Beaumont. Guhman missed the game last week because of a slight attack of influenza.

The outcome of the Cleveland-Soldan game is unimportant, although the winner is assured of being included in the tournament which will start on May 24, because Central has already lost three games and is conceded only a slight chance of defeating Roosevelt in its final appearance. Cleveland and Soldan have each won one game.

Bob Lahey will be called upon to do the pitching for Soldan and his probable opponent will be either Bob Wilfert or Marcus Benecke. Wilfert, after making a nice showing against Central, was hit freely by Roosevelt last week.

If Keith Walker has fully recovered from his illness, he will probably get a chance behind the bat for Soldan. Preston Williams and Paul Tons are the alternate catchers. John Vessels will do the receiving for Cleveland.

SPRINGFIELD TEACHERS DEPART FOR MEET WITH ARKANSAS TRACK TEAM

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 2. — With several members of the squad showing improved form in workouts this week, the Springfield Teachers College Bears are confident they will be able to upset the advance dope in their eighth annual dual track and field meet with the University of Arkansas Saturday at Fayetteville. The Springfield squad departed for Fayetteville, today.

Arkansas has won four of seven previous dual track and field meets with the Bears, scoring a total of 452 1-3 points to Springfield's 464 2-3. The Razorbacks defeated the Bears in 1924, 71 to 60; 1927, 80½ to 50½; 1928, 72 to 59, and 1929, 80 to 51, while Springfield won in 1923, 89 to 42; 1925, 74 1-6 to 55 5-6, and in 1929, 81 to 50.

Arkansas also holds nine of the dual meet records. The two schools have divided honors in two previous dual tennis meets.

Coach Collins will send the following athletes against the Razorbacks: 100-yard dash, Spradling and Wright; 220-yard dash, Wright and Hillhouse; 440-yard dash, Kilburn, Hillhouse and Brown; 880 yard run, Boothe and Kilburn; mile run, Jarvis and Perkins; two-mile run, Farmer and Perkins; 220-yard low hurdles, Wardell and Bauer; 120-yard high hurdles, Wardell and Miner; high jump, Adams and Bowen; pole vault, Newton and Miner; broad jump, Wardell and Bowen; discus, King and Grant; shotput, Adams and Roberts; javelin, Parker; relays, Eales.

My Sullivan Is Victor.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 2.—Coming from behind with a vicious attack in the final two rounds, My Sullivan, St. Paul welterweight, won a 10-round decision over Jack McCarthy, Chicago, last night. One judge and the referee voted for Sullivan and the other judge for a draw.

SPORT SALAD by L. C. Davis

The Passing Show.

AN Indian tribe from Cleveland, O.,
Descended on our town;
They took three frolics in a row
And burned our heroes down.
It was indeed a sad affair
From every point of view;
The Redmen having snatched their hair
The Browns are feeling blue.

In jumping from a winning streak
Into a losing one,
The joy of life has, so to speak,
Been stripped of all its fun.
The Brownies lost their winning ways,
And played like wooden men,
But we'll cheer up for happy days
Will soon be here again.

'Twas tough upon our Sunny Jim
Whose thumb was giving pain;
When Gelbert threw a ball to him
It popped right out again.
Which let a runner cross the pan
And put us on the bum,
And so the Cincinnati clan
Were winners by a thumb.

There's a Reason.

KEMPER RIFLE TEAM TO DEFEND TITLE AT STATE SHOOTING MEET

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOONVILLE, Mo., May 2.—In the defense of individual as well as team championships, Kemper Military School will send her crack rifle team to Jefferson City, May 17-18, to compete in the annual matches of the Missouri State Rifle and Pistol Association. An announcement to this effect was made today by Col. J. B. Barnes, professor of military science and tactics.

Led by Capt. A. J. McGuire of Blackwater, Mo., national military school individual champion and holder of the state De Warr championship, won last year, a full five-man team will participate in the matches. McGuire will fire in the individual De Warr championships, defending his laurels there, and the team will defend its championship of the team De Warr trophy. This event was also won last year. In addition to these events the men will fire in the small-bore championship match and various individual small-bore matches.

AUSTIN DROPPED FROM ENGLAND'S DAVIS CUP TEAM

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 2.—When Great Britain plays its second round tie against either Rumania or Poland in European zone Davis cup competition, Henry W. Austin, first ranking tennis player in the Kingdom, will not be a member of the team.

The decision to drop Austin from the team, for the second round at least, was reached after the erratic youth had been beaten decisively by E. C. Peters in the British hard court championships at Bournemouth, Wednesday. Peters, who beat Big Bill Tilden on the Riviera earlier in the season, overwhelmed Austin by scores of 6—2, 6—3, 6—0.

Austin said afterwards that he was tired and worn out with playing tennis and the general opinion was that he had gone stale. Nevertheless he surprised the spectators at Bournemouth by playing in doubles after his defeat by Peters and winning easily.

According to present arrangements, Austin's place on the Davis cup team will be taken by Charles Kingsley, who played on the British teams of 1925 and 1926. The other members of the team probably will be H. G. Lee, I. G. Collins and J. C. Gregory.

Austin performed erratically in the first round tie against Germany last week. He lost a five-set battle to Dr. Heinz Landmann in his first singles match and then, two days later, came back in sensational fashion to whip Daniel Prenn, German champion, in straight sets. The victory, coupled with Lee's triumph over Landmann, enabled Great Britain to win the tie and advance to the second round.

There seems to be a likelihood that Austin will regain his place on the team in the later stages of Davis cup play provided he recovers his usual form after a rest. It is of the opinion of tennis critics, however, that while Austin is a great tennis artist he lacks the physique necessary to stand the strain of constant tennis competition.

McBride Meets Western; C. B. C. Opposes Codasco

HIGH SCHOOL GAMES TODAY, TOMORROW

TODAY.

*Country Day at Christian Brothers' College.

*McBride at Western M. A.

TOMORROW.

*Cleveland vs. Soldan, at the Stadium, 1 p. m.

*Beaumont vs. Roosevelt, at the Stadium, 3 p. m.

*Indicates league games.

The Prep League will see plenty of action this afternoon, with four of the five teams scheduled to meet in conference games. McBride, defending champion and present leader in the flag race, will play Western, fourth place club, at Sherman Park, while C. B. C., second place outfit, opposes the tail-ender, Country Day, on the Concordia diamond. The contests should be close, with McBride and C. B. C. favored. Both games start at 3:15.

The tilts will have no serious effect on the pennant race, for even a Western victory over McBride would not displace the Colonnaders from the top, but would merely drop them into a tie for first place with C. B. C., provided the Brothers defeat Codasco. "Took" Durbin, McBride hurling ace, will probably start the game against Western, and if in the same form as Tuesday, when he twirled the leaders to a one-hit victory over St. Louis U. High, the Cadets will have little chance of taking the decision. "Skip" Thompson, Western moundsman who went 11 innings against C. B. C. last Saturday, only to lose, 2-1, will do the hill work for the Cadets.

According to the dope, comparative scores favor the C. B. C. tossers in the tilt with Country Day, but the Brothers have been in a batting slump this week, losing to the weak Chaminade nine Tuesday, and if Lieber, the new Codasco pitching star, can do the same sort of work today as he did last Saturday against St. Louis U. High, the outcome may very easily favor the county outfit. Duvie will hurl for the Brothers.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

WALTER BERGER, Braves—Smashed out two home runs to aid Braves in 4-3 victory over Pirates.

JIMMY FOXX AND MAX BISHOP, Athletics — Between them they hit four home runs and a single, drove in seven runs and scored seven as A's beat Tigers, 19-2.

sible on a big scale. That of course takes centuries.

It is surprising, however, the advances that woman has made in the short time since feminine athletics first won recognition from the A. A. U. Swimming was tolerated about 25 years ago, but the rise of track and field sports in a serious way began not much more than a decade ago.

On Par With Man.

IN that short time woman has actually surpassed man in one or two events. For the five-mile skating race Rose Robinson of Toronto, holds a record of 14 minutes, 30 3-5 seconds, which is 24 4-5 seconds faster than the time of the man champion at this distance, Edmund Lamy. The lady apparently would have beaten the man champion more than one-eighth of a mile!

Man Outclassed, Here.

AGAIN, Gertrude Ederle bettered all records held by both men and women in her remarkable channel swimming effort when she swam the distance in 14 hours and 42 minutes. The best record made by a man for this event was 22 hours and 35 minutes.

But elsewhere the discrepancy is great—in some cases hopeless. For example: In the mile run Paavo Nurmi would beat the woman mile record holder by a full minute, if they met in a race and performed to their best records.

Otto Peltzer's best half mile running record is more than 32 seconds better than Miss Trickey of England was able to register. In the quarter-mile, Meredith's 440 mark beats the woman record-holder's by 12 seconds.

In the shorter sprints the girls do better; but even in the 100-yard dash there is a difference of 1 3-5 seconds between the best male record and the best performance by the woman record-holder, Fannie Rosenfeld of Canada.

That doesn't sound important, but it represents a distance of 38 feet at the finish!

America Falling Behind.

IN this country America either has not yet developed women's sports as fast as Europe, or Europe is forging ahead faster. Of 15 world running records tabulated, only FOUR are held by American girls.

These are confined entirely to sprint events of 70 yards and under.

On the other hand, American women swimmers are far out in front of all rivals. That's because this country has concentrated on swimming for a longer period of time. It may also be due to the fact that all the "inducements" are to be found in swimming events and the number of participants therefore is far greater.

Promoters of track events for women are not offering heavily upholstered expense accounts to lure athletic celebrities to their games. Contestants themselves find it hard to scrape up money to cover the most meager expenses.

But swimming pools in all sections of the country which are in the business of selling swimming accommodations or beach attractions, can afford to and do give liberal expense accounts to the mermaids and can afford to pay liberally for attractions. Florida is an example of that.

There is no money in track and field sports, as a general proposition; the remarkable thing is that, in the cases of both man and woman, athletics continue to flourish and progress.

MOORE AND FINNEGAN WILL BOX IN SPEIAL BOUT AT TOWER A. C.

Barney McCarthy, matchmaker for the Tower Athletic Club, last night announced that he has Farrell Moore of the Tower A. C., who wears the Mississippi Valley Athletic Association welterweight crown, and Bill Finnegan, slugging South Broadway A. C. fighter, had signed to appear in one of the five special matches on next Thursday night's amateur boxing card at Rodenberg Hall, 6200 North Broadway.

In a recent scrap, Finnegan shaded the champion in an extra round bout in an Overland ring. The bout was thrilling from start to finish and the referee ordered an additional round of fighting. In the added session, Finnegan had the better of Moore by a handy margin. The South Side Irishman has been very successful in his recent matches. Prior to his setto with Moore, he won over Myrle Gilbert, Olympian A. C. boxer, twice.

Another feature number will be between Johnny Miles, South Broadway A. C. slugger, and Steve Marre of Sherman Park, who holds the Mississippi Valley middleweight crown. The coming bout will mark the seventh meeting between the pair in the squared circle. In their six previous battles, each fighter managed to eke out three victories. However, in their first battle, which took place last summer, Miles knocked out Marre. Their last meeting saw Miles again defeat the title-holder.

SEVEN TEAMS IN JUNIOR COLLEGE ATHLETIC MEET

By Davison Obear.

Track teams from seven colleges will compete in the first annual track and field meet of the Missouri State Junior College Conference to be held at Taylor Field here tomorrow. Preliminary events will be held in the morning with the finals scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

The morning program will consist of trials in all events except the mile run, 880-yard run and the half mile relay. Athletes who qualify in the morning events will participate in the afternoon finals.

Seventy-one athletes have been entered by the seven colleges according to Lee McCandless, of Principia Junior College, who is manager of the meet. Kemper Military School is sending 18 athletes down here from Boonville and is expected to win the point honors. Palmer College of Albany, Mo., has entered 16 men. Other entries include seven from Hannibal-LaGrange, six from Jefferson City Junior College, three from Moberly Junior College while the Trenton Junior College will be represented by a lone entry in the person of Hansel Wood, who is entered in the mile and half mile events. Principia Junior College will have a full squad in the meet.

The Principia Junior College will present prizes to the team winning the championship and to the winning relay team. Awards will also be made to the individual athletes who place first, second, third and fourth in the various events.

William Summers of Washington University will be official referee and starter while members of the Principia coaching staff will assist Coach McCandless of Principia in arranging the details of the meet. The Executive Committee of the conference and other faculty members will serve as judges and timers.

EIGHTEEN KEMPER ATHLETES ENTERED IN TRACK MEET

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOONVILLE, Mo., May 2.—Eighteen cadets, members of the Kemper Military School track team, left today for St. Louis, where they will compete in the first annual track and field meet of the newly organized Junior College Conference of Missouri. The meet will be held on Taylor field, the Principia. Eight schools are members of the new conference and a close meet is predicted.

Sporting a one-sided victory over Jefferson City Tuesday, the Yellow Jackets realize a golden opportunity is at hand for a victory in this first meet. Coach Johnston has his men in the pink of condition and has recently made discoveries in the middle distances that lend balance and power to his team. Only in the hurdles has he a weakness and in every other event he should score and in a number heavily.

The team will spend the night in St. Charles and proceed Saturday morning to the field where trials will be held at 10 o'clock. Following this meet the Yellow Jackets will close their season with the Missouri State Conference meet to be held in Columbia on May 8.

22 AMERICAN WOMEN GOLF STARS TO PLAY IN BRITISH CHAMPIONSHIPS

U. S. PLAYERS LOSE IN FIRST COMPETITION ON ENGLISH LINKS

$2500 to $125,000 Bet by Atlantans On Bobby Jones

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 2.

IF Bobby Jones wins the four major golf tournaments this year, Atlanta friends will realize a total of $125,000 on a speculation of $2500.

Lloyds of London is betting 50 to 1 that he will not win the British and American amateur and open tournaments. Nobody ever has won them all, and the stipulation is that Bobby shall do it this season.

Though the price seems short, Atlantans have taken out policies in units of $5—500 of them. The fact that Bobby has been on the top of his game convinces them that it is a good sporting proposition.

By the Associated Press.

SUNNINGDALE, England, May 2.—Beaten in their first competition abroad, Glenna Collett and her American women golfing comrades now have their eyes fixed on the British women's championship which will be played at Formby the week of May 12.

Miss Collett's team bowed to a picked English squad headed by Molly Gourlay yesterday, eight matches to six, with one halved, but the Americans made a surprisingly good showing in view of the fact that they had arrived in England only two days previously.

If anything were needed to prove that the invaders had needed more time to get rid of their sea legs, the brilliant showing of Maureen Orcutt, Englewood (N. J.) star, provided it. Miss Orcutt, who preceded the rest of the team by a week, not only defeated her singles opponent, Mrs. J. B. Watson, four and three, but paired with Mrs. H. A. Martell of Hartford, Conn., to win in foursomes from Dorothy Pearson and Phyllis Lobett, seven and six.

Miss Collett herself was beaten in both singles and foursomes. She lost to Miss Gourlay, one up, in a tight match in singles and with Marion Bennett of New Britain, Conn., bowed to Miss Gourlay and Enid Wilson in the foursomes, four and three.

All seventeen members of Miss Collett's team will play in the British women's championship, as will five other Americans, the most noted of whom is Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia.

LONGUS, DERBY HORSE, WORKING AT FAIRMOUNT

The R. C. Stable's Longus, candidate for the Kentucky and Fairmount derbies, now being prepared at Fairmount track, worked a mile and an eighth this morning in 1:56 3-5—the mile in 1:43 and at no part of the route was he pressed. His handlers are "very high" on the colt at this time and believe they have an excellent chance to win the Kentucky classic. Arrangements are being made here for the use of the private van of August Busch to ship this racer to Churchill Downs for competition in the race of May 17.

Paul Lycan, who has charge of the two Hawaiian two-years-olds of W. A. Carter—one a full brother to Ulunui—has a smart looking three-year-old which is going well in the morning. He is Sen Remus. He has never raced as a three-year-old, but accounted for three victories as a two-year-old over the Fairmount oval last year.

My Dandy, the crack racer of the Reichert Brothers, which lost the sight in his right eye in a stable accident when first shipped to California last January, turned in an exceptionally fine work this morning and gives every evidence as being ready for the Fairmount Inaugural at six furlongs on opening day May 10. The son of Porte Drapeau clicked off seven-eighths in 1:29 2-5 and was hard held. In discussing the eye accident, W. C. Reichert said that it happened before any of his starts in Augua Caliente. My Dandy was out of the money in two of the races following, but subsequently won two to break track records and ran well in the Agua Caliente Handicap, setting the pace up through the stretch.

Another racer to show well and a sure starter in the inaugural is Flag Bearer, the fleet brother of My Dandy, who is being trained by J. L. Wilson.

The stables of W. R. Cox, Parkview Stable, H. T. Fleming, B. B. Rice, R. Pollard and Joseph Leiter were arrivals yesterday.

The Meadowbrook Stable and Brown Shasta Farm were arrivals today from California.

Morton, a Morvich get, will run under the colors of Dewn and Denham, local packers, at the Fairmount meeting. He won in one start at Beulah Park.

Phillies Will Be Dangerous, But Cannot Be Rated as Real Flag Contender, McGraw Says

By John J. McGraw.
Manager, New York Giants.

NEW YORK, May 2.—To sum up one answer to several of the questions that have been asked me about the Phillies this season, and their prospects—Bert Shotton's team with its admitted punching power is a dangerous outfit at all times. In my opinion, however, the club does not quite rank as an actual pennant contender. As yet they have not got together all the elements that go to make up a championship club.

"Do you believe that Bert Shotton will yet turn out a pennant winner?" I was asked.

That is not so easy for anyone to answer because, in baseball, so many upsetting things can happen. In justice to Shotton, though, I want to say that he has done marvelously well to build up the forceful club that he has in two years. He is a real constructive leader and does things with a purpose. No one can tell how far a man like that may go.

There is no doubt that the Phillies pitching has improved and is getting better right along. It has been helped a lot by the presence of Grover Alexander, not only because of the pitching he may do himself but because of the help he has given the others. Right at the start of the season Sweetland pitched a beautiful ball game over in Brooklyn. Old Alex will be a help to those pitchers all summer.

Catchers Have Improved.

Another improvement is in the catching. Davis is getting better every day. His work this year shows polish that he didn't possess early last year. It takes time and experience to make a first-class catcher just as it does a pitcher.

"How about Thevenow?" some one asked.

There can be no question about the value of Thevenow's work in the infield. He is improving as a hitter as well as a fielder. Thevenow fits in nicely as a partner to Thompson and they make a good combination around second base.

An outstanding figure on the Phillies is Klein. He is simply an old-fashioned slugger and a good ball player. The enthusiasm over Klein and his hitting brings back to Philadelphia fans the days of Ed Delahanty and Napoleon Lajoie. Klein is a sparkplug in the attack. Southern is also a first-class man in that outfield and Lefty O'Doul is certainly a great hitter.

The Phillies are extremely fortunate this year in having a man like Friberg to step in and take Whitney's place. He seems a better ball player than ever.

Yes, Thompson is a good hustler around second base, always full of life and works well with Thevenow.

Plenty of Swatting Power.

From the day he took charge of the club Shotton started in to improve his punch and to build up pitching strength for balance. He had done that to a marked degree.

"Do you consider the Phillies one of the hardest-hitting clubs in the business?" was a question put to me.

I really answered that by saying they were dangerous at all times. In some quarters they are rated higher than others. Very likely they will hit harder on their own field than in other parks. While I rate them as a club with a dangerous punch, they are not to be feared any more than one or two other teams. We have several clubs in the National League with a hard punch.

The improvement in the Phillies is a great thing for baseball all around. Such clubs as that will prevent any one or two clubs from stepping out and having the race all to themselves.

Yes, Bert Shotton's outfit will cause a lot of trouble to any contender.

PIONSHIPS

ST. LOUIS STARS LOSE TO LOUISVILLE TEAM

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2.—The St. Louis Stars of the Negro National baseball league dropped their fourth straight game when they were defeated here by the Louisville Black Caps yesterday. The score was 7 to 6.

Although the Stars out-slugged the home team by two safeties they failed to bunch them in order to be effective. Cannon, who formerly pitched for the Stars, held them to six runs and three tallies for eight innings, but weakened in the ninth frame and was relieved by Hudson.

Louisville won the contest in the ninth inning by breaking a 6 to 6 tie on a two-base hit, a walk and an error by Radcliffe. B. Russell drove a long one to deep center in the first inning to score a home run.

SOLACE WINNER IN 3D STRAIGHT MADISON RACE

Displaying the same brilliant form he showed in his two preceding engagements of the present Madison Kennel Club meeting, Solace, a crack brindle greyhound owned by Charley Sterling, turned in his third straight victory, when he stepped the futurity distance in :29 2-5 to defeat McGurk, Cashoo, Decision, Dick Free, Armed Man and other top-notch speedsters in the finale of last night's racing at the East Side oval. The victor's refund was $7.40.

Solace began with a rush, racing neck and neck with Armed Man, a fast-stepping brother of the speedy Alloon, until they reached the back stretch, where the Sterling Kennel star steadily pulled away from the flying pack to breeze over the line with a lead of two lengths. McGurk, well back in the early going, closed fast to land second place. Decision, also improving steadily after a slow start, got up on the stretch to beat Armed Man out of third honors on his last few strides. Cashoo lost ground by running wide most of the way and came in fifth

The feature on tonight's program of 10 well-balanced events is the final, which brings out Dry Creek, victor last year in the sixth Madison Derby, and Bootlegger, winner of the last Montana Derby, to engage Alloon, Concession, The Bison, Irish Side, Hilcourt's Wonder and Dr. Harry in a futurity jaunt.

Dray Creek lost his first two starts this year but he was knocked out of contention by early interference in both engagements. He starts out of the eighth box tonight and figures to show his real ability. Concession, The Bison and Alloon, on the strength of their last races, loom as strong contenders.

A secondary feature is the seventh number in which The Villain and Swift and Sure, a pair that starred throughout the Spring meeting last year, will vie with Hargento, the speediest breaker racing at Madison, Royal Meadows, a running mate of Cashoo in the Houghton Kennel, Mate O'Mine, another former Hawthorne star, Kerry News, Real Mischief and By No Means.

The fifth race, a distance affair at five-sixteenths, with such clever routers as Hard-a-Starboard, Flossie Mac, White Lawn and Rush Forth among the contenders, is another colorful attraction. White Lawn replaces Robin's River, which has been scratched. Chance Taker supplants Lucky Concern, scratched in the ninth, another distance scrimmage.

Long odds were refunded on six of last night's winners, Goose Feather and Joe Parton, yielding $28.80 each to top the list, while Lou's Visitor paid $28.60.

NEW GREYHOUND TRACK OPENS IN MADISON COUNTY

A crowd estimated by the management at 4500 attended the opening night's program at the new Kingshighway Kennel Club greyhound racing track in Madison County, Ill., last night. The Inaugural Cup, feature event of the program, and seventh race on the card, was won by Mike Murray, an outsider. The race was pretty much of an upset with Galway Maid finishing second at long odds and Irish Gray, the favorite, finishing third.

Fake Farmer, winner at the futurity distance last night, is entered again tonight in the seventh race, at the same distance. His time last night was considered exceptionally good.

FAMOUS-BARR STORE SUES ON LIGHT BILL

Declares Union Electric Has Been Paid $400,000 Too Much.

The May Department Stores Co., operating the Famous-Barr department store, filed suit in Circuit Court today to enjoin the Union Electric Light & Power Co. and the Cupples Station Light, Heat & Power Co., which is owned by Union Electric, from charging a higher rate for electricity for Famous-Barr than Union Electric's published tariff.

Asserting that more than $400,000 was paid for current in excess of what should have been paid between April 1, 1924, and March 31st last, the company asks for an accounting and a refund.

A long-term contract between the plaintiff and the Light and Development Co. in 1912 provided for the supply of current to Famous-Barr, the petition sets out, and this is still in effect. When a power plant was installed under the contract in the Kingston Building, Seventh and St. Charles streets, the lease of these premises was transferred to the Cupples Station company, it is averred, and in 1924 Union Electric acquired the Cupples Station company.

It is alleged that Union Electric has stripped the Cupples Station company of all its assets but this plant and has changed the plant into a transforming unit to supply current generated elsewhere to Famous-Barr and neighboring consumers, but since then has maintained the Cupples Station company for the sole purpose of sending formal bills to the May company. The plaintiff discovered the situation last year, it is stated, and demanded application of the Union Electric published tariff, but met with refusal.

Vice President Boehm of Union Electric said his company had no comment on the suit, which involved complicated issues.

PRESIDENT FOR INQUIRY INTO TRADE DEPRESSION

Hoover Tells U. S. Chamber of Commerce He Will Name Commission as Soon as the Situation Clears.

SAYS DANGER OF PANIC IS PAST

Board Which He Will Appoint Will Include Representatives of Industry, Business, Labor and Agriculture.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—To achieve a greater degree of economic stability for the future, President Hoover is planing an exhaustive study of the stock market collapse of last year, the boom period which preceded it and the depression which followed.

If his proposal meets with general approval, the Chief Executive intends to institute the inquiry when the present situation "clears a little," and, to carry out the investigation, he contemplates the appointment of a commission representing various fields of endeavor.

Mr. Hoover made this known last night in delivering an address before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in which he also expressed the opinion that the worst effects of the security crash are past, with a renewed prosperity lying just ahead.

Lessons of Depression Applied.

The Chief Executive described the study of the depression of 1921 which he undertook as Secretary of Commerce and told how the experiences of nearly a decade ago had been aplied to counteracting the business decline of the last few months.

The nation, he said, has advanced in methods of stability in recent years, adding that "the development of our credit system, our statistics, our methods of security and relief in depression" all show progress.

"But," he added, "the whole range of our experiences from this boom and slump should be placed under accurate examination with a view to broad determination of what can be done to achieve greater stability for the future, both in prevention and remedy. If such an exhaustive examination meets with general approval I shall, when the situation clears a little, move to organize a body—representative of business, economics, labor and agriculture—to undertake it.

"I do believe that our experience shows that we can produce helpful and wholesome effects in our economic system by voluntary co-operation through the great associations representative of business, industry, labor and agriculture, both nationally and locally."

Comparison With Previous Booms.

The President said that the intensity of the speculative boom which reached its climax in the crash of last fall was as great or greater than that of "any of our major manias before," but that the intensity of the slump which followed it had been greatly diminished by the efforts that were made to counteract it.

He went on to describe the program undertaken by the Government in co-operation with business leaders and then said:

"We have succeeded in maintaining confidence and courage. We have avoided monetary panic and credit stringency. Those dangers are behind us. From the moment of the crash, interest rates have steadily decreased and capital has become steadily more abundant. Our investment markets have absorbed over two billions of new securities since the crash. There has been no significant bank or industrial failure. That danger, too, is safely behind us."

Reliable Statistics Needed.

One great need, the President said, is complete and reliable statistics at all times on the extent of unemployment. The present census, he added, will provide this for the first time. What information has already been obtained, he said, leads to the belief that unemployment has greatly decreased since the first of the year.

Summarizing the present situation, the Chief Executive said:—

"We have been passing through one of those great economic storms which periodically bring hardship and suffering upon our people. While the crash only took place six months ago, I am convinced we have now passed the worst and with continued unity of effort we shall rapidly recover. There is one certainty in the future of a people of the resources, intelligence and character of the people of the United States—that is, prosperity."

Text of Hoover's Address On Results of Stock Crash

WASHINGTON, May 2.

FOLLOWING is the text of the address made by President Hoover at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States:

Gentlemen of the United States Chamber of Commerce: We have been passing through one of those great economic storms which periodically bring hardship and suffering upon our people. While the crash only took place six months ago, I am convinced we have now passed the worst and with continued unity of effort we shall rapidly recover. There is one certainty in the future of a people of the resources, intelligence and character of the people of the United States—that is, prosperity.

On the occasion of this great storm we have for the first time attempted a great economic experiment, possibly one of the greatest of our history. By co-operation between Government officials and the entire community, business, railways, public utilities, agriculture, labor, the press, our financial institutions and public authorities, we have undertaken to stabilize economic forces; to mitigate the effects of the crash, and to shorten its destructive period.

I believe I can say with assurance that our joint undertaking has succeeded to a remarkable degree, and that it furnishes a basis of great tribute to our people for unity of action in time of national emergency. To those many business leaders present here I know that I express the gratitude of our countrymen.

Most Human Questions.

It is unfortunate, in a sense, that any useful discussion of the problems behind and before us has to be expressed wholly in the cold language of economics, for I realize as keenly as anyone can that individually they are not problems in science but are the most human questions in the world. They involve the immediate fears of men and women for their daily bread, the well-being of their children, the security of their homes. They are intensely personal questions fraught with living significance to everything they hold dear.

The officers of a ship in heavy seas have as deep a consciousness of the human values involved in the passengers and crew whose lives are in their keeping, but they can best serve them by taking counsel of their charts, compass and barometer and by devotion to navigation and the boilers.

In like manner, the individual welfare can best be served by us if we devote ourselves to the amelioration of destructive forces, for thereby we serve millions of our people.

Slumps Follow Booms.

All slumps are inexorable consequences of the destructive forces of booms. If we inquire into the primary cause of the great boom of the stock exchanges last year, we find it rests mainly upon certain forces inherent in the human mind. When our nation has traveled on the high road to prosperity for a considerable term of years, the natural optimism of our people brings into being a spirit of undue speculation against the future. These vast contagions of speculative emotion have hitherto throughout all history proved themselves uncontrollable by any device that the economist, the business man, or the Government has been able to suggest. The effect of them is to divert capital and energy from healthy enterprise—the only real source of prosperity—to stimulate waste, extravagance and unsound enterprise, with the inevitable collapse in panic.

Out of the great crashes hitherto there has always come a long train of destructive forces. A vast number of innocent people are directly involved in losses. Optimism swings to deepest pessimism; fear of the future chokes initiative and enterprise; monetary stringencies, security and commodity panics in our exchanges, bankruptcies and other losses all contribute to stifle consumption, decrease production and finally express themselves in unemployment, decreased wages, strikes, lockouts and a long period of stagnation.

Many have looked upon all this rise and fall as a disease which must run its course and for which nothing could be done either in prevention or to speed recovery, or to relieve the hardship which wreaks itself especially upon workers, farmers and smaller business people. I do not accept the fatalistic view that the discovery of the means to restrain destructive speculation is beyond the genius of the American people.

The Immediate Problem.

Our immediate problem, however, has been the necessity to mitigate the effect of the recent crash, and to get back onto the road of prosperity as quickly as possible. This is the first time an effort has been made by the united community to this end. The success of this effort is of paramount importance, not only for our immediate needs, but the possibilities it opens for the future. The intensity of the speculative boom on this occasion was, in my view, as great as or greater than any of our major manias before. The intensity of the slump has been greatly diminished by the efforts that have been made.

We—And as we I speak of many men and many institutions—have followed several major lines of action. Our program was one of deliberate purpose to do everything possible to uphold general confidence which lies at the root of maintained initiative and enterprise; to check monetary, security, and commodity panics in our exchanges; to assure an abundance of capital at decreasing rates of interest so as to enable the resumption of business; to accelerate construction work so as to absorb as many employes as possible from industries hit by decreased demand; to hold up the level of wages by voluntary agreement and thus maintain the living standards of the vast majority who remain in employment; to avoid accelerating the depression by the hardship and disarrangement of strikes and lockouts; and by upholding consuming power of the wage earners who in turn support agriculture.

Monetary Panic Avoided.

We may well inquire into our progress thus far. We have succeeded in maintaining confidence and courage. We have avoided monetary panic and credit stringency. Those dangers are behind us. From the moment of the crash, interest rates have steadily decreased and capital has become steadily more abundant. Our investment markets have absorbed over two billions of new securities since the crash. There has been no significant bank or industrial failure. That danger, too, is safely behind us.

The acceleration of construction programs has been successful beyond our hopes. The great utilities, the railways, and the large manufacturers have responded courageously. The Federal Government has not only expedited its current works but Congress has authorized further expenditures. The Governors, Mayors, and other authorities have everywhere been doing their full part. The result has been the placing of contracts of this character to the volume of about $500,000,000 during the first four months of 1930, or nearly three times the amount brought into being in the corresponding four months of the last great depression of eight years ago.

All of which contributes not only to a direct employment but also a long train of jobs in the material and transportation industries. We are suffering from a decrease in residential construction, but despite this we have reason to believe that the total construction will still further expand, and we should during 1930 witness a larger gross volume of improvement work than normal.

For the first time in the history of great slumps we have had no substantial reductions in wages and we have had no strikes or lockouts which were in any way connected with this situation.

Statistics Inadequate.

The accelerated construction has naturally not been able to absorb all the unemployment brought by the injuries of the boom and crash. Unfortunately we have no adequate statistics upon the volume of unemployment. The maximum point of depression was about the first of the year, when, severe as the shock was, the unemployment was much less proportionately than in our two last major depressions. A telegraphic canvass of the Governors and Mayors who are co-operating so ably with us in organizing public works brings with one exception the unanimous response of continuously decreasing unemployment each month and the assurance of further decreases again in May.

All these widespread activities of our business men and our institutions offer sharp contrast with the activities of previous major crashes and our experiences from them. As a consequence we have attained a stage of recovery within this short period greater than that attained during a whole year or more following previous equally great storms.

While we are today chiefly concerned with continuing the measures we have in progress for relief from this storm, and in which we must have no relaxation, we must not neglect the lessons we have had from it, and we must consider the

Extraordinary Revolt in Ohio Penitentiary: Convicts Want "Discipline, Not Brutality;" "They Can't Stand Restraint," Says Warden

Overcrowding, Idleness, Longer Sentences and Fewer Paroles and Politics Among the Contributing Factors in the Outbreak.

Prisoners Conducting "Passive Resistance" Campaign to Force Ousting of Prison Head Whom Governor Says He Wont' Remove.

By J. F. DRISCOLL,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBUS, O., May 2.—After years of shadow and gloom behind the vine-covered, gray stone walls of the 54-year-old Ohio Penitentiary, 600 convicts are camping out in the sunshine.

This is a result of the unusual situation arising from the fire on Easter Monday in which 320 convicts perished, and the subsequent mutiny in which infuriated felons battered cell doors and locks rather than return to the holes in which their comrades had been suffocated and burned to death.

A two weeks' vacation is in prospect for the inmates of the prison's Idle House, scene of repeated disorders since the fire. Neat rows of army tents have been set up at one side of the spacious prison yard, away from the damp cell blocks. The "lucky 600," including ringleaders of the mutiny, have been marched to the tents to eat, sleep and breathe in the fresh air, pending repairs to the battered Idle House. The remaining 700 occupants of the Idle House are housed temporarily in a warehouse converted into a dormitory.

Bulk of Prisoners Unaffected.

The bulk of the prison population—there were 4200 men here until, as one expressed it, the fire "paroled" 320—remain in various other parts of the penitentiary, untouched by flames and rebellion.

Hiking will be one pleasure denied the 600 "vacationists." Their tents are surrounded by a new barbed wire stockade with the high stone walls just behind. Several hundred national guardsmen patrol the grounds and the streets outside.

The cause of the fire has not been definitely established. The prisoners scoffed at rumors of incendiarism and criticised the State for not fire-proofing the old prison buildings. They asserted the prisoners would hardly set a fire in which only their own lives would be endangered.

However, the State Fire Marshal has concluded that the fire was the work of desperate criminals who hoped that it would afford means of escape. Warden Thomas, who previously doubted incendiarism, changed to this view and remarked: "They set their own funeral pyre."

It was the fear that the convicts would escape that made prison guards delay unlocking cells until many of the occupants were dead.

Some Causes of Mutiny.

The hysteria induced in the survivors by the terrible sight of the dead stretched out in the prison yard played a large part in the subsequent mutiny, which was quelled when the Ohio National Guard, under command of Col. Robert Haubrich, took possession of the penitentiary after two convicts had been shot by prison guards.

But there are other contributing causes to the fierce unrest that pervades Ohio Penitentiary—and the causes are not unlike those which have resulted in disorders in prisons throughout the country. Overcrowding, idleness, increase in the length of sentences and decrease in the number of paroles, mistreatment by prison guards—all these are factors in the turmoil here.

The overcrowding is obvious and admitted by everyone. Cells intended for one man are housing two and, sometimes, four men. Additions have been made from time to time to the main structure erected in 1876, but the prison population grows faster than the accommodations. Ohio penitentiary is now the biggest, population considered, in the nation. No one pretends it is the best. Lack of sanitary facilities in many of the cells aggravates the overcrowding.

The old cell blocks are electrically lighted, but the cells are small, dark and gloomy. There are no toilet or washing facilities. A large trough just outside the cells on each tier is used for washing.

New Cell Block Is Modern.

Far better is the new cell block, where each cell has a toilet, a wash bowl with running water, two beds which swing up to the wall, and some extra furniture.

The cells are considered necessary for the unruly and vicious criminals. Crippled and infirm prisoners and inmates who work and obey the rules get favored quarters in dormitories.

Idleness is the bane of the Ohio penitentiary. Virtually every shop and industrial department of the prison is over-manned, making partial idleness general. In order to keep as few men as possible entirely idle, an oversupply of men is assigned to every task. Labor-saving devices are intentionally avoided so as to give more work to more men. Despite this, there is the well-named Idle House, where hundreds of men sit on benches all day long, except at mealtime or when they walk around the yard. Under such conditions, plans for mutinies, escapes and renewed criminal activities are hatched.

COL. ROBERT HAUBRICH, Ohio National Guard (left), and WARDEN PRESTON THOMAS in the Warden's office at Columbus.

In Ohio, as in other states, there has been public hue and cry in recent years over the increase of crime. Judges and jurists have responded by imposing heavier punishment on those convicted; officials in charge of paroles and pardons have hesitated to exercise their powers. Ohio Penitentiary thus has become largely a one-way station—many coming in, few leaving. Five years ago the penitentiary's population was 1600 less than it is now.

Charges of Brutality Denied.

Accusations of brutality made by prisoners and their friends on the outside are denied by Warden Thomas and his staff, and Gov. Cooper backs up the Warden.

One of the star witnesses at the Attorney-General's inquiry that followed the Easter Monday fire was Murray Wolfe, ex-reporter, forger, who has served time in several penitentiaries and jails.

"I have nothing against Warden Thomas," testified Convict Wolfe. "I have been in the penitentiary here since last December. But the prisoners who have been here a long time are so vehement against him, there must be something wrong."

Wolfe admitted he had no actual knowledge of brutality upon the part of the Warden or his guards.

"I have seen animosity on the part of guards, but not brutality," he continued.

Wolfe denied the mutinous prisoners were attempting to run the penitentiary.

"There is no thought of dictation on the part of the prisoners," he declared. "Possibly there was at first, but not now. They ask only one thing—the removal of the present Warden."

Passive Resistance Program.

A program of passive resistance was formulated by an executive committee of 40 disgruntled convicts, which styled itself the "Forty-for-Facts Group." Following is the code of conduct—or misconduct—that they outlined:

Keep together until the present Warden is removed.

Do not return to the old cell block.

Suppress radicalism.

No plots to escape.

Look after the welfare of the men first.

Do only work necessary to maintain the well-being of the prisoners, particularly of the injured in the hospitals.

Only enough barbers to take care of emergencies, the rest of us will go unshaved.

Absolutely no violence.

"Yes, we have a committee of prisoners," said Convict William Baron. "We didn't pick them for their toughness, but for their brains and leadership. We're not dumb.

A Convict's View of It.

"Say, buddy, something has got to be done here. This tragedy is the worst thing that has ever happened in Ohio. We have lost our faith in God, in society, almost everything. The only thing we have faith in, buddy, is guts. Guts, and we have 'em, too! We want to tell the public what is going on in here. If they knew, they would give us at least a small break for our white alley.

"We can't go back in that hole that burned up over there. Do you blame us for wanting to make sure there won't be a similar disaster again?"

"There is no outcry against discipline," avers the head of the convict committee, Charlie Quinlan, a robber who frankly admits he was "caught with the goods."

"Our complaint is against the perverted discipline that will hit a man over the head with a club and then shove him into the hole instead of the hospital. It is against that kind of discipline that will refuse to pick up a man who has collapsed through illness. It is against that kind of discipline that will shoot a man in his cell and plead self defense, or that will leave him there all night when he is sick and in need of hospital care.

"The Warden treats his stoolpigeons all right, but the rest of us—!"

Warden Thomas, whose reputation as a penologist led to his se-

OHIO PRISON FIRE INQUIRY FINDS FOUR INSTANCES OF NEGLIGENCE BY AUTHORITIES

COLUMBUS, O., May 2.
By the Associated Press.

GOV. Cooper's special commission which investigated the Ohio penitentiary fire, reported to the executive late today that it had reached four findings in its investigation.

1—That the temporary wiring in the cell blocks in which the fire occurred "was improper and dangerous."

2—That a dangerous and hazardous temporary condition existed because cell block construction work near where the fire started was not properly protected and thus the lives of 800 convicts were not safeguarded.

3—That there was negligence in failure to have an organized plan of meeting the emergency of fire.

4—Failure to designate some one after the emergency arose to take command of the situation directly contributed to the loss of life.

MANY WOODS PUT ON THE FREE LIST BY HOUSE VOTE

SILVER TARIFF PLAN REJECTED

Roll Call Requested on Several Schedules and Granted — Levy on Cement Adopted.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The House today agreed to the Senate with placing of logs of fir, spruce, cedar and Western hemlock on the free list. These are now dutiable at $1 a thousand board feet. The vote on a division was 290 to 105.

Approval then was given the Senate amendment to retain cedar lumber on the free list as in existing law. A rate of 25 per cent was carried on the House bill. The vote was 289 to 108.

A compromise duty of 75 cents a thousand board feet on fir, spruce, pine, hemlock and larch lumber, now on the free list, then was defeated, on a division vote by 230 to 178, but Representative Hawley, (Rep.), Oregon, who offered it, demanded a record vote and this was ordered.

The Senate provided a rate of $1.50 a thousand on this soft wood lumber while the house kept it on the free list. The roll call vote was 250 to 143 against the 75 cent rate on soft wood lumber.

Without a record vote, the House then went on record for free soft wood lumber, including railroad ties and telephone poles of all woods.

Approval then was given the Senate rate of 8 per cent on maple, birch and beech flooring as against the House duty of 15 per cent. These commodities are now duty free. No record vote was taken on this motion.

By a division vote of 280 to 102, the House then accepted the Senate free listing of shingles as against a House rate of 25 per cent. A roll call vote, however, was demanded to put the body on record. The record vote was 279 to 110.

The House rejected the Senate duty of 30 cents an ounce on silver, which is on the free list in the present law and House bill. The proposal, defeated, 200 to 72, on a Slow Drivers on Widened Olive.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

PERMIT me to direct the attention of our splendid Police Chief and his efficient department to the new traffic code just recently adopted. The code provides that those driving automobiles or any other vehicle at a slow rate of speed shall keep to the right of the highway. To provide a reasonably fast route downtown. St. Louis citizens spent a lot of money to widen Olive street, then a very sensible ordinance permitting a speed of 30 miles per hour on that street was enacted.

It is impossible to take advantage of this because of the many drivers both of automobiles and trucks that persist in staying in the middle of the street at about 12 miles per hour, thus forcing the faster driver to take the wrong side of the street or endanger himself by using the right side for passing the slow moving vehicle.

Would it not be reasonable to suggest that the motor cycle police direct some of these slow drivers to keep to the right, as they should do? This would work no kind of hardship on the slow driver, who is entitled to drive as slowly as he wishes, but would help the more speedy man to get through. Observance of the right rule would speed things up generally without in any way causing danger, and right now we need a little more speed in St. Louis. J. W. HOBBS.

A Democrat's Prophecy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT is amusing to read the articles in the daily papers regarding the employment of prisoners in our parks. Protests to the Mayor and several other officials at the City Hall have been of no avail. Now the heads of several union organizations have appealed. One of the many "threats" was that "85,000 organized union men" will see to it that not another "Joplin man" is elected. Other threats have been that the Republican party will go down in defeat at the next city election.

And when the next election comes around these same people will go to the polls and vote the Republican ticket. It has been ever thus. "DEMOCRAT."

The Mayor's New Car.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Board of Aldermen, solemnly collected, has voted by a count of 20 to 7 to allow the Hon. Victor Miller, Mayor of St. Louis, to obtain a new 16-cylinder Cadillac Imperial as his official car, and our hearts are full with vast rejoicing. No longer will the visiting dignitary, gracing our city by his transitory presence, be forced to ride in a two-year-old Packard. No longer will our Mayor, hastening to address the Fourteenth Ward Republican Club, be compelled to hide his face in shame as he alights from a car with not even 14 cylinders—or even 13. No longer will Victor Miller, Burgomaster, reaching the conclusion that Ryckoff overcharged the city, have his train of thought interrupted by the uneven movement of a car whose cylinders number not the square of four.

Let Mayors of other municipalities hang their heads in shame. Let them feel inferior with their sixes or their eights—even with their twelves. Verily, let them realize that St. Louis, on the Mississippi's banks, is the multi-cylindered city. And when jealous Mayors from other places steal into our town by dark of night to watch Mayor Miller in his glory, let them note the royal sheen of His Honor's Imperial as it sweeps along beneath the street lights. K.

Cracking Open the Silly Season.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"THINGS are looking pretty bad right now."

They are having trouble in Peshawar. Yeah, we heard you the first time. Somebody on the Byrd ship thought the eclipse made the sun look like a cookie with a bite out of it. Where, oh where, is the Vagabond Reporter? Oswego has reported in the Literary Digest poll. The changes in the tariff bill fill 1222 pages of fine print. Fine for who, or maybe whom? The better to split infinitives with, or, my, what big eyes you have. The Aldermen can still get worked up over daylight saving—drop one, purl two. We hear it rumored that the weather is quite mild, thank you. H.

A 16-Cylinder City.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS—motor vehicle for the Mayor."

That item in the annual budget was approved Tuesday. It is a 16-cylinder item. And why not? St. Louis is a 16-cylinder city. We have the best Court house with wooden steps in the world Forward, St. Louis. One good term deserves another. ROLLS J. ROYCE.

THE NAVAL TREATY.

Mr. Hoover has lost no time referring the London treaty to the Senate. Nor has he done so in any belligerent spirit. He says his own attitude toward the treaty is friendly, but he wants to know all about it. In submitting it to the Senate he asks its advice as well as its consent, a position far removed from the dictatorial.

It is not likely the treaty will be rejected. It is, after all, only an extension of the principle of the Washington treaty to lesser war craft not covered by the prior instrument, and what criticism there is of it is illogical. It is true that to approximate parity with Great Britain, the United States, so far from lessening her naval armament, would actually increase it. Senator Robinson, a member of the delegation, is convinced that we should at once begin to do this very thing, spending not less than $100,000,000 a year for cruisers. Nevertheless, the chief objective of the conference is achieved. It sought to stop the cruiser race and competition in submarines and destroyers. The Washington treaty had already stopped the race in battleships and airplane carriers. So that if the United States did expend some $850,000,000, approximating the cruiser strength of Great Britain, that might easily be but a small part of what we otherwise would have spent in a cruiser race.

The Senate is quite aware of this, and the prospect of a fight is probably no better than it was after the Washington conference. It was charged by some of the isolationists that the Washington treaty delivered us into the hands of Great Britain and Japan. As a matter of fact, it removed a menace of war in the Pacific and set up a balance of power in what was at that time the most dangerous political area in the world. Some of the isolationists will say that the London treaty also delivers us into the hands of Great Britain and Japan. They have abundant authority for this sort of mischief-making. It is one of the vagaries of journals like the Chicago Tribune to make it appear that all naval conferences are an American surrender. Whenever one of these international conclaves sits down to rationalize such an irrational situation as that the great civilized nations should be armed to the teeth against one another, these journals picture the affair to us graphically enough. Our prostrate Uncle Sam, his face white with cowardice, his wit failing, and his hat a dunce cap, bears upon his neck that tyrant heel which would close his windpipe.

More interesting than this provincial humor is the threat to any naval limitation which is rising in Italy. The Italians have just announced a new 45,000-ton construction program for warships, a threat which will be sure to exercise the French. The French, in turn, will likely announce a naval program alarming the British. The British may therefore find it necessary to avail themselves of their right under the London treaty to protect themselves in continental waters. Thus the fate of the London treaty lies not so much in the Senate as in the dictatorship of Mussolini. A dictator can perpetuate himself in power only by exactly such delusions of grandeur as that Italy can revive the might of Rome. This is the peril of a dictatorship, the unanswerable argument made by history against such an abnormal theory of government.

WIDEN THIRD STREET NOW.

Speaking before the Propeller Club, Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks urged the immediate widening of Third street between Market and Vine, saying it could be accomplished in two years. The need for this improvement has passed beyond the stage of debate, nor is it necessary to await the inauguration of the general work of improving the central river front. Every day the traffic congestion in lower downtown increases and that section becomes more inaccessible to automobiles. If Third street were a broad highway, tapping Natural Bridge, Florissant and Broadway on the north and Gravois avenue and Broadway on the south, it would save St. Louis infinite time, patience and money. As a matter of fact, Third street is the most important single link in our major street system, now slowly assuming form and substance.

Mr. Brooks has a good cause and will have the support of the public in any move he makes toward hastening the beginning of work on this project.

SUFFRAGE AND ITS ROLL OF HONOR.

A growing apprehension that woman suffrage is not to be that boon to society which it promised will not dim the luster of those whose names appear upon the roll of honor just issued by the National League of Women Voters in convention at Louisville. Missouri has three representatives upon that roll. They are Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Joplin, Mrs. George Gellhorn of St. Louis and Mrs. Luella St. Clair Moss of Columbia.

Suffrage in the United States has just celebrated its tenth anniversary, and the point is rather widely and pertinently made that it has not changed the political situation by a hair. That is, the women have only doubled the vote. They have not made it more discriminating, nor have they made it more independent. Partisanship has mounted to record heights in the 10 years since the women were granted suffrage. If the women thought they would not be carried off their feet by such psychoses as those which made the last two presidential elections mere emotional ferments rather than a democratic nation's demonstration of its capacity for self-government, they know themselves better now. We have never seen anything since the Civil War like the wave of emotion with which many of the women were stirred by the appearance of a Catholic on one of the presidential tickets two years ago. Notwithstanding our Constitutional boast that no man's religion shall prejudice him politically, women fainted all over the country at thought of making that guarantee good and we had our first taste of what life must have been like in Western Europe during the Thirty Years' War.

However, we are not despaired of suffrage. We do consider it one of the obstacles in the way of rationalizing such a peril to free government as prohibition has become. We do not believe that our emotions, of which women are the more volatile part, can solve such problems. The obstacle to its solution which they have become is the price we pay for the humanities and decencies oftentimes attaching to politics because of suffrage. There is not the least doubt that as a voter woman's heart is in the right place. That is a political and social gain and it is one that has already made itself felt on some restricted battlefields. It is upon the greater battlefield of national politics that woman loses her perspective. Whether she will ever regain it in this larger sphere we cannot say. We can only hope so. Meanwhile, we must expect her now and then to lead us in even greater majorities for political matinee idols or to pursue wildly such fox-fire as national prohibition.

THE DOG RACING RACKET.

The monopoly of the dog racing racket enjoyed by the Madison Kennel Club last year is in process of wholesale invasion. Last night a brand new track opened at Mitchell, Ill., near the Chain of Rocks bridge. It is called the Kingshighway Kennel Club. Wednesday Cahokia race track officials obtained a temporary injunction in Vermilion County restraining St. Clair County officials from interference when their track opens on May 10. Last year St. Clair County officials refused to permit the track to operate. The hearing on the injunction is set for Sept. 1, by which date the proposed 100-day meeting would be concluded. On this side of the river there is talk of opening the Wellston Kennel Club on St. Charles Rock Road, and of evading official raids by a telephonic betting arrangement.

Thus two tracks in Madison County, Ill., where gambling enjoys singular favor, are already operating, with the imminent prospect of one rival in St. Clair County, Ill., and another in St. Louis County. Dog racing, of course, is an immensely profitable business. It is estimated that the original cost of constructing a track can be paid out of the earnings of one meeting, with a handsome sum remaining as profit for the promoters. This is due to the absence of any kind of regulation. While the "take" of the Fairmount Jockey Club, operating under an Illinois statute, is strictly limited, dog track owners deduct whatever percentage they please from the wagers which are laid. The conscience, if any, of the owners is their guide.

For county law officers to permit such shameless exploitation of the public is a sorry commentary on their courage and integrity. When officials, as in Madison County, wink at these outlaw organizations, when Judges grant injunctions to make it possible for them to operate, something in the nature of a popular revolt is needed to put the dog tracks out of business. Unless, indeed, as at present, the promoters perform that service themselves by running the business into the ground. One dog track is too much; four offer an affront to public order and decency.

HERE YOU ARE, MR. HOOVER.

There is only one way in which Mr. Hoover can quiet the tumult in the Senate over his Supreme Court appointments, and that is to cast about for a liberal judge.

We have found the man for him. He is Judge W. H. D. Green of Van Buren, Mo., who has just ruled that to trade a gallon of moonshine whisky for a horse does not constitute a violation of the prohibition laws. When Charles Johnson, farmer, admitted in court that he had swapped a gallon of liquor for a horse to Kinot Reed, a neighbor, Judge Green dismissed the case upon the theory that the deal constituted a trade and could not therefore be construed as a sale of whisky.

Our advice to Mr. Hoover is to withdraw Judge Parker, friend of yellow dog contracts, and grab this friend of white mule.

THE SENATE AND THE LADY.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick spent $252,572 in the Republican Senatorial primary in Illinois.

Her opponent, Senator Deneen, spent $24,493.21.

When Commodore Newberry plastered the Michigan peninsula with dollars a few years ago, the Senate severely condemned his expenditures, but Newberry's budgetary gross of $195,000 was almost virtuously thrifty compared with Mrs. McCormick's.

Then there is the Illinois case, in which Col. Smith was nominated and elected, on the face of the returns, but the Senate rejected his credentials, in part because of the magnitude of his expenditures and in part because of the source of his contributions. The Smith account, primary and election, footed up $458,732.

All these disbursements are impecunious when viewed in the light of Pennsylvania's "golden primary," out of which Mr. Vare emerged a winner only to be denied admission to the Senate, just as Smith was.

Mrs. McCormick spent her own money, having received no contributions except from members of her family. Yet another distinguished citizen of Illinois—former Gov. Lowden—was the logical candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1920 and disqualified himself by his primary expenditures, notwithstanding it was his own money.

Without forecasting the Senate's action we should say that "the dead hand of precedent" is pointing a ghastly finger in the direction of Chicago's prodigal daughter.

THE CARDINALS AND THE FLAG.

Our Cardinals are authoritatively pronounced pennant contenders. That is the judgment of the Post-Dispatch sports writer, J. Roy Stockton—an opinion acquiesced in by the Delphic Oracle of the diamond, Hugh Fullerton. Mr. Stockton pins his faith on the quality and promise of the pitching staff, while Mr. Fullerton argues that the superior distribution of the team's strength is likely to sustain the Cardinals in the treadmill of the season's grind.

Thus far the Cardinals have met three of their adversaries—the champion Cubs of last year, whose prospects have been blighted somewhat by the heel that will not heal of Rogers Hornsby; the Pittsburg Pirates, tiptop brigands of the deadliest dye, and the Cincinnati Reds, groveling in last place, notwithstanding the exordiums and perorations of Pilot Daniel Howley. Of the others only New York is looked upon as a serious disputant, and the Giants, it is assumed, have acquitted themselves as Giants mostly because of the pygmy character of their opposition.

Well, today the Cardinals inaugurate a long stay on the home ground which will probably determine their caliber. Not that pennants are won in the Maytime. A lot of pretty things may be said about May, but if one paused before the beauty of the languorous lilac, or at the tomb of the tulip, or followed the arbutus to the rendezvous with the violet, or lingered at the vespers of a million birds in the twilight's green cathedral—if one indulged in such reverie he might find himself wandering in dreamland far from the madding crowd at Sportsman's Park, where Bill Hallahan was sipping the enemy into helpless but enthralling submission.

Bill Hallahan is the flaming youth that is lighting the way of our hopes. He is the rose and expectancy of the Cardinals, the arma virumque. There's a pennant in that left wing.

WRECKED IN THE YOUNG BROS. CRASH.

Disarmament and Security

Three-Power naval treaty marks advance over nationalist arguments which blocked action at Geneva; rivalry in Mediterranean could be escaped by cultivation of neighborly feeling such as that between U. S. and England; where strength of other nations' sea forces is not viewed as all-important, era of peace can begin.

From the Manchester Guardian Weekly.

THE five-Power conference having come to grief, there is a natural tendency to make the most of the three-Power treaty which is now assured. And there is no doubt that a three-Power treaty which limits the construction of all classes of ships and accelerates the scrapping of battleships is, in itself, a useful piece of work. It marks a great advance upon the narrow-minded and obstinate insistence upon national "needs" and "rights" which frustrated the similar effort in 1927 at Geneva.

Grateful though we must be for that, it is of more importance to understand the reasons and consequences of the failure to include France and Italy in this scheme of naval limitation. The first thing to be noted is that this failure sets a limit to the extent to which America, Great Britain and Japan can reduce their armaments. Indeed, the three-Power agreement will expressly reserve rights to increase construction should the present naval programs of France and Italy materialize.

It is not so much a question of how much further the three Powers will be able to carry disarmament in 1936 as whether they may not be forced back on their steps before then by the growing competition of the two Mediterranean Powers. As between the Italian claim to parity with France and the French claim to an excess of nearly 250,000 tons over Italy, there is not much to choose. Each country is, in effect, claiming to be the superior of the other in the Mediterranean. Neither claim is obviously more unreasonable than, say, our own claim to 50 cruisers as the minimum of our defensive needs. If defensive needs are to be the standard of what is reasonable, no solution is possible, since the navy which is strong enough to repel any possible attack is also strong enough to defeat its enemies should it happen to be the attacker.

The best escape from this dilemma is to cultivate such neighborly relations that the exact relative strength of each country's navy no longer seems a matter of life and death. The three-Power agreement has been rendered possible in this way by the comparative indifference of Great Britain to the size of America's navy. It is only because France and Italy are not quite on the same terms of mutual trust that a five-Power agreement has been impossible.

France and Italy are not particularly to blame for this, since it is the exception and not the rule to live on such good terms with one's neighbors that one does not care about the size of their armaments. We are not ourselves so indifferent to French armaments as we are to American. Nevertheless it is only by the growth of neighborliness and trust between nations that disarmament will ever be made really effective. Perhaps that is not quite the useless platitude that it seems, since there are many ways of cultivating good international relations (especially through the arbitral machinery of the League) of which more use could easily be made. Nevertheless, it must be a long, slow process, a measure of the growth of civilization itself, and there are many who will not wait, who think we can abolish war and (which is the same thing) national armaments almost at a stroke by some single grand act of renunciation.

The Geneva protocol of 1924 was the logical conclusion of this attitude of mind. It would have bound all the naval and military forces of every country to the service of the League of Nations, and to the services of the League alone. That, it is true, is the ultimate ideal and the only basis on which the world peace of the future can rest.

Mr. Norman Angell claims to detect some change in the attitude of the Manchester Guardian in this matter, of which we ourselves are unaware. Mr. Angell's reasoning leads straight to the Geneva protocol—we can see no half-way house—and we opposed the protocol at the time, not as an ultimate ideal but because we did not think it a wise and practicable measure under existing circumstances. Similar reasons have led us to oppose a Mediterranean Locarno—a localized protocol—although its acceptance would have enabled France to accept a lower naval tonnage and might even have turned the three-Power into a five-Power agreement.

Whereas in this country it will be generally assumed that the five-Power conference failed because of Franco-Italian rivalry, in France it will be assumed with equal sincerity that it failed because England refused to live up to her obligations to the League—to the idea, that is, that the defense and security of each country is the concern of all. Mr. Angell, we suppose, would agree with the French criticism.

Till we know the exact wording of the famous formula, discussion on this point must be a little academic. If it was a formula in general terms, it might be as dangerous as the indefinite obligations of the Entente Cordiale before the war. If it was a precise formula guaranteeing armed British intervention in the Mediterranean in support of any nation judged by the Council of the League of Nations to have been attacked, it would be open to most or all of the objections brought against the Geneva protocol. Of these objections the chief is the absence of America (and to a less extent Russia) from the League. This puts practical difficulties in the way of offering unreserved armed intervention on behalf of the League.

Apart from that, how could Great Britain pledge herself, without any reservations, to the armed support of a country (say Italy against France) when the distinction between attacker and attacked might be purely technical and not consonant with the broad equities of the case, or when the obligation upon us to fight arose out of some settlement of the peace treaties which we thought unjust? It is impossible to foresee all the circumstances which might make the rendering of armed support dangerous or ineffective or wrong.

When the time comes it will be our duty to stand by the existing obligations of the Covenant, but we must in the meantime retain that degree of elasticity in interpretation which the Covenant allows. Rigidity is not necessarily strength.

Why Britain Needs West Indies

Answering Post-Dispatch suggestion that isles be ceded to U. S. to cancel war debt, Canadian editor denies they are "mere isolated way stations", play big part in British North America; links in trade and communication.

From the Montreal Herald.

WOULD you believe it? The old proposal that Great Britain might extinguish her war debt to the United States, or a very large part of it, by ceding to the United States her possessions in the West Indies is being revived.

The idea is being advocated most earnestly by that famous and much respected journal, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, which says: "For Great Britain to quit the Caribbean would not only, be a graceful acknowledgment of our intimate interest in the West Indies, but sale of its possessions would go far toward hastening Great Britain's recovery from the economic consequences of the war."

The British possessions in the West Indies are:

	Sq. Mi.	Population.
Bahamas	4,404	58,101
Jamaica	4,450	858,118
Cayman Islands	225	5,253
Turks and Caicos Is.	170	5,612
Leeward Islands	653	122,242
Windward Islands	508	162,254
Barbados	166	156,093
Trinidad and Tobago	1,842	397,093
	12,438	1,764,985

These islands, the Post-Dispatch admits, are valuable not only strategically, but economically, but it declares that the United States "would undoubtedly be willing to pay a commensurate price," especially, we presume, if Great Britain were to clinch the bargain by throwing in British Guiana and British Honduras, the former with 90,000 square miles and 307,000 population, and the latter with 8600 square miles and 46,000 population.

Listen further to our contemporary: "There is just as little logic in British ownership of these islands as there would be in American ownership of the Isle of Guernsey or the Isle of Jersey. In the mighty British Empire, British islands in the Caribbean are mere isolated way stations bearing no part in the general imperial pattern. The United States dominates the Caribbean."

Our contemporary overlooks one very potent fact, namely, that Canada is a part of the British Empire, and that Canada, territorially, bulks every bit as large in the Western Hemisphere as the United States. It overlooks the fact, also, that Canada, Newfoundland and the British West Indies form the unit known as British North America, and that British North America is bound together by treaty in preferential trade and kept in regular communication with each other by a magnificent new fleet of steamships built for the purpose by the Canadian Government.

The destiny of the British West Indies under the British flag is not correctly summed up by their description as "mere isolated way stations bearing no part in the general imperial pattern." They bear a very distinct and important part in the imperial pattern of British North America, for they round out British North America into a self-sufficing entity bound together for the purpose of exchanging within its own borders all the products of every climate from the Arctic to the tropics. That important place in the imperial map is only just beginning to dawn upon the world.

When the West Was Wild

THE LAST FRONTIER. By Zack T. Sutley. (The Macmillan Co., New York. $4.)

ZACHARY TAYLOR SUTLEY, whose early memories are now recorded for posterity at the age of 83, is one of a very small and rapidly dwindling number of men who knew the West when it was wild; and it is doubtful if anyone now living covered more territory in his wanderings or had more adventures than did he.

Mr. Sutley was born and raised in Pennsylvania. When the great tide of westward migration set in after the Civil War, the romantic lure of the buffalo country beyond the Missouri became too strong for him to resist, and in 1867, at the age of 21, he set out for a summer's hunting on the Kansas plains, intending to resume his college work at home in the fall. He remained in the West for years, roving the vast country from the Gulf of Mexico to Hudson Bay and from the Missouri River to Salt Lake.

Reaching Kansas City in the spring of 1867 by way of the Ohio, the Mississippi and the Missouri, he immediately fell in with Buffalo Bill who was then engaged in supplying bison meat to the construction gangs on the Kansas Pacific railroad. After hunting with Cody's outfit all summer, he struck out for Taos in the fall, where he spent some time in intimate contact with Kit Carson, then nearing the end of his earthly adventures. A winter's trapping in the Rockies of Colorado and Wyoming next lured him, and he spent the years of '68 and '69 in the wilderness of the Continental Divide, much of the time with old Jim Bridger as a companion.

By this time the West had gained so strong a hold upon him that one adventure led to another, ever farther and farther afield, in spite of his frequent decisions to return to his home in the East and settle down. By 1874 he had become well enough known in the Western country to be employed as a guide by General Custer on his exploring expedition into the Black Hills. Next he was engaged in driving longhorn cattle from Southern Texas into Nebraska. When the gold madness of 1876 was at its height, he was engaged as a freighter between Pierre and Deadwood, and was on more or less intimate terms with all the famous and notorious characters of that time and country.

Fate or Chance, or whatever it is that determines the trend of a man's life in matters beyond the influence of his own ability and initiative, seems to have made arrangements to have Sutley present when extraordinary events were destined to occur. For instance, he happened to be within hearing distance when Jack McCall fired the shot that killed Wild Bill Hickok, and he was entering Northfield, Minnesota, when the James boys were fleeing from its lead-swept streets. These are typical of many unusual coincidences, and were it not for striking evidence of accuracy and unassumed modesty throughout the narrative, it might seem that a very long bow was being drawn.

However the greatest adventure of that time was missed by Sutley—an adventure that would have ended his career in '77, for Custer offered him a position as guide to the Seventh Cavalry on the expedition that resulted in the disastrous fight on the Little Bighorn. But for the fact that he had just contracted to act as guide for a surveying party, he would have accepted his doomed friend's offer.

It was not until 1884, when the old Western life was gone with the buffalo, that Sutley finally settled down. There was a girl at the end of the trail—then a home, then a family.

"The Last Frontier" is a valuable original contribution to the body of authentic Western Americana.

GREEN MAGIC By Julie Closson Kenly. (Appleton & Co., N. Y., $2.50.)

"When you see a tree by the roadside you probably think, if you think about it at all, that plants have a very easy life of it—no errands to run; no lessons to learn; nothing to do all day long but swing in the wind and talk to the birds. If you do think this about a tree, you are very much mistaken." Thus begins this "story of the world of plants" for children, wherein are set forth the many curious habits and activities of the good green world. It is really a stirring story and a very strange one. Most children, at least the unspoiled ones, will love it.

Prof. Irving Babbitt, the famous Harvard professor and America's leading exponent of the Humanist movement in literature, is marching on New York to defend Humanism against Carl Van Doren, one of the foremost opponents of the Babbitt doctrine. Dr. Henry Seidel Canby is expected to temper the discussion by pursuing the middle course, at the Discussion Guild's program at Carnegie Hall on May 9.

COREY TAKES THE SCOUT TRAIL. By Leonard K. Smith. (Appleton, New York, $2.)

A story of adventure recommended by James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

KNOWING, COLLECTING AND RESTORING EARLY FURNITURE. By Henry Hammond Taylor. (J. D. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia. $3.)

An expert on early American furniture tells how to distinguish the genuine article from the fake, how to repair damaged pieces and how to refinish. The methods employed by the furniture makers of the various periods, as well as the woods used, are discussed at length.

SYMPHONY CAMPAIGN PLEDGES $281,790

Efforts to Reach $750,000 Goal to Be Continued Next Week.

The Symphony Orchestra's golden jubilee fund mounted to $281,790 today when campaign workers, meeting at Hotel Jefferson, reported subscriptions of $64,202. The campaign will continue into next week until the $750,000 goal is reached. That sum is needed until the $750,000 goal is reached. That sum is needed to sustain the orchestra for three years.

Subscriptions reported by the Executive Committee today totaled $34,000. Two contributions totaling $7920 were received from members of the Associated Retailers and the balance, $22,282, was secured from individuals by workers in the women's division. The team captained by Mrs. John B. Strauch had the best record of the day in this division, securing 22 pledges totaling $5525.

Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman spoke at the meeting, encouraging the workers to present the orchestra's needs to prospective contributors as a civic problem. In Europe many such organizations receive state subsidies, he pointed out. Music is particularly a necessity in this machine age, when there is so little in the ordinary things of life to stimulate the imagination of men, he said. The appreciation of good music, he added, is more effective in crime prevention than laws or policemen.

L. W. Baldwin, president of the Symphony Society, and George D. Markham, vice president, also spoke. Baldwin said that success of the campaign will be assured if the workers continue their efforts. Markham, discussing an objection that solicitors have met, that the orchestra does not appear to be a distinctly civic project, pointed out that will not hold next year, because of the 20 programs which are to be broadcast, each of which will include a talk on some phase of St. Louis' advantages.

Franklin, vice president and treasurer of the council, becomes executive head of the finance, field and publicity division.

RAIN UNCOVERS GOLD DEPOSIT

By the Associated Press.

CORBACH, Germany, May 2.—This old town amid the hills west of Cassel has become excited over the prospect of unexpected riches. Torrential rains of the week end have uncovered a gold deposit nearby.

It is recalled that gold was mined profitably near here in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. The inhabitants are awaiting reports of geologists.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 2.

THOUGHTS while strolling: What became of cistern cleaners? Sherry candy on sale at Childs. Talbot Mundy, the author —and an authority on East Indian mystics. The window candy puller on Sixth avenue who sings arias from "Tosca." Adelaide Hall, reputed successor of Florence Mills.

Walter P. Chrysler, an Ellis (Kan.) boy, who made good in the city. An expressman calls himself a "tructor." Jack Baragwanath, Neysa McMein's husband. The newer drug stores are restoring the red and green window bottles. Sign: "Obesity Obliterated." Earl Benham, the tailor.

Seven midgets squirm out of a taxi in front of a theater. William Anthony McGuire, the playwright. Those well-dressed people who salvage discarded newspapers out of rubbage cans, glance about furtively—and hurry on. Long-faced men with luminous eyes who sell atheistic tracts.

Always a sale at luggage shops. An electrically lighted flag over a cafe with a German name. You can usually tell a cowpuncher by his small feet. He rarely walks, save when he comes to the city. The imperiously beautiful saleswomen in high-priced candy stores. Wilton Lackaye looks like a tired bloodhound.

A drunk pushing a wheelbarrow and talking to himself. Idlers who spend their time watching the unloading of ships. Whiffs of oil, rope, pepper and fish. Waterfront boarding houses with squawking parrots. And big-hipped women with hair coiled in topknots lounging in doorways.

Husky stevedores in undershirts with tattooed arms and rolling gaits. Chinese cooks with flip-flapping sandals and mewing talk. Tankers freighted to the gunwales. Dingy lunch stands clouded with crinkly blue tobacco smoke. Tugs nosing a liner into dock. And tooting away merrily.

The honking rush of taxis to the pier. Strained faces peering through steerage portholes. A captain in a cape coat on the bridge. The whirr of winches. Fluttering handkerchiefs and medley of cries. The gangplank lowers. Another ship is in.

TAILORS, in calling measurements to their assistants, often cry: "B. L." It means the bird being measured has bow legs. And never mind how I found out.

HORSE-DRAWN carriages making their last stand about the Plaza are dwindling. Only about a half dozen are left, the rest having driven on into the endless night. The venerable cabbies sit hopefully awaiting fares amid the incessant cry of "Taxi" all about them. One tells me he is rarely able to realize more than $2 a day profit, and his comrades fare as badly.

ADD metropolitan mysteries: In a block on East 58th street an elderly man with a white goatee sits at a street window before a small blackboard. He remains almost motionless, peering at the street save at intervals when he chalks up something on the board.

THEN on Avenue A there is a block where a shawled woman appears shortly before midnight. She places a candle on a fire plug, lights it, crosses herself, blows out the flame and goes away.

THE Rialto has about six ultra theatrical openings a season. A new play with Mrs. Fiske, Fred Stone, Otis Skinner or a Ziegfeld musical show are among those to attract the exclusive.

AND there is that exciting theatrical moment when Paul Ash lifts up his hair and 10 girls come out.

A FINANCIAL writer says Wall Street often suffers because "the public will not come in"—thereby talking like a theatrical producer.

"I SAW you," writes R. D. F., "walk through Reuben's twice without sitting down. Is that the way you pick up gossip?"

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS ON RESULTS OF CRASH IN STOCKS

measures which we can undertake both for prevention of such storms and for relief from them. Economic health like human health requires prevention of infection as well as cure of it.

Equal Opportunity for All.

I take it that the outstanding problem and the ideal of our economic system is to secure freedom of initiative and to preserve stability in the economic structure in order that the door of opportunity and equality of opportunity may be held open to all our citizens; that every business man shall go about his affairs with confidence in the future; that it shall give assurance to our people of a job for everyone who wishes to work; that it shall, by steady improvement through research and invention, advance standards of living to the whole of our people.

That will constitute the conquest of poverty, which is the great human aspiration of our economic life.

And these economic storms are the most serious interruptions to this progress which we have to face.

Some of you will recollect that following the great boom and slump of eight years ago, as Secretary of Commerce I initiated a series of conferences and investigations by representative men into the experiences of that occasion and to make therefrom recommendations for the future. It is worth a moment to examine our conclusions at that time as tested in this present crisis.

Organization of Credit.

The first of the conclusions at that time was that our credit machinery should be strengthened to stand the shock of crash; that the adjustment of interest rates through the Federal Reserve System should stand destructive speculation and support enterprise during the depression.

Our credit machinery has proved itself able to stand shock in the commercial field through the Federal Reserve System, in the industrial field through the bond market and the investment houses, in the farm-mortgage field to some extent through the farm loan system, and in the installment-buying field through the organization of powerful finance corporations.

But if we examine the strains during the past six months we shall find one area of credit which is most inadequately organized and which almost ceased to function under the present stress. This is the provision of a steady flow of capital to the home builder.

From a social point of view this is one of the most vital segments of credit and should be placed in such a definitely mobilized, organized form as would assure its continuous and stable flow. The ownership of homes, the improvement of residential conditions to our people, is the first anchor in social stability and social progress. Here is the greatest field for expanded organization of capital and at the same time stimulation to increased standards of living and social service that lies open to our great loan institutions.

The result of the inability to freely secure capital has been a great diminution in home construction and a large segment of unemployment which could have been avoided had there been a more systematic capital supply organized with the adequacy and efficiency of the other segments of finance. We need right now an especial effort of our loan institutions in all parts of the country to increase the capital available for this purpose as a part of the remedy of the present situation.

Service of Federal Reserve.

There can be no doubt of the service of the Federal Reserve System in not only withstanding the shock but also in promoting the supply of capital after the collapse.

We have, however, a new experience in the effect of discount rates and other actions of the system in attempts to retard speculation. The system and the banks managed throughout the whole of the speculative period to maintain interest rates on money for commercial use at 5 to 6 per cent per annum, and by their efforts they segregated the use of capital for speculation in such fashion that the rates upon such capital ran up to 18 per cent per annum. But even these high rates on speculative capital offered little real retardation to the speculative mania of the country. They served, in fact, to attract capital from productive enterprise, and this was one of the secondary factors in producing the crash itself.

The alternative, however, of lifting commercial rates still higher in order to check speculation by checking business is also debatable. The whole bearing of interest rates upon speculation and stable production requires exhaustive consideration in view of these new experiences.

Thousands Ruined.

One of the subsidiary proposals in our examination seven years ago, directed to increase stability, was that improved statistical services should be created which would indicate the approach of undue speculation and thereby give advance storm warnings to the business world and the country.

Great improvements were made in the statistical services, and by reading the signals thousands of business men avoided the maelstrom of speculation and our major industries came through strong and unimpaired—though the people generally did not grasp these warnings, or this crisis would not have happened.

We should have even more accurate services in the future and a wider understanding of their use. We need particularly a knowledge of employment at all times, if we are intelligently to play a proper functioning of our economic system. I have interested myself in seeing that the census we are taking today makes for the first time a real determination of unemployment. I have hopes that upon this foundation we can regularly secure information of first importance to daily conduct in our economic world.

In remedial measures we have followed the recommendations of seven years ago as to the acceleration of construction work, the most practicable remedy for unemployment. It has been organized effectively in most important directions, and the success of organization in certain local communities points the way to even more effective action in the future by definite plans of decentralization.

Another of the by-products of this experience which has been vividly brought to the front is the whole question of agencies for placing the unemployed in contact with possible jobs. In this field is also the problem of what is termed technological unemployment. The great expansion in scientific and industrial research, the multiplicity of inventions and increasing efficiency of business, is shifting men in industry with a speed we have never hitherto known. The whole subject is one of profound importance.

Proposes Investigation.

We have advanced in all these methods of stability in recent years. The development of our credit system, our statistics, our methods of security and relief in depression, all show progress. We have developed further steps during the past six months. But the whole range of our experiences from this boom and slump should be placed under accurate examination with a view to broad determination of what can be done to achieve greater stability for the future both in prevention and in remedy.

If such an exhaustive examination meets with general approval, I shall, when the situation clears a little, move to organize a body—representative of business, economics, labor and agriculture—to undertake it.

I do believe that our experience shows that we can produce helpful and wholesome effects in our economic system by voluntary co-operation through the great associations representative of business, industry, labor and agriculture, both nationally and locally.

And it is my view that in this field of co-operative action outside of Government lies the hope of intelligent information and wise planning. The Government can be helpful in emergency, it can be helpful to secure and spread information.

Such action, however, as may be developed must adhere steadfastly to the very bones of our economic system, which are the framework of progress; and that progress must come from individual initiative; and in time of stress it must be mobilized through co-operative action.

Advance in Popular Initiative.

The proper constructive activities of the great voluntary organizations in the community provide the highest form of economic self-government. Permanent advance in the Republic will lie in the initiative of the people themselves.

We are not yet entirely through the difficulties of our situation. We have need to maintain every agency and every force that we have placed in motion until we are far along on the road to stable prosperity.

He would be a rash man who would state that we can produce the economic millennium, but there is great assurance that America is finding herself upon the road to secure social satisfaction, with the preservation of private industry, initiative, and a full opportunity for the development of the individual.

It is true that these economic things are not the objective of life itself. If by their steady improvement we shall yet farther reduce poverty, shall create and secure more happy homes, we shall have served to make better men and women and a great nation.

HOW WARDEN AND CONVICTS EXPLAIN OHIO PRISON MUTINY

lection by the Missouri State Survey Commission to inspect the Missouri Penitentiary, making a report last August in which he recommended numerous improvements and warned of fire traps in the Jefferson City Prison—is a ruddy-faced, stocky man who gives his age as "58 years young." He says he is probably the only penitentiary Warden in the country who is a college graduate, his alma mater being Ohio Normal. He entered prison work as a teacher. He was connected with the Mansfield (O.) reformatory for nine years, and has been Warden of the penitentiary for the last 17 years.

Thomas offered a Freudian explanation for the prevalent unrest in prisons.

"You know, there are only three things a man craves—food, shelter and sex," Thomas began. "The prisoners have food and shelter. Many of the prisoners have led dissolute lives and they can't stand the restraints imposed here. You notice it's mostly the young men who are causing trouble. The old men are satisfied."

Warden Thomas, asked if he connected the Ohio mutiny with previous riots at Canyon City, Jefferson City, Auburn and other prisons, said:

"Undoubtedly the prisoners here learned through grapevine about the other disturbances and have been plotting for some time. It's nothing less than a revolt against Government.

"There are anarchists in the penitentiary and they know they have friends outside.

"Right now the convicts think they have won the battle. After my guards fired into the ringleaders last Tuesday, the National Guardsmen took charge, and the convicts think I'm beaten."

Warden Thomas has not been well this spring. Because of this, his physicians ordered him away from the recent execution of Dr. Snook for murder. It was Warden Thomas' asthma, he explains, which kept him from taking a more active part in fighting the prison fire.

"This tragedy came out of a clear sky," he said. "Only a few weeks ago Warden Clark of Concord inspected the penitentiary here and remarked on the perfect discipline and content. Then came the fire—and they called me a murderer! Why, I turned in an alarm and ordered the cells unlocked within a minute. Then came the mutiny. After the prisoners had been turned loose in the yard they refused to return to their cells. Then came the investigation—and politics.

"There's nothing to those charges of brutality. Why, there haven't been 14 men clubbed here in a year, out of 4200. Every time there's a complaint of mistreatment we hold a court and look into it."

Warden Thomas said "bad actors" were put in solitary confinement on a semi-starvation diet. "Personally, I prefer the paddle," he said.

The Warden is paid $3500 a year and maintenance for himself and his family. He resides in quarters immediately above the main entrance. Puffing at a fat cigar, the Warden spoke of his family.

"The wages here are not much, just enough to get by on, but I sent both my son and my daughter through Ohio State University. Two fine children, they are."

Governor Backs Up Warden.

From the Warden's office, the writer went to the State Capitol, where Gov. Myles Cooper sits in a room ornamented with pictures of famous Ohioans who have made good—Foraker, Herrick, Willis. Cooper is a Republican and, of course, an Ohioan, and his friends think he has a chance to reach the Senate and possibly the White House in years to come. He is forceful, business-like, middle-aged, with dark hair, closely clipped mustache and a resonant voice.

"I hold no brief for Warden Thomas," said the Governor. "I had never met him until I came into office a year ago. However, such people as Maud Ballington Booth and Thomas Mott Osborne have praised him as a humanitarian. Nothing has developed to make me feel he should be removed.

"I take no stock in convicts' tales of mistreatment. One prisoner who complained against the Warden had 14 aliases—quite a liar."

Disregards Dr. Dudding.

Gov. Cooper was reminded that a year ago Dr. E. E. Dudding, head of the Prisoners' Relief Society, Washington, sent the Governor a letter concerning the receipt of a round robin from 21 Ohio convicts making serious charges. "This letter," Dudding wrote," caused me to conclude that the place is an outpost of hell." After the fire, Dudding sent the Governor another letter in which he said: "You failed to take heed and now look at the result. The convicts in that prison seem to have lost confidence in the Warden and the officials in general."

Gov. Cooper said he did not attach any importance to Dudding or his communications. The Governor discussed at length the State's institutional building program, which provides ultimately for complete fireproofing of the penitentiary.

"I was a builder of homes for 20 years, and I'm still building," the Governor observed. "The overcrowding of Ohio institutions is no worse than in New York, North Carolina, Illinois, Missouri or any other state. This problem was one of the chief topics of discussion at last summer's conference of Governors."

Prison Priest's Opinion.

Father Albert O'Brien, rosy-cheeked young chaplain, who attended the dying in the prison fire and since has been among the convicts day and night, gave the correspondent a souvenir of the mutiny—a fragment of a bullet fired by a prison guard. Asked for a statement as to reasons for the unrest, the chaplain replied:

"Loss of hope of parole is the chief cause of the unrest. The prisoners are sent here for long terms, with little chance of earning a parole.

"Overcrowding and brutality are contributing causes. There's been no trouble over the food—that's good. There is an allowance of $250 a year for each inmate and since the New York prison riots the warden has added doughnuts and other trimmings to the meals.

"I myself have seen terrible brutality by guards toward prisoners and have heard them use violent language. Some of those who have charge of prisoners are the scum of the earth. It's true the wages are small and do not attract a better class of men.

All Playing Politics.

"Once I reported an instance of brutality to my Bishop and he sent me to Gov. Donahey (Gov. Cooper's predecessor). But nothing came of it. Politics—they're all playing politics.

"It's a shame to put prisoners in a building like that. We don't send men to prison to burn them."

The cry of politics was taken up by Maud C. Waitt, chairman of the Ohio Joint Legislative Committee on Prisons. She charged legislators preferred to spend the public money for highways rather than modern, fireproof institutions because the highways attract rural votes.

"Warden Thomas is not to blame," she said. "He went before the Legislature time and again pleading for help, but they turned a deaf ear toward him. Now they turn on him like a pack of wolves to divert attention from their own failure and negligence."

Nothing to Lose.

The first person the correspondent encountered at the Warden's office was "Tacks" Lattimer, trusty and all-around man, serving a life term for murder. Having been a major league ball player at one time, "Tacks" is the office celebrity, ranking higher even than that convicted embezzler years ago who timidly sent his short stories forth from within the same prison and upon his release became famous as O. Henry. "Tacks" volunteered his opinion of the whole situation:

"The judges are power drunk," said "Tacks." "Some banker steals a million and gets a year or two—some kid does something and gets sent up for life, with no chance for parole or pardon. No wonder they become desperate. They feel they're here for life and have nothing to lose."

HOUSE REJECTS 30CTS. AN OUNCE TARIFF ON SILVER

division vote, still is subject to another test in the Senate, where Senator Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, succeeded by a big majority in having the duty approved in the closing hours of the Senate debate.

No record vote was taken in the House on the duty, one of four facing separate votes in that branch before adjournment tonight.

Opposing the duty, Hawley (Rep.), Oregon, argued that silver imports, although much more than domestic production, did not present a tariff problem.

Other Far West Republicans and Democrats from silver mining states argued for the duty.

Conferees' Report Adopted.

Late yesterday, the House adopted the partial conference report on the tariff bill, accepted the Senate rate of six cents a hundred pounds on cement and rejected a Senate amendment to permit free entry for cement imported for public construction. The vote on the conference report was 241 to 152 and on the cement amendment 221 to 167. The cement duty was approved without a record vote.

Fight on Cement Tariff.

Both Republicans and Democrats joined in a determined fight for the Blease amendment on the cement tariff.

Ramseyer (Rep.), of Iowa, asserted the domestic cement industry was a monopoly, and that imports, competition with which was felt only along narrow seaboard strips, amounted to one and one-hundredths of one per cent of domestic production last year.

W. J. KINNEY'S CITIZENSHIP RESTORED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The citizenship of William J. Kinney of St. Louis, one of those convicted in the Jack Daniel whisky conspiracy, has been restored through issuance of a full pardon by President Hoover, at the instance of Representative L. C. Dyer.

Kinney, who was a deputy under the Collector of Internal Revenue, is a brother of State Senator Michael Kinney. He paid a $1000 fine and served six months of an 18 months' term in Leavenworth prison before being paroled in July, 1926.

Kinney was in charge of the Jack Daniel warehouse on Duncan avenue in the period when the contents of 893 barrels of whisky were removed by a siphoning process, for sale by bootleggers. He was detailed there in place of the regular storekeeper-gauger, who was on vacation. The Government charged, in the conspiracy trial at Indianapolis, that he knew the removal of whisky was going on, and did nothing to stop it.

Auto Fatality Accidental.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Charles Crook, 2-year-old Negro, who was killed Wednesday night in front of his home, 4253 Finney avenue, by an automobile driven by Walter W. Hollrah, clerk, St. Charles. Witnesses said that Hollrah was driving at low speed and that he was unable to avoid striking the child.

$327,500 FOR PROPERTY FOR ALOE PLAZA GIVEN APPROVAL

Citizens Bond Issue Committee Sanctions Purchase of Two Pieces of Land.

Purchase of two pieces of property in the site of Aloe Plaza, opposite Union Station, at prices fixed by commissioners in the pending condemnation proceedings, was approved by the Citizens' Bond Issue Supervisory Committee yesterday.

One is the northeast corner of Nineteenth and Market streets, a four-story building occupied by a loan company and a hotel, on a 73x80 foot lot, owned by Sarah Tower. The price is $303,500, although the assessed valuation is $194,010. The other piece is 1616-18 Chestnut street, a 59x72 foot lot with a two-story building, owned by John Karzin. The price is $24,000, the assessment being $20,840.

An ordinance appropriating $200,000 for sewer construction in a narrow strip between McCausland avenue and the Western city limits, north of Manchester avenue, was approved by the committee. There has been trouble in this district from improper drainage during storms, as the old sewers empty into sink holes. The new system will connect with the new River des Peres sewer.

Approval was given also to reimbursement of the Cyrus Crane Willmore organization in the sum of $26,608 for the city's share of building 20-foot concrete pavements in Donovan avenue, between Watson road and Nottingham avenue, and in Nottingham avenue between Donovan and the east line of St. Louis Hills, a subdivision. The streets adjoin Francis Park.

Illinois U. Honor for St. Louisans.

Two of the 13 women students at the University of Illinois elected to Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society as part of the May day festivities yesterday, are residents of St. Louis. They are Miss Margaret S. Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bennett, 3939 Bowen street, and Miss Ernestine O. Hohengarten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Hohengarten, 4549 Fair avenue. Election is based on prominence in campus activities.

DR. WILLIAM BARNES, NOTED BUTTERFLY COLLECTOR, DIES

Internationally Known Lepidoptera Enthusiast of Decatur, Ill., Had 700,000 Specimens.

DECATUR, Ill., May 2. — Dr. William Barnes, 70 years old, surgeon and entomologist, died here yesterday. He had been in ill health for months.

Besides being a surgeon of note, his collection of lepidoptera butterflies and moths is internationally known. It consists of 700,000 specimens of 1300 different types. The collection was made during the last last 80 years and represents perhaps the most complete assembly of lepidoptera of North America. Collectors searched the least explored parts of the continent to obtain rare specimens.

The boy who used to collect specimens in a home made net on his native prairies became a pupil of Aggazis in Harvard, who taught him cataloguing lepidoptera. Thereafter his zeal knew no abatement. While he practiced his profession, he collected, mounted and classified.

He studied medicine in Harvard and the Boston City Hospital and in Vienna, Heidelberg and Munich, but came home to practice in Decatur, where he was born in 1860. He led in organizing a public hospital and after years of effort had the satisfaction of seeing it opened in 1914.

TEXACO-ETHYL

THE "DRY" ETHYL GASOLINE

The Texas Company announces that now Texaco, the original "dry" gas, is available with the Ethyl compound. It means the linking of two famous names in motor fuels to produce one of the finest premium anti-knock gasolines ever offered the motoring public—Texaco-Ethyl!

The Ethyl compound in itself cannot perform miracles. It's the gasoline base that makes the difference in Ethyls. The better the fuel you begin with, the better the resulting Ethyl Gasoline.

The new and better Texaco, the original "dry" gas that vaporizes instantly, plus Ethyl, equals the last word in automobile fuels. Texaco, the driest of dry gases, permits complete and uniform diffusion of Ethyl through the manifold into the cylinders. It creates higher standards of pick-up, power, speed and mileage for any car, old or new. This new premium grade is now available at Texaco Service Stations to all motorists who desire a superior anti-knock gasoline. Try it today!

LETTUCE NOW INCLUDED IN THE BREAKFAST MENU

Served With or Without Dressing With the Breakfast Orange or Grapefruit.

Convention steps aside and lettuce finds itself ensconced on the breakfast table.

The American housewife having learned that lettuce has all the life-giving properties, known to science as vitamins A, B, C, D, E, and contains nearly all the chemical elements of the human body, has cast conventions aside to serve lettuce for breakfast.

Combined with oranges, grapefruit, pears, prunes and other fresh fruits in the season, lettuce is now on the breakfast menu of America's best families.

Here's how lettuce appears at the morning meal:

On a thick slice of head lettuce arrange six sections of grapefruit, free of membrane, and a few peeled malaga grapes, and serve with French dressing or mayonnaise, if preferred.

Energy Salad.

To one cup grated American cheese add one cup of salad oil, two tablespoons of vinegar. Season with salt, paprika and a bit of mustard. Add oil to cheese gradually until thoroughly blended and creamy, then vinegar and pour over lettuce, allowing a half a head for each service.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Variety in Foods Is One of the Requirements for Appetizing Meals.

A roast loin of veal has been chosen for Sunday dinner. See that the bones in this are well cracked to make carving easier. When veal is well cooked, it is as digestible as most other meats. That is to say, it is just as fully digested, though it does take a little longer than beef. For this reason, it should not be given to very young children. A lamb chop may be provided for any youngsters in the family.

Veal should be cooked in a hot oven for the first 30 minutes, then the heat reduced to a moderate temperature and the cooking continued, allowing one-half hour for each pound of meat.

If preferred the loin may be partly boned and stuffed with a regular poultry dressing.

Braised Carrots and Peas.

Use the new baby carrots and fresh peas, cooking them together in the following manner: Melt a tablespoon of butter, add two cups of diced new carrots and two cups of shelled peas, one teaspoon sugar and just enough water to keep the vegetables from burning.

Cover closely, cook 25 minutes, adding a little water from time to time if necessary, but always using just enough to keep the vegetables moist. Cooked in this way all of the nutritive value is retained and a rich delightful flavor assured.

Bran Raisin Muffins.

Mix together one cup of bran and one cup of flour, then add two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt and one cup of seedless raisins. Mix these well with the flour. Beat one egg, add three-fourths cup of milk and stir into the bran mixture.

Add one tablespoon of melted butter last and pour the batter into well greased small muffin pans, filling them two-thirds full. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. This makes nine medium sized muffins.

Strawberry Tarts.

Sift one and one-half cups of flour with one-half teaspoon baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Rub in one-half cup shortening, using butter or butter and vegetable fat. When well blended add ice water to make a stiff dough. Turn out on a floured board and roll to a scant eighth-inch thickness. Cut in circles to fit inverted muffin pans. Fit the dough over the pans and prick with a fork. Bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes.

Cook, fill with sugared strawberries, garnish with a spoonful of whipped cream. Any fruit may be substituted for the strawberries.

DEVILED HAM SANDWICH

Tasty Adaptation of the Hot Ham and Egg Sandwich.

This is a hearty sandwich which is generally enjoyed by the masculine portion of the family. It is especially appreciated for midnight lunches.

To make Denver sandwiches use two tablespoons butter, one small onion, one can deviled ham, four eggs, one-half teaspoon salt and a pinch of pepper.

Put butter in frying pan. When melted add finely chopped onion, and cook gently two minutes.

Remove from fire; add ham and slightly beaten eggs. Cook and stir until eggs begin to get firm. Season with salt and pepper, and spread between slices of buttered bread.

When Washing Oilcloths.

Wash them with tepid water and wipe with a cloth dampened in equal parts of cold milk and water.

HELPFUL PARAGRAPHS FOR HOMEMAKERS

Responsibility of Catering for a Family Has Its Hectic Moments.

Any cook whose operations are really a labor of love will not be satisfied without a cake ornamenter. In this little knickknack, icing, butter cream cheese, or whatever the mediums of artistic expression, are forced through a small pointed tube. It comes out in the form of rosebuds, spirals or flutings, depending on the skill of the operator.

Many cheese dishes, spaghetti or baked vegetables, are greatly improved by the addition of strips of crisp bacon. Lean meat, such as round steak and roasts of veal acquire richness and added flavor if roasted with strips of bacon across the top.

Mushrooms have a gastronomic value which insures them the place which they have long held among the good things of the table. But they must be classed among the decorative adjuncts rather than among the fundamentals of the balanced dietary.

When frying fish, first put a small piece of crust of bread into the frying fat. This will prevent the fat from sputtering and will show by its color when the fat is the proper temperature to receive the fish.

An oven dinner is very easy to prepare if one selects foods that can all be cooked at about the same time. It is economical, too, for fuel as well as time and previous energy are saved by cooking everything at once.

Guests, or a sudden decision to dine at home after having made plans to dine out, need not cause any concern to the housewife who has an emergency shelf. Such great strides have been made in perfecting canning processes that it is now possible to prepare meals in a hurry that were formerly restricted to the cook who spent hours in the kitchen.

With practically every menu to be served, one or more of the dishes can usually be prepared a day in advance. This helps sufficiently to assure most any hostess that the work will not be more than she can easily attend to.

When we eat fruit with meat we eat less of the heavier foods in the same course. That is a healthful idea to keep in mind in mild and warm weather.

No matter how warm the day may be, one hot dish should be included in every menu. Hot dishes do not make you over-heated, but stimulate your system and make you better fit to accustom yourself to the temperature.

Use Canned Baked Beans.

Baked beans served in patty shells prove an interesting way of serving this old favorite. The ring mold too offers many attractive variations in serving.

GOOD RESULTS GUARANTEED IN DEEP FAT FRYING

Correct Flying Temperature Prevents Any Greasiness in the Cooked Food.

One of the shortcomings of many family cooks is their inability to turn out good doughnuts, French fried potatoes, fritters and other foods that must be cooked in deep hot fat.

These fried foods are neither greasy nor indigestible when they are cooked properly in deep grease of the correct temperature.

Doughnuts, fritters and other uncooked mixtures require a frying temperature of 360 degrees. If you have no cooking thermometer this can be gauged by dropping a small bread cube in the fat. At this temperature it will brown in 60 seconds.

Fish cakes or croquettes call for a temperature of 390 degrees, which will brown a bread cube in 40 seconds.

This is also the correct heat for fried potatoes.

VARIOUS TYPES OF BREAD

Coarser flours, such as whole wheat, rye and graham, with cereals, are often used to replace part of the white flour in bread making.

The loaves made from these mixtures are useful for providing variety in the diet and in some cases they have usurped the place of white bread entirely.

The choice of the kind of bread is both a matter of taste and of individual dietary needs.

Bread made from coarse flours alone without any white flour is heavy, and inelastic. The greater the proportion of white flour the lighter the loaf.

EMERGENCY DESSERTS QUICKLY PREPARED

Unexpected Guests on a Busy Day Call for an Easily Prepared Sweet.

While every meal is incomplete without its dessert, there are many busy days when the family cook has no time for unusual cooking.

On occasions like this it is well to call to mind that any fruit cup recipe makes an attractive quick dessert. Various attractive whips may be rapidly prepared by adding beaten egg whites to the fruit cup mixtures or a real company dessert will result if whipped cream is used instead of the egg whites. However, there are occasions when unexpected guests happen in for lunch or dinner and it is imperative that a facinating dessert be prepared quickly for the meal.

The appended recipes will probably be found useful in such a contingency.

Pudding Delicious.

A pudding that was served the other evening at the dinner table of a friend was a delicious sponge cake.

Part of the center had been removed to enlarge the opening which the angel cake pan ordinarily leaves. This was filled with strawberry ice cream.

When the cake was cut each guest got a portion of the cream. It made a delightful change. It is an excellent emergency dessert and one that delights every one.

Cherry Trifle.

Take a pint can of cherries, one tablespoon gelatine, one-half cup cold water, 12 marshmallows and one-half cup whipped cream.

Drain cherries. Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Heat cherry juice—there should be one cup—to boil; remove from flame, add soaked gelatine and stir until clear.

Chill till thick like molasses; beat with wire beater until foamy. Add diced marshmallows and cherries, reserving some for garnishing.

Pile lightly in sherbet glasses, top with whipped cream and garnish with cherries.

Date Roll.

This is one of those uncooked desserts which the modern home cook delights in making.

Take one pound dates, one pound marshmallows, one-half pound mixed nut meats, 18 graham crackers and one-half pint whipping cream.

Stone and chop dates. Cut marshmallows fine. Grind nut meats fine.

Roll and sift cracker crumbs and mix thoroughly with dates, marshmallows and nuts.

Fold in whipped cream, form into a roll and set aside to chill. Serve with whipped cream.

A Seasonal Combination.

The combination of rhubarb with strawberries is one that is unfailingly popular. They can be baked together in pies, but are much better in crisp, individual tart shells. To make strawberry and rhubarb tarts, first make a rich pastry dough and put it in the icebox to chill thoroughly.

KIRK'S ORIGINAL COCOA HARDWATER CASTILE
FROM SELECTED COCOANUT OIL

A Soap For Real Boys

Here's the solution to an old problem. Don't bribe boys to wash—merely give them the modern soap that instantly bursts into millions of vigorous bubbles.

This new soap is made by a secret process from costly, mild cocoanut oil. Just plunge it into water—hard or soft—hot or cold—and instantly you have mountains of rich, creamy, lather!

And so gentle is this magic soap that it is soothing to delicate skin—its mild cocoanut oil leaves your skin silken-smooth and soft. Yet it makes short work of grimy dirt, oil and grease and removes dangerous germs.

Be modern—try this new magic soap made for busy people. Only 10c for the big white oversize cake.

Prune Salad.

Chill stewed prunes and remove stones. Fill cavities with peanut butter. Arrange in groups of three on a nest of shredded lettuce. Service with French dressing and sprinkle with finely chopped peanuts. Garnish with cherries, if desired.

Food Value of Olives.

Ripe olives are a wholesome and nutritious food. They supply some protein and building material and a large amount of fat, which is a good source of energy. Generally speaking, they are easily digested by the average person and are readily assimilated.

SECOND DAY DISHES FROM LEFTOVERS

New and Interesting Variations of Some Old Familiar Favorites.

Second day dishes are in plain everyday language, made out of leftovers from a previous meal.

For instance, some of the Sunday roast meat or baked fowl almost always remains even after the family has had a plentiful serving. When the remains of the meat are used in a casserole, a creamed dish or a salad the next day, then the dish is dignified with the title, second day dish.

These second-day dishes may be made just as tasty and tempting as the home cook cares to make them or they may be rendered absolutely impossible by another housewife who is not interested in using food left over from a previous meal.

These several recipes will make appetizing dishes of this type.

If there is a little cold chicken left over from last night's dinner make a dish of hot chicken salad with it.

Hot salad is an innovation to many home cooks, but hot chicken salad has had quite a vogue during the past season.

Hot Chicken Salad.

Two cups cold chicken, diced, one cup canned peas, one large pimento, cut fine, one teaspoon lemon juice, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup butter, one-fourth cup flour, one cup rich milk or cream and one cup broth.

Make a sauce of the butter, flour, broth and milk and season it to taste. Have the other ingredients cooled and mixed, and add them to the sauce. Reheat, preferably over hot water. Serve hot in timbales.

Stuffed Egg Plant.

Buy as many egg plants as will be needed to serve each person half a vegetable. For the stuffing use one-half cup stale bread crumbs, one-fourth cup cold cooked meat, minced, two tablespoons butter, one egg and salt and pepper to taste.

Select small plants and allow a half to a portion. Wash, drop in gently boiling water and cook for 20 minutes. Cut in halves lengthwise and with a tablespoon remove most of the pulp, leaving a thick wall.

Mix pulp with crumbs or crumbs and meat, add two tablespoons melted butter, egg, salt and pepper to taste. A teaspoon of minced onion may be added if liked. Fill the shells with the stuffing, cover thickly with buttered crumbs and bake brown.

Baked Hash With Peas.

Housewives who have cooked lamb in the icebox will be delighted if they try this recipe for baked hash with green peas.

Take two cups cooked lamb, chopped fine, two tablespoons drippings, one cup potatoes, cubed; one cup cooked or canned green peas, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon onion, minced; pepper to taste and left-over gravy.

Melt fat, add onion and brown slightly. Combine onion with remaining ingredients. Spread hash in a shallow baking dish, well greased, and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Garnish hash with slices of tomato and serve.

Potatoes With Sausage.

Pare medium sized potatoes, then with apple corer make a tunnel through each one lengthwise. Put a frankfurter in each. Sprinkle with pepper, lay a slice of bacon on each potato and bake till tender, basting occasionally with the fat to which is added one-fourth cup of hot water.

Lamb Casserole.

Chop or cut left over lamb into small cubes or thin slices. Season with salt, pepper, minced onion and celery salt. Place meat in a deep earthen dish or casserole and add enough gravy or brown sauce to cover it. Set casserole in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes or until meat is thoroughly heated. Remove dish from the oven and spread over the top of the meat a two or three-inch layer of hot rice or mashed potatoes. Set a dish in oven again and bake for fifteen minutes, or until potatoes are light brown. Garnish top with a few dashes of paprika and minced parsley. Serve pie in the same dish in which it is baked.

Tasty Egg Sandwich.

Chop finely the whites of hard-boiled eggs; force the yolks through a strainer or potato ricer. Mix yolks and whites, season with salt and pepper, and moisten with mayonnaise or cream salad dressing.

Stuffed Celery.

Raisins and cheese make a tasty stuffing for celery. Wash a stalk of celery and cut into suitable lengths for serving. Dry well and lay seeded raisins end to end in the grooves of the prepared celery pieces.

Meanwhile beat some Roquefort cheese moistened with a little cream or top milk, until creamy. Add a little paprika to the cheese and a little pepper to suit the taste. Fill the celery cavities with this mixture on top of the raisins. Cottage or cream cheese may be substituted for the Roquefort cheese.

TEMPT THE APPETITE OF A SICK CHILD

Attractive Foods and Dainty Trays Have Appetite Appeal for Children.

As with grown people, most children, following an illness, have to be coaxed to eat and every device that can be used that will tempt them must be taken advantage of. This was forcibly brought to attention very recently in the case of a small boy convalescing from pneumonia. It was necessary for him to eat but difficult to persuade him to. Being extremely fond of the story of Peter Rabbit, it was found that a china cup with a picture of Peter on his way to Mr. McGregor's was an inducement to drink his milk.

Ice cream soda straws through which the milk could be supped were found to be much preferable to a glass tube as the child associated this with his medicine.

A little fancy glass proved an attraction when orange juice was in order and an after-dinner coffee cup and spoon proved a means of persuading him to eat the cream soups or purees that were often refused from regular-sized dishes.

The matter of making foods attractive and a tray a thing of beauty is of great importance in any diet and as much so for a child as an adult.

Many grown people do not realize how important beauty is to a child or how much can be done by coaxing through such means. A flower in a small vase on the meal tray will often persuade even a very small child to eat by detracting his attention from the food itself. Any little thing that will do this is well worthwhile. The use of dainty dishes of attractive color and design must always be considered. It is always possible to find a few odds and ends that are inexpensive and that add considerably to the attractiveness of meals.

Seek new ways of garnishing and serving food for the sick child. Orange pulp served in the orange skin is one way of giving new interest to this particular food.

In making orange gelatin cut a slice from the top of the orange and scoop out the pulp, leaving the skin intact. Then make the gelatin in the usual manner and pour it in the orange skin to harden. At serving time cut in slices or down in quarters and let the child eat it as he would a quartered orange.

Cream soups garnished with a spoonful of whipped cream, unsweetened, of course, that is tinted with vegetable coloring will often tempt him to forget the fact that he may not think he likes this particular dish.

Cut toast in fancy shapes with animal cooky cutters and serve with honey or occasionally with a sprinkling of brown sugar and cinnamon.

If raisins or dates can be used add these to the breakfast cereal and serve it in small molds turned out in the cereal dish. Or stew the fruit and pour it over cereal.

Keep the servings of foods small. Large amounts of food are not appetizing and will often destroy any appetite the child may have. It is much better for him to have two small servings and eat them than to mess around with one large one.

Above all do not ask a sick child what he wants to eat nor talk about food in his presence. Plan for surprises and see that the food served is well cooked, appetizing and attractively served.

APRICOT BATTER CAKE

An Adaptation of the Up-Side-Down Type of Cake.

Cream one-fourth cup shortening and one-half cup sugar together and add one beaten egg. Sift one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, and add alternately with one-half cup milk.

Drain one can of apricots or use two cups of the dried fruit cooked tender, and arrange them in a buttered cake tin.

Pour the batter over and bake in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes.

When done, turn out with the apricots on top and serve hot with the following sauce: Mix one slightly beaten egg yolk, three tablespoons sugar and the apricot syrup, and cook in a double boiler till slightly thick. Serve warm over the warm cake.

GELATINE SALADS ADD SAVOR TO MEALS

Good Means of Persuasion for Those Who Refuse to Eat Vegetables.

The attractive appearance and the coolness of well made gelatin salads make them a welcome addition to spring menus, especially when those first sultry spring days arrive.

Such salads offer a valuable method of persuasion for those who are apt to refuse to eat an adequate amount of fruit and vegetables. Furthermore, they are a fine means of using up left-overs or of making them more inviting.

Either plain gelatin or the flavored gelatin mixtures may be used as the base for gelatin salads. There are one or two vegetable mixtures that are also excellent with one of the flavored gelatins—usually lemon.

As in the making of all dishes, there are two precautions that must be used if you would have gelatin salad a success. First, measure the gelatin carefully so that the mixture is of the right consistency. Next, see that the salad is well flavored and third, that it is served very cold. There is nothing very attractive about a half melted gelatin salad!

Gelatin is a protein food and has food value of a very definite sort. It is readily digested and contains an element that makes it especially valuable in the diets of children and old people who need nourishing, easily digested foods.

Try the following gelatin salads:

Jellied Beet Salad.

Soak two tablespoons of plain gelatin in one-half cup of cold water for five minutes; then dissolve in one cup of boiling water. Add one-half teaspoon of salt, one-third cup of lemon juice or mild vinegar and two teaspoons of sugar. Cool the mixture until it is slightly thickened, then stir in one and one-half cups of finely diced boiled new beets, one small cucumber diced, one-fourth cup of diced celery and one shredded green pepper.

Turn into small molds and chill. When firm turn out on lettuce, garnish with small cream cheese balls and serve with mayonnaise. Good for luncheon or to use as a dinner salad.

Golden Vegetable Salad.

Make the same kind of a gelatin mixture as described above. Set aside to cool and when beginning to thicken stir in two cups of shredded new carrots, one tablespoon of minced parsley and one-half cup chopped raw new cabbage.

Chill, turn out on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise to which has been added the yolks of two hard boiled eggs mashed smooth. Serve with a garnish of sweet pickled watermelon rind.

Jellied Cheese Salad.

Soak one tablespoon of plain gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water for five minutes, then dissolve over hot water. Mash two packages cream cheese or one fourth pound of loaf cream cheese. Work into it one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika and one-half cup of rich milk. Next add the gelatin and then one cup of drained canned crushed pineapple. Cool until beginning to thicken, then fold in one-half cup of whipped cream.

Pour into small molds, chill, turn out on lettuce and garnish with a small slice of pineapple and cream mayonnaise.

MARSHMALLOW PUDDING

Dainty Dessert Which May Be Served With Fruit Sauce.

Work one-fourth cup butter and one-half cup sugar together until soft and creamy. Beat in one egg, then add one-half cup milk.

Sift together one and one-half cups pastry flour, two teaspoons baking powder and add to the first mixture. Beat until smooth; stir in one cup of berries, well drained or fresh, or one-half cup raisins, chopped dates or figs.

Pour into a well greased shallow pan. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 to 25 minutes.

Remove from the oven and place marshmallows close together over the top. Let stand for five minutes in a warm oven, then cut in squares and serve hot with a fruit sauce.

SUGGESTIONS FOR A HURRY-UP MEAL

Hurriedly Prepared and Tasty Meals Add to a Home Cook's Reputation.

Every housekeeper likes to have a few menus that can be prepared in the quickest possible time. Such a one is this special menu.

Broiled ham with pineapple
Potato chips Butered peas
Spring salad
Strawberries with cream
Wafers
Coffee Tea

Slices of boiled ham cut one-fourth inch thick need only reheating to be ready to serve, though smoked ham cut the same thickness is a little less expensive, but takes longer to cook. If you use this, cover it with warm water and let stand for 10 minutes. Then drain, wipe with a soft towel and place in a shallow pan or on the broiler and cook for five minutes on each side. If the cooked ham is used, no freshening, of course, is necessary. Simply place it on the broiler and cook for three to five minutes, or until slightly brown and heated through.

While the ham is cooking, put the potato chips in a pan in the oven to reheat and crisp.

Drain a small can of sliced pineapple and saute the slices for three minutes in a tablespoon of butter in a shallow frying pan.

Heat a can of peas in their juice with one tablespoon of butter and enough salt and pepper to season. If these are cooked quickly for five minutes most of the juice will evaporate and the peas will not need draining.

Arrange lettuce and watercress in a salad bowl and sprinkle with chopped onions and sliced radishes and serve with French dressing.

Arrange the ham on a hot platter and surround with the slices of pineapple. Dish up the peas and dinner is practically ready to serve.

It is presumed that the housewife will have had time to hull, wash and sugar the berries in the morning or some time before dinner, but if this is not the case, and if fresh fruit is not available, there are a number of very quickly prepared desserts that can be used.

For instance, a sponge cake from the bakers, split and spread with any good fruit jam or preserve and served with a spoonful of whipped cream is nearly always popular.

Nowadays, the excellent commercial ice creams that come done up in pint or quart packages are a great convenience for busy housekeepers.

Lady fingers used with canned fruit make delicious fruit whips when the lady fingers are used to line the sherbet cups, the center filled with fruit and garnished with a spoonful of marshmallow whip or whipped cream.

And for quick desserts, do not forget that apples, pears, oranges and any similar fresh fruit need no dressing up.

SEVERAL GOOD SUGGESTIONS IN BUILDING FAMILY MENUS

Achieve a Good Table Effect by Having a Few Well-Chosen Foods.

The most important of all food principles is the necessity for variety. This elusive quality is not only important from the health standpoint in the weekly balancing of foodstuffs, but is equally important at each meal.

Do no duplicate a foodstuff, such as tomato soup and tomato salad.

Confine strong flavors to one, onion or cabbage, for instance. And do not overseason.

Combine those products that go together naturally, such as pork and apples.

At one meal use only one food difficult to digest.

DEEP FAT FRYING

This Method Is Very Much Used in Vegetable and Fish Cookery.

Deep fat frying is cooking by means of immersion in deep fat raised to a temperature of from 350 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit. Three pounds of leaf lard or a good vegetable fat are required for deep frying and a Scotch kettle is the best cooking utensil to use.

Great care should be taken in frying, that fat is of the right temperature; otherwise food so cooked will absorb fat.

Do not fry too much at one time, not only because it lowers the temperature of the fat, but it may cause it to bubble and go over the sides of the kettle. It is not the fat that boils, but the water which the fat has received from the food. All fried food should be drained on brown paper to prevent greasiness.

CONGRESSMAN DEFENDS RIGHT TO DRINK WET AND VOTE DRY

Clarke of New York Says Official's Private Life Is "Nobody's Damned Business."

By the Associated Press.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 2.—Representative John D. Clarke, in a speech Wednesday night in Endicott, defended the right of a public official to vote dry and drink wet and declared the private life of an officials is "nobody's damned business but his own."

Clarke's stand on the wet and dry question was taken at the annual banquet of the Veterans of Foreign Wars after Monroe Curtis of New York, department commander, had said abruptly during a speech on patriotism: "I understand that Congressman Clarke drinks wet and votes dry. I drink dry and vote wet."

When Clarke's turn to speak came he reopened the question at once. "The private life of a public official, in my opinion, is nobody's damned business but his own," he said. "This is America."

"I have fought the eighteenth amendment, but my district under the State referendum voted dry. It is my duty to reflect the majority sentiment in my district, when it is known."

As Gained by Making Bathroom Paper, Like Silky Rayon, From Pure Cellulose

SOFT as linen, much more absorbent, easily disposed of . . . these are features of this bathroom paper made from the same basic material as rayon.

You can feel the difference between "Northern Tissue" and cheap yellow or newsprint white "toilet papers"—papers made largely by grinding raw wood into a splintery mass.

To make this softer bathroom paper, only pure cellulose pulp is used—cooked over 8 hours at 302°. This cellulose is the same basic material from which soft, luxurious rayon is made. So it makes a paper that is white, absorbent and soft as fine linen! And more easily disposable, too, than less absorbent ground-wood "toilet papers."

Then every sheet of "Northern Tissue" is sterilized 20 times in the making—coming to you as free from bacteria as sterile hospital cotton. The price is only 10c a roll, at any Department, grocery or drug store.

GENERAL GRAFT CHARGED AGAINST POLICE IN BOSTON

Attorney-General, After Inquiry Alleges Bribery, Connivance With Criminals and Dry Protection.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, May 2.—Widespread corruption among officials of the Boston police force is charged by Attorney-General Joseph E. Warner in a report made at the Statehouse yesterday after an investigation in which he had been engaged since February under authority from the Massachusetts Legislature. Officers from Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson down to patrolmen are severely attacked in Warner's report.

The 62-page report is studded with sensational charges of bribery, grafting, connivance with law breakers, protection of bootleggers and keepers of disorderly houses, against officials said to have become wealthy through their dealings with criminals.

Milder charges include general inefficiency in administration of Boston's Police Department, gross negligence in the performance of its functions, keeping of unreliable police records, faulty morale and disregard for constitutional guarantees.

Wilson is described as a man totally unfit to hold his position as head of the police force. The Attorney-General's investigation was precipitated by charges made by State Senator Joseph H. Mulhern of Dorchester on the floor of the State Senate, that the pension of former Special Officer Oliver B. Garrett was obtained fraudulently. Garrett, former head of the liquor squad, was under departmental charges at the time his pension was granted. (Investigation of Garrett's bank deposits from 1923 to 1929 disclosed that during these six years he banked $122,000.)

Warner's report not only sustains the charge that the pension was fraudulently obtained, but adds that Wilson was guilty of active intervention on Garrett's behalf when he procured a change in the medical report on Garrett's condition. This report described Garrett as mentally irresponsible.

The immediate upshot of the Attorney-General's report will be quick action by the grand jury of Suffolk County, while Gov. Allen will make known today what course he intends to pursue in Wilson's case.

WHALE EXHIBITOR RESCUED 38 IN EASTLAND DISASTER

He Also Recovered 67 Bodies in Sinking of Excursion Steamer in 1915.

The exhibitor of the 55-foot, 68-ton finback whale at Hamilton avenue and Delmar boulevard, is Arthur Loeb, former deep-sea diver who rescued 38 persons and recovered 67 bodies in the sinking of the excursion steamer Eastland off a Chicago dock in Lake Michigan in 1915.

Loeb, who carries on the tradition of the old-time "Thar-she-blows" whalers with the steamer Hercules of the Pacific Whaling Co., harpooned the whale 10 weeks ago near San Clemente Island off the coast of Southern California. The whale was killed after a fight of two hours in which the harpooners' boat was nearly capsized. The embalmed whale will be exhibited through Sunday.

While recovering a body from the Eastland, Loeb fractured his skull and burst a blood vessel. The effects of these injuries persisted, finally forcing him to abandon deep-sea diving four years ago.

EX-MANAGER OF SINCLAIR OIL STATION HELD AS EMBEZZLER

Arrested in Detroit on St. Clair County Indictment; Shortage $3200.

Ray C. Speedie, former manager of the wholesale distributing station of the Sinclair Refining Co. at Belleville, has been arrested in Detroit and will be brought to St. Clair County under an indictment which charges the embezzlement of $3200.

Employed by the Sinclair company since 1918, Speedie was discharged several months ago and left Belleville. Evidence was submitted to the grand jury by State's Attorney Lindauer but the indictment was suppressed until yesterday when a telegram from Detroit announced his arrest.

Extradition proceedings have been started.

NATHAN FRANK BUYS BLOCK ON 12TH FROM OLIVE TO PINE

Filing of Deeds Discloses Him as Recent Purchaser; $1,250,000 to $1,500,000 Paid for Property.

Nathan Frank, capitalist, is the purchaser who recently acquired the vacant property on the west side of Twelfth boulevard, extending for a block between Olive and Pine streets. He paid between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000 for it, he said today, and is holding it with the idea of leasing it to some interest that will erect a tall building there.

When announcement was made of the purchase the name of the buyer was withheld, but deeds were filed yesterday. Frank bought the two corners, with aggregate frontage on Twelfth of 123 feet, from the Essex Investment Co., which is owned by the Bixby family, and the center 70 feet from the Barnight Realty Co., in which Walter J. Knight is a leading figure.

While Frank said he had no idea of erecting a building himself, he declared he would be prepared to do so if no one else did.

In 1898 Frank acquired a 99-year lease on the northwest corner of Twelfth and Olive, and in 1904, when he owned the St. Louis Star, he built the Star Building there. Recently he sold the Star Building and leasehold to the Union Electric Light and Power Co. for $575,000. When the St. Louis Star moves to a new site upon expiration of its lease in about three years, the Electric company will take over this structure, but Louis H. Egan, president of Union Electric, said today no plans had been made yet for altering or replacing the building.

SUES 89-YEAR-OLD HUSBAND FOR DIVORCE, FOR DESERTION

New York Woman, 69, Asserts He Broke Separation Agreement Made in 1923.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK May 2.—Charging her 89-year-old husband, Samuel Badgely, with desertion, Mrs. Maria Parker Badgely yesterday filed a suit for divorce in Newark.

Mrs. Badgely, 69, alleges her husband and she entered into a separation agreement two years after their marriage in 1921. In 1926, she said, she wanted to return to her husband, but she refused to take her back. She was compelled to seek employment to support herself, she says, and became housekeeper for a wealthy family in Newark.

When the case was called, Badgely, despite his age, strode briskly into court, prepared to defend himself. The case was set down for May 8. Badgely denied the charges made by his wife.

PAIR WHO SHOT SHERIFF AT TRENTON PLEADS GUILTY

TRENTON, Mo., May 2.—James Heppley, 25 years old, St. Joseph, Mo., and Truman Dillner, 22, Chillicothe, Mo., pleaded guilty to charges of assault with intent to kill and robbery with a deadly weapon before a Justice of the Peace here yesterday and were bound over to the Circuit Court.

The two men were captured Monday in a St. Joseph hotel, after they shot Sheriff Ed Spickard, Trenton, here last Saturday when he attempted to arrest them.

The robbery charge was in connection with the holdup of Charles Lewis, Trenton, from whom, it was alleged, they took a motor car.

Judge A. G. Knight will hold a special session of Circuit Court tomorrow. Both men have confessed, police said, that they kirdnaped G. L. Stengel, Kansas City taxi driver, shot the Sheriff and commandeered Lewis' motor car.

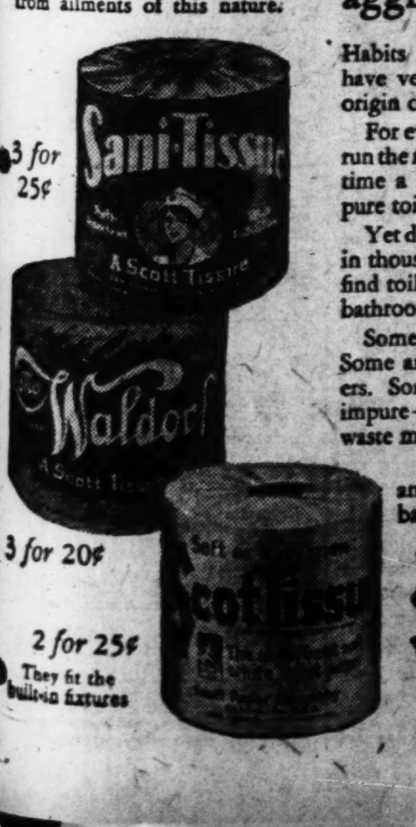
Just one of the ten million*



*A prominent surgeon estimates that over ten million people in the United States are suffering from ailments of this nature.

—suffering from troubles caused or aggravated by harsh toilet tissue

Habits of personal cleanliness have very little to do with the origin of rectal trouble.

For even the most immaculate run the risk of serious illness every time a harsh or chemically impure toilet tissue is used.

Yet despite this serious danger, in thousands of homes you will find toilet tissues utterly unfit for bathroom use.

Some are glazed, sharp-edged. Some are covered with tiny slivers. Some are even chemically impure—made from reclaimed, waste material.

ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf are famous bathroom tissues specially processed to satisfy the three requirements doctors say toilet tissue must have to be safe: absorbency—softness—chemical purity. Each sheet is made up of millions of "thirsty fibres."

These specially treated fibres, soft and clothlike, are extremely absorbent. Without this absorbent quality, thorough hygiene is impossible.

Scott Tissues are made from fresh, clean materials. No harmful dyes. No waste material. They are sanitary. Fully sterilized—and absolutely safe to use. It doesn't pay to be careless in this bathroom essential. Always insist on ScotTissue—Sani-Tissue or Waldorf.

PRIVATE CROP ESTIMATES FACTOR IN WHEAT TREND

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Wheat traders focused attention today chiefly on May unofficial crop estimates indicating $7,000,000 bu less domestic winter wheat this season than suggested by the Government April report. The probable yield pointed to is 35,000,000 bushels below last year's harvest, with a decrease of 7.3 per cent in this country's spring wheat acreage and 4.8 per cent decrease for Canada. Uncertainties, however, regarding settlement of May delivery contracts tended to restrict new speculative buying, and the market showed a sagging tendency at times.

Wheat closed irregular, varying from ⅝c net decline to ⅜c advance, compared with yesterday's finish.

Corn closed ⅝@1¼c down, oats ⅛c off to ⅛@¼c up, and provisions showing 10c@40c gain.

The average of the private crop estimates was for a domestic winter wheat yield of 543,000,000 bushels as compared with the Government April forecast of 550,000,000 bushels. Opening unchanged to ⅜c higher, Chicago wheat sagged later but then rallied somewhat. Corn and oats were easy, with corn starting at ⅛c decline to ⅝c advance and subsequently receding all around. Provisions showed gains.

On the basis of an average abandonment of winter wheat acreage, the unofficial May crop summaries today pointed to 39,103,000 acres for the United States harvest this year, aginst 40,162,000 last year. One expert's estimate of domestic spring wheat acreage was 19,456,000, compared with 20,979,000 acres in 1929. Canadian 1930 spring wheat acreage is figured at 23,002,000 acres, compared with 24,169,000 acres last year.

On the other hand, an outstanding feature of comment by a leading authority in his monthly survey was that good rains lately in most sections of the winter wheat belt were of great benefit, and came in time to check a serious situation that was developing in the Southwest.

Board of Trade regulation amendment renders wheat in carlots on track deliverable on May contracts on an equal basis with grain stored in elevators.

COTTON FUTURES CLOSE LOWER AT NEW YORK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Cotton was more or less unsettled again today with early declines attributed to some near month liquidation and scattered selling based upon relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further rains in the Southwest.

Offerings tapered off about 16.40c for July and 14.54c for the new October contract, or about 12 to 20 points below yesterdays' closing quotations. Trading later was quiet, with the mid-afternoon market showing rallies of 8 or 10 points from the lowest.

Futures closed steady, 6 to 12 points lower. May, 16.38c; July, 16.50@16.51c; Oct., 14.88@14.90c; Dec., 14.96c; Jan., 15.05c. New contracts: Oct., 14.57@14.59c; Dec., 14.67c; Jan., 14.74c; March, 14.92c. Spot quiet; middling, 16.60c.

Cotton opened barely steady, 4 to 9 points off under further liquidation and scattered selling of new crop months, promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further rain in the Southwest.

Covering by near month shorts caused bulges of a point or two right after the call, but the selling continued with July easing off to 16.46c, or 14 points net lower, while the new October contract sold down to 14.58c, making a net decline of 8 points before the session had advanced far. Prices were within 3 or 4 points of these figures at this period.

Cable advices received in the trade here from Liverpool reported local liquidation of near months in the market there and continental selling of distant months.

Realizing or liquidation continued later in the morning, while there was some selling of the late months on a favorable view of the weather and present crop progress. July was relatively easy, selling off to 16.40c or 20 points net lower, while new crop positions showed net declines of about 10 to 15 points with October declining to 14.55c. Offerings tapered off around these figures and the market at midday was comparatively quiet and steady at rallies of 5 to 10 points from the lowest.

PRIVATE CROP ESTIMATES FACTOR IN WHEAT TREND

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Wheat traders focused attention today chiefly on May unofficial crop estimates indicating $7,000,000 bu less domestic winter wheat this season than suggested by the Government April report. The probable yield pointed to is 35,000,000 bushels below last year's harvest, with a decrease of 7.3 per cent in this country's spring wheat acreage and 4.8 per cent decrease for Canada. Uncertainties, however, regarding settlement of May delivery contracts tended to restrict new speculative buying, and the market showed a sagging tendency at times.

Wheat closed irregular, varying from ⅜c net decline to ⅜c advance, compared with yesterday's finish.

Corn closed ¾@1¼c down, oats ⅛c off to ⅛@¼c up, and provisions showing 10c@40c gain.

The average of the private crop estimates was for a domestic winter wheat yield of 543,000,000 bushels as compared with the Government April forecast of 550,,000,000 bushels. Opening unchanged to ⅜c higher, Chicago wheat sagged later but then rallied somewhat. Corn and oats were easy, with corn starting at ¼c decline to ⅜c advance and subsequently receding all around. Provisions showed gains.

On the basis of an average abandonment of winter wheat acreage, the unofficial May crop summaries today pointed to 39,103,000 acres for the United States harvest this year, aginst 40,162,000 last year. One expert's estimate of domestic spring wheat acreage was 19,456,000, compared with 20,979,000 acres in 1929. Canadian 1930 spring wheat acreage is figured at 23,002,000 acres, compared with 24,169,000 acres last year.

On the other hand, an outstanding feature of comment by a leading authority in his monthly survey was that good rains lately in most sections of the winter wheat belt were of great benefit, and came in time to check a serious situation that was developing in the Southwest.

Board of Trade regulation amendment renders wheat in carlots on track deliverable on May contracts on an equal basis with grain stored in elevators.

Cotton opened barely steady, 4 to 9 points off under further liquidation and scattered selling of new crop months, promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further rain in the Southwest.

Covering by near month shorts caused bulges of a point or two right after the call, but the selling continued with July easing off to 16.46c, or 14 points net lower, while the new October contract sold down to 14.58c, making a net decline of 8 points before the session had advanced far. Prices were within 3 or 4 points of these figures at this period.

Cable advices received in the trade here from Liverpool reported local liquidation of near months in the market there and continental selling of distant months.

Realizing or liquidation continued later in the morning, while there was some selling of the late months on a favorable view of the weather and present crop progress. July was relatively easy, selling off to 16.49c or 20 points net lower, while new crop positions showed net declines of about 10 to 15 points with October declining to 14.55c. Offerings tapered off around these figures and the market at midday was comparatively quiet and steady at rallies of 5 to 10 points from the lowest.

FOX FILM DECLARES $1 QUARTERLY DIVIDENDS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Directors of the Fox Film Co. today declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1 in cash on Class A and B common stock, both payable May 20 to holders of record May 12.

The previous declarations were $1 payable in scrip on January 15 to holders of record Dec. 31.

Directors also voted to call for redemption on May 15 the scrip which was issued Jan. 15 in lieu of the cash dividend.

Today's action by the directors was in line with an announcement last night by Harley L. Clarke, president, that the policy of the company would be to continue the quarterly dividends of $1 a share payable in cash.

Declaration of the dividend came two weeks later than usual. At Clarke's office it was explained that at the time of the regular dividend meeting, April 15, last, the old management had become practically inactive and the new management had not yet taken control, so no meeting was held.

The company recently was reorganized, with William Fox, former president, as chairman of the advisory board, after a period of extended litigation culminating in the passage of control of the company from Fox to Clarke.

CHRYSLER REPORTS 4C A SHARE FOR FIRST QUARTER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Net profit of $180,717 after interest and Federal taxes was reported by the Chrysler Corporation for the first quarter of 1930, compared with $8,232,173 in the same quarter last year. The quarterly profit was equal to 4 cents a share against $2 a share in the same quarter in 1929.

Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents payable June 30.

The preliminary reports had indicated the Chrysler corporation earnings statement for the quarter would about break even. The decline was attributed largely to the reduced volume during the quarter. The corporation had a deficit of $2,828,251 in the fourth quarter of 1929, as compared with net profit of $10,895,797 in the third quarter.

The Chrysler Corporation is the third largest manufacturer of automobiles in the United States.

BONDS IMPROVE ON NEW MONEY RATES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Bond prices moved up sharply in a strong market as the day brought further encouraging signs in the money market. Nearly all of the standard issues in the railroad, utility and domestic industrial groups participated in the upward movement.

The rails showed the greatest strength, Union Pacific first 4s, Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s advanced more than a point on nominal sales, and Southern Pacific first 4s of '55, St. Louis, San Francisco 4½s, Rock Island A 4½s, Missouri Pacific F 77 5s were boosted from ¾ to ⅝ points.

There was a smaller turnover in the utilities group, American Telephone 5s of '65, gained ⅛ while Telephone 5s and Consolidated Gas 5½s were steady.

Government bonds were in good demand. Among the foreign issues nearly all Euorpean governments made fractional gains. United States governments went up several 32nds of a point generally, under the impetus of heavier buying. Liberty 4th, 4¼s led the group gaining more than half a point.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Raw sugar was unchanged early today with no sales reported and spot Cuban quoted at 3.30 duty paid.

Raw futures opened 3 points lower for the spot month under liquidation, but 1 point lower on later deliveries. The May position held comparatively steady following the call, as there appeared to be little for sale, but the later months weakened under a renewal of tired long liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban and European connections, with all positions from July forward selling into new low ground for the season. There was considerable covering and new speculative buying on the break, and there were partial rallies from the lowest with the list midday 1 point lower on May unchanged for July, but 2 to 3 points lower on the later deliveries.

Refined was unchanged with refiners listing at 4.90 for fine granulated, but second hands available around 4.70. The withdrawal demand was of fair proportions, but no fresh business was reported.

Sugar futures closed easy; approximated sales, 70,300 tons. May 1.53, July 1.50, Sept. 1.57, Dec. 1.65, Jan. 1.67.

CURB PRICES SLUMP IN TRADE NEAR CLOSE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Selling pressure on the curb stocks was relaxed for only brief intervals today. The bears maintained the upper hand throughout most of the session, hammering prices down with special vigor in the last half hour and net losses of 2 to 6 points were shown in the active issues.

Trading was in substantial volume and the ticker fell about half an hour in arrears.

Utilities bore the brunt of the selling, although the oils and industrials were forced into line during the latter part of the session.

After a moderately steady opening, the list developed signs of easiness but resistance points were relatively high and by noon early losses of one to two points had been fairly well recovered, although the market was moving erratically.

The late selling movement carried Electric Bond & Share down 6 points. American Superpower lost 3, American & Foreign Power Warrants 5, American Gas & Electric 6, American Light & Traction new, 2, and United Light A, 4. Duke Power was one of the few firm spots in the utility group.

Liquidation of the oils followed a steadier tone in this list in the early trading. As the pressure became more insistent, however, gains were quickly relinquished. Humble fell 3 points, and Gulf 4, while losses of one to two developed in standards of Kentucky and Indiana, Ohio Oil and Houston (new).

A Prediction that is already being Fulfilled

"The future development and extension of the natural gas industry will follow directly the lines of progress through which the electrical industry has passed, for the two are closely analogous."

The foregoing is from a recent study and analysis of this industry by Standard Statistics Company, Inc., one of the leading organizations of its kind. The study is replete with economic findings regarding this rapidly growing industry. The prediction of a period of development comparable to that in the field of electric power is already being borne out and is daily reflected in the news.

Ably managed, prudently financed companies with established markets will prosper most. The Appalachian Gas Corporation is in the category of natural gas companies already possessing stability of both markets and earning power.

The illustrated booklet, "Natural Gas, the Modern Fuel," tells the part which this corporation is playing in this thriving industry. A copy will be mailed to you upon request.

The OFFICE WIFE

But as the Wife in His Home

CHAPTER XXIII.

THAT was all that passed between Eaton and Anne until she was ready to leave. He was still at his desk when she went in.

"Good-by," Anne said, with difficulty. "I—if I were you I'd use Miss Danton until you fill my place. She's quick and she does good work. If you like, she could come to see me any evening, and I'd tell her what I can."

Eaton said quickly: "But it's not good-by. You'll let me see you? You'll have dinner with me often?"

Anne shook her head. "No. Not yet. Can't you see," she asked, in despair, as she saw his face darken with disappointment, "how that would ruin everything—if people saw me with you outside? There wouldn't be any use in leaving the office, no use in anything."

"But I must see you," he argued.

Anne said, in a panic: "Not yet. When everything's settled, but not yet." She held out her hand. "Good-by."

He took the hand in his, held it a long moment. "I won't say it," he told her. When she had gone he stared blankly at the closed door.

He said aloud: "But I need her. I can't lose her. I love her."

She had forbidden him to see her. He recognized, with rebellion, how wise she had been. Not for himself, though she had thought only of him—but for herself, and he must think of her. He was bitterly regretful for his own sake that he hadn't told her how things were with him. If Jim hadn't come in he would have spoken. Now, for Anne's sake, he must follow his original plan and say nothing until the case was over.

Then he could go to her, tell her that he loved her, ask her to come back to him, not as the—what had Linda called her?—the office wife, but as the wife in his home, the one woman, his.

"Anne," his heart cried out after her, "wait for me, believe in me, love me!"

"It doesn't matter about me," she'd said, "but it matters terribly about you."

There'd been confession in that. Confession of love. And on the heels of this realization he knew a humble gratitude and a repturous certainty.

But there was one thing he must do for her sake. He went to the office of the Daily Star and demanded to see the editor in chief. After a little talk with that courtly and charming individual, he was turned over to Adams, the city editor, and stated his errand briefly.

"Oh, that's all washed out," Adams told him. "Nothing in it. Don't worry, nothing will be said; simply the bare statement of your wife's suit. You'll have to stand for that, Mr. Eaton. It's usual enough. People can't get divorces nowadays without telling the world."

"I didn't expect it would be kept from the press," Eaton informed him. "But neither Mrs. Eaton nor I desire any advance publicity. You appreciate my position?"

"Oh, quite," Adams answered carelessly; "but news is news. If John and Mary Smith decide to separate, that's one thing—nothing to addle the morning eggs, you know. But if Lawrence Eaton, of the Eaton Advertising Agency, and his wife, the former Miss Schuyler, agree to disagree after 10 years of married life—that's another. That's news."

"Yes, I get all that," Eaton agreed, "but the point is, why on earth try to drag an innocent woman into it? You'd nothing to base a story on, much less a sensational one!"

"Oh, yes, we had," yawned Adams. "I see you don't follow the drift of the newspaper mind. Look here, I'll show you. You and Mrs. Eaton had a large, splashy wedding—that was news. Your position, your inherited money, Miss Schuyler's name—that was news. Then for 10 years you led a most exemplary life—that was news in this day and age. Mrs. Eaton was continually before the public—that was news, too.

"Then, suddenly, she beats it for Reno—news, more news. Now, why? The newspaper mind gets to work. It works like a detective; cherchez la — anything — man, woman, child. In this case we appeared to draw a blank. Mrs. Eaton's name has never been connected with any one." He looked sharply at Eaton.

Eaton's face was a mask, but his heart pounded with relief. At least that much was gained; they wouldn't hunt down Linda and come on Jameson's trail.

"In your case," went on Adams, after a moment, "we drew an equal blank until one of our bright young men noticed your secretary. It was reported to me that she was an exceptionally pretty girl. Now, wives and husbands, employers and secretaries are old triangles. They happen not only in the news, but in real life.

"Why not? A busy man is thrown continuously into the society of a pretty and intelligent young woman; a young woman who understands his business—and incidentally himself—1000 per cent better than his wife does. His wife is connected in his mind with—what? With bills, expenses, domestic difficulties, servant problems, money—always money.

"His secretary, on the other hand, is connected only with his business troubles—and she shares them; she does not create them. She works in his interests, not against them. His wife sees him in mental undress. Sees him tired, irritable, crabbing about something, too busy to take part in whatever little schemes and interests she has. His secretary, however, may see him bad-tempered, impatient or as a slave driver; but she sees also what he accomplishes and how he accomplishes it and why.

"He becomes, in many cases, a sort of god to her. And he knows it, after a while, if he isn't a fool. Add to all this a secretary who is easy on the eyes—well, have you arrived at the result which is, rightly or wrongly—news?

"I'm sorry we jarred you about this business. Before I saw you my chief told me to reassure you. We were quite justified in trying to smell out a good story—even if the scent was rather thin. That's out now.

"It was a coincidence that Jim Murdock happened to be your secretary's brother. Of course, he'd protect her—and we think a lot of Murdock down here—but, as it happens, his story seems pretty straight. For it's true, I suppose, that she resigned some time ago?"

"True enough," Eaton answered.

"And that, coupled with the fact that she's to be married, makes our story deader than last year's murder."

Eaton, by some miracle, kept his face blank. But his pulses hammered at his temples. Married? Anne?

"Oh," he commented, and succeeded in smiling, "I see that her brother told you. It was to be kept a secret for a time."

"We'll keep it, never fear," laughed Adams. "That's not news. It boils down to an unknown girl getting married. What's that to the public? With her skirts clear of your pending divorce case, Miss Murdock no longer interests us."

Eaton went back to the office. Miss Danton was at his disposal, and he admitted to himself that she was alert and worked hard. But she was short and dark and had adenoids.

"Miss Murdock left word I might come to see her and she'd help me fit in more quickly, Mr. Eaton," she told him.

"By all means," answered Eaton vaguely, and bit back a savage. "Felicitate her for me, won't you?"

It did not occur to him at once to doubt Adams' veracity or Jim's. What an ass he had been! Taking her love for him for granted, just as he had taken for granted her work, her business integrity. Why should she love him?

Adams was all wrong. He'd let his story sense run away with him. Daily contact in an office did not engender any godlike illusions in a girl's mind. Her employer was her personal concern—in office hours. Afterward she was through with him; she'd turn to a young man for love, to a man she'd not seen in mental shirt-sleeves wrestling with phrases, with problems, nervous, impatient, egotistical.

She'd want youth and laughter. She'd want dinner for two, dance floors, flowers and engagement rings; and eventually a flat or a suburban cottage, a gas range, a back yard—babies.

His heart hurt him until it was physical agony. To love her and to lose her. The whole story. But he'd never had Anne. He'd just had Miss Murdock, secretary to the president.

But she might have told him! She'd promised she'd tell him if ever the situation arose. Surely they'd been good enough friends for that much confidence. She should have told him, not let him hear it in that noisy newspaper office. It hadn't been square of her.

He'd not thought of himself as a vain man, yet this had proved him vain to fatuity, he told himself bitterly.

That evening he worked in the office until 7 and went out to a solitary, tasteless dinner. Presently he pushed away plates and cup and began to seek loopholes, to make excuses. Perhaps after all Adams had misunderstood something Jim Murdock said to him.

There was only one thing to do, and that was to find Anne at once and ask, no, demand an explanation.

Half an hour later he was ringing her bell with a sort of sustained savagery.

Hopes to Set Endurance Flying Mark

Then Mary von Mach Will Go to India

Aviation Attracted Detroit Woman During War—Caution Is Her Watchword and She Has Never Had an Accident.

This is the ninth of a series of interviews by a Post-Dispatch writer in which noted women flyers relate some of their interesting experiences in the air.

Mary Von Mach of Detroit, who wants to break the endurance flying record for women.

MISS MARY ELIZABETH VON MACH of Detroit is the last woman in the world one would suspect of being an airplane pilot. Soft-spoken, reserved, quiet and gentle of manner, it is hard to imagine her 'gunning' a motor into a tantrum and roaring across an airport in a cloud of dust. Outwardly she seems to be the type that visits an airport once and contents herself with touching a wing with a fingertip and flicking the dust off with a handkerchief.

Yet she had held a private pilot's license for two years and by this time next year will probably be flying doctors from a missionary hospital to remote points in India. That, at least, is what she plans doing. She has been told that there is rare opportunity for service in this line and intends to give up her clubs, her position with an aviation firm and her social associations in Detroit to follow it up. She is financially independent, the daughter of a retired decorator.

"Before I go, however," she said, "I intend trying to break the present women's duration flying record. It isn't just a freakish idea. I want to find out what kind of a flyer I am and that is the best way I know of to do it."

AS HER disposition might indicate, Miss Von Mach is distinctly a conservative flyer, whose watchword is caution. She never stunts but sticks to orthodox maneuvers. Only by convincing her family that she exercised the greatest caution was she able to gain permission to fly.

"I got the notion I wanted to fly during the war," Miss Von Mach said. "There used to be a field near Detroit where army pilots trained. Only a handful of people were interested enough to come out and watch them. I was always there. I would return home talking about aviation but my parents wouldn't hear of my taking a ride. The other eight children were noncommittal.

"When I finally did manage to get a ride, it was a secret one. I told the family about it afterwards. It was in a seaplane and confirmed all that I had visioned flying was like. I knew then that I was going into it and started to educate my family to the idea of buying me a ground school course.

"Finally, by promising to be cautious, I won. I have been a safe flyer ever since. My parents grew so interested in my work that the dinner table every night was a review of what I had learned from Jack Stinson in the flying school. They made me report everything I knew and tell all about my experiences. Dinner hour was governed by the time Mary got home from flying school.

"The caution has remained and I haven't had a crackup yet. (Miss Von Mach tapped wood.) If I do, it won't be because I wasn't careful. The mechanics sometimes get angry when I check over their work, but I have got used to that. I don't even believe the gasoline gauge. I take the cap off the tank and test the level with a ruler. The oil also gets attention before I take off. A slip in one of these things may mean a lot. I don't even recall having had what you would call a close shave.

THE duration flight idea probably arises from Miss Von Mach's long distance swimming feats. Several years ago she was one of the best swimmers in the Detroit district, but she had to give it up because of her heart. And then she took up aviation. Which may furnish a good insight into her attitude toward flying. One of the organizers of the Women's Aquatic Club of Detroit, she won many distance swims.

"Swimming got too strenuous for me," she said. "A few years back club members came to ask me if I wouldn't represent the club in a 25-mile swim. I hadn't been in a tank, outside of a bathtub, for three years, but I agreed to try it. We greased ourselves and hopped into the Detroit River about dawn one cold day. The water was like ice and after nine miles I was one big cramp and had to be lifted out. I've stuck to the air ever since.

"I have two jobs in aviation. One is a sales position with the Fleet people. The other is the promotion of interest in a flying school for women. I visit quite a bit around the clubs and try to get the clubwomen interested in flying.

"We figure that if a mother is interested in flying, the children will be also. This, of course, is looking quite a few years ahead but I have signed up enough recruits now to convince the National Airways that the field is ready for a women's flying school. It will be established soon.

"I get my greatest pleasure in flying out of visiting my friends by plane. One week I drop in on a girl in Ypsilanti and the following week she returns the call and we have tea. This is thrilling to me and I know it will be to other women."

Tomorrow—the story of a young girl flyer who is rather disappointed because she has never been in a plane crash, will appear in this section of the Post-Dispatch.

Mother and Daughter Match Their Gowns

MATCHING gowns for mother and daughter or for sisters who attend social affairs together is popular in Washington.

If mother wears black taffeta, daughter has a gown of the same material "youthified" a bit.

Two popular sisters with red hair appeared at a White House affair in matching gowns of green. The girl with lightest locks had a gown of nile green velvet with a skirt trimmed with tulle ruffles. The other, whose hair is darker red, was dressed in green crepe with long train.

Care of the Rug

IT is said a good rug should give at least 15 years' service. In some homes there are rugs that have done twice as well as that; then again many have not given one-third that length of service. This depends largely upon what care the rug receives.

Beating a rug is quite apt to break the strands and lessen its wearing qualities. Sections where there is much walking or feet come in continuous contact with the rug, as under a desk, will soon show wear, but this may be avoided by frequently turning the rug. An uneven floor will be hard on a rug, but a lining of newspapers or Manilla paper will remedy this. When being removed from one place to another pile rugs should be rolled rather than folded.

When sweeping a rug with a broom, hold the broom nearly upright and take short strokes, which should be with the nap and not against it. Oriental rugs especially should be swept with the nap. The digging motion of the broom should never be used on rugs with a heavy pile.

In using a vacuum sweeper be sure all attachments are properly adjusted to prevent damage to the rug.

By the way, do not be harsh with hubby when he drops cigar ashes on even your best rug, for experts tell us ashes will not injure a rug at all; on the contrary, it will be beneficial, as the ashes act as a preventive against moths. Beware of dropping face powder upon the rug, for it is quite likely to permanently spot it.

Children's Socks.

It will be found more economical to buy several pairs of socks of one pattern rather than three pairs of different designs. Then when one sock wears out it may be mated with any of the others and longer service will result.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Paper Costumes

THE costumes given to John and Peggy and the Little Black Clock by the pilot were very lovely. They were made of gold and silver paper. John had a paper hat which looked something like a noble helmet while Peggy was given a crown, and a beautiful wand to carry.

"I feel as though I were the Queen of the May," Peggy said, and the pilot looked at the Little Black Clock, and they both smiled.

They had never had such fine costumes and the plane looked so gay and lovely too with all its beautiful decorations.

Now they were going up in the air, and they took their place at the very head of the parade.

"Sing at the tops of your voices," the pilot shouted to them. So they sang all the songs they knew, and now all the children in the planes following them also were singing.

After they had been flying for quite awhile, the pilot turned, and as he turned Peggy and John saw that there was a huge dirigible—like an enormous playground—where it seemed they were about to land.

And soon, indeed, they were landing, and after them followed the other planes and landed, too.

"We're going to have a picnic," said the pilot.

They got out, and now the other children with their fine paper costumes got out of their planes.

They sang more songs, they danced, they played, and they had the most delicious refreshments—such fluffy, delightful ice cream, and odd little cakes made in the shapes of planes.

"Now for the crowning!" shouted all the children.

Scallops en Casserole.

One pound scallops, two cups cream sauce, one tablespoon minced onion, one-half cup grated cheese. Add onion and cheese to cream sauce, putting all in a double boiler. Cook scallops in their own juice for 10 minutes. Add to the sauce and cook for just a few minutes. Turn into a buttered casserole, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake for 15 minutes in a moderate oven.

Sew strips of leather on the inside of trouser cuffs to prolong their wear.

Turkish Priest Scolds Women; Loses Pulpit

TURKISH priests do not enjoy the prerogative of their western brethren of being privileged to vociferate against the costumes of modern women.

Hakki Effendi, a priest of Magnesia, thought otherwise and in a sermon upbraided the women of Turkey for exposing their ankles and faces.

In doing so he ran counter to some of the pet westernization reforms of the Federal Government and a peremptory order came from Angora removing him from office.

Beaded Net for Wraps

JACKETS and finger length theater coats of beaded net are the solution of the problem of mid-summer wraps offered by a Paris dressmaker of first order.

Wide mesh net trimmed with sequins is also used for short evening coats. They match the dress in color.

A Piece of Her Mind

By Elsie McCormick

IT is surprising to realize that in the most modern country of this enlightened and scientific age more money is being spent on fortune-telling, divinations and other wizardry than ever before in the history of the world.

John Mulholland, vice president of the Society of American Magicians and well known lecturer on the art of conjuring, told me the other day that at least $25,000,000 is paid annually to fortune-tellers in New York City alone. The total for the United States would make old Merlin turn in the grave and bite ruefully on his willow wand.

Nor is this huge tax levied merely on the inhabitants of back alleys and creek bottoms. Among those who pay and pay are college professors, attorneys and presidents of metropolitan banks. United States Senators are such faithful devotees of the unseen that Washington is a paradise for anybody who was born with a caul.

Probably this great interest in the future is due to the general instability of our lives. The chances of making or losing a fortune or of changing partners in marriage are so much greater now than they used to be that people live in a highly uncertain state of mind.

It is interesting to know that a number of high-priced augurs have offices in the Wall street district, where they advise hopeful stock and bond dealers concerning the trend of the market. This shows how much a tip from your broker is sometimes worth.

In Chicago there is an occult financial service that sends out form letters once a week. Many well-to-do business men subscribe at the rate of $1000 a year for these tips from the Great Beyond.

There are students working humbly and sincerely in an effort to prove the existence of an immaterial world. The person who foretells the future for money is not generally related to these serious-minded brethren. His "occultism" usually consists of conjuring tricks, the free use of Who's Who and the telephone book, and a keen eye for wedding rings, war service buttons and other illuminating data.

Getting information about people is surprisingly easy. Usually the client must give his name in advance—either in the waiting room or at the time he seeks an appointment. DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Paper Costumes

THE costumes given to John and Peggy and the Little Black Clock by the pilot were very lovely. They were made of gold and silver paper. John had a paper hat which looked something like a noble helmet while Peggy was given a crown, and a beautiful wand to carry.

"I feel as though I were the Queen of the May," Peggy said, and the pilot looked at the Little Black Clock, and they both smiled.

They had never had such fine costumes and the plane looked so gay and lovely too with all its beautiful decorations.

Now they were going up in the air, and they took their place at the very head of the parade.

"Sing at the tops of your voices," the pilot shouted to them. So they sang all the songs they knew, and now all the children in the planes following them also were singing.

After they had been flying for quite awhile, the pilot turned, and as he turned Peggy and John saw that there was a huge dirigible—like an enormous playground—where it seemed they were about to land.

And soon, indeed, they were [illegible]ding, and after them followed [illegible] other planes and landed, too. [illegible] We're going to have a picnic," said [illegible] the pilot.

Getting information about people is surprisingly easy. Usually the client must give his name in advance—either in the waiting room or at the time he seeks an appointment. In both cases there is an interval long enough to consult a city directory or other reference book and thus secure facts about the person concerned.

Even when no name is given, the seer or seeress is usually sufficiently keen as an observer to learn about the client's background from various details of his person.

A medium who has toured the country with conspicuous success always has an advance team consisting of four men. Two of them peddle such commodities as paring-knives or improved can openers at the back doors, and the others attempt to sell children's books to the lady of the family.

When the medium arrives in the community he knows so many details that his surprised clients could be knocked over with a breath of ectoplasm.

Mr. Mulholland told me that fortune-tellers with an expensive clientele often give subsidies to doormen, charwomen and other servitors in return for useful information. In some cases the business of predicting the future runs hand in hand with blackmail.

The dealer in financial prophecies usually safeguards himself by advising half of his clients one way and half the other. Thus he is certain to be right, at least as far as some of them are concerned, and the rest can be assuaged by pointing out a trick paragraph or skillful contradiction which perhaps they had not observed.

Perhaps the fortune-tellers' greatest advantage lies in the fact that people are pathetically anxious to believe in them. The most skeptical of clients are pleased when they hear something that can be twisted into truth. The idea of a hidden future is terrifying to every one of us, and even the hardest boiled would be glad to know that light could be shed on this dark, far-reaching moor.

The fortune-teller is also assisted by the fact that most people's psychic needs are very simple. "Clients are generally interested in just two things—love and money," said Mr. Mulholland. "They want to hold the love they have or else find love that they do not now possess. They want either to recover money they have lost or get some that they never had. It is very easy for the fortune-teller to decide in what category the client belongs."

When the seer is at a loss he need only say, "I see someone who looks extremely well. This person is very fond of you and is glad that you are to have good fortune very soon." A prediction like this covers everything—fears concerning a loved one's health, doubts as to his or her affection, and worries involving the client's own future.

Holding a customer's hands is very useful to the professional prophet. He can tell by the faint twitching of the muscles just when he has struck something close to his patron's heart.

It is foolish to use all butter for shortening in gingerbread or spice cakes as the flavor is concealed by the heavier spices. Use half butter and half shortening.

The Paris Urchin Who Is America's Latest Movie Idol

Maurice Chevalier Was a Failure as a Carpenter, a Painter and an Acrobat

Maurice Chevalier in one of the talking pictures that made him a star in America.

Chevalier today. He is making a new picture in New York.

By ARTHUR STRAWN.

NEW YORK, May 1.

THERE has been in recent stage history no such meteoric rise to popular and secure affection in the hearts of the American people as Maurice Chevalier, French mimic and singer, has achieved in the short time he has been in this country. Whatever one may ordinarily think of the proverbial infallibility of the French, Chevalier has clearly demonstrated, in the 18 months since Paramount brought him to Hollywood to make pictures, that in his case at least 50,000,000 Frenchmen were not wrong.

Long the idol of the Parisian stage and the most popular of continental entertainers, Chevalier himself nevertheless hesitated about coming to the United States for fear that he might not be able to please American audiences. But his fears have turned out to be without justification. He has so far appeared in but two talking pictures, but they have been sufficient to win him a staggering volume of fan letters, the unanimous approval of professional critics and the complete admiration of the more sophisticated movie-goer who is usually unmoved by the ordinary "it-man" of the screen. His appearance, between pictures, for a short time with Ziegfeld's Midnight Follies on the new Amsterdam Roof put seats there at a premium. His week's appearance last month in an intimate recital of French and English songs at the Fulton Theater in New York was lengthened to two weeks by the insistence of a clamorous public, and after performances the stage door was so packed with admiring ladies eager to see the charming Frenchman at closer range, that on several occasions Chevalier had to use another exit to avoid the throng. While working at Paramount's Long Island studio and living in New York he became the most sought-after guest at parties given by Manhattan's more exclusive hostesses, society leaders vying with each other for the honor of having Chevalier appear, not as an entertainer, but as a handsome and charming young man whose very presence, it seems, is regarded as enough to make any gathering a success.

Yes, Chevalier's success has exceeded even that anticipated by the shrewd movie magnates who induced him to venture to America, and the amazing part of it is that his success has not only been a widely popular one, but an artistic and social triumph as well, a triumph that causes even Chevalier to smile reminiscently when he recalls the lean and hungry years of struggling before he could win even a favoring smile from his beloved Paris, long before he ever dared dream of a day when he would be earning well over $5000 a week making moving pictures.

FOR, although Chevalier's success in America has been phenomenally swift, it took him many, many years of disappointment and hardship before he achieved a place that caused him to be sought after by the movies.

"I have never taken the world by storm, but by stealth" says Chevalier. "It is from studying my failures that I have learned what I know today."

That statement rests on more than mere modesty, for Chevalier has never in any sense of the phrase been one of fortune's darlings, save possibly in so far as he has been endowed with a fund of courage that no misfortune seemed able to dissipate entirely.

Chevalier was born 36 years ago in Menilmontant, on the outskirts of Paris. When he was 11 his father, a laborer, died, leaving the family in poverty. It was at about this time, too, as Chevalier recalls it, that his budding talent for mimicry got him kicked out of school.

During the teacher's absence from the room Maurice mounted a desk and sang a song he had recently picked up in a cafe.

The pupils laughed so heartily over this that the boy was encouraged to venture into a few realistic imitations of the teacher. It was only when the young genius felt that worthy man's firm hand on his shoulder that he realized that the laughter was caused not by his talents but by the fact that the teacher had been standing behind him unobserved all the time. That episode ended young Chevalier's schooling, and after that he became successively apprentice carpenter, electrician, printer and doll painter, his apprenticeship in each instance never lasting more than a few weeks. He became a typical Parisian gamin, a ragged, undernourished, spirited urchin of the streets.

At this early date however, he had acquired a definite ambition to be a singer, an ambition inspired by occasional attendance at the numerous "cafes chantants" that abound in Paris, cafes where, with a glass of cognac or a bottle of wine the patron is entertained with songs and dances. His debut as a singer in one of these cafes was a decided failure, a failure that young Chevalier went to a great deal of trouble to achieve.

Having decided that the Three Lions was the cafe best suited to his talents, Maurice boldly accosted the manager of the frowsy drinking place and told him a highly imaginary story of previous successful engagements. Maurice asked for a chance as a singer. The manager surveyed the applicant and decided against it. Then, in the Parisian manner familiar to fiction, the manager's wife took a fancy to the spirited youngster and interceded in his favor.

CHEVALIER was given his opportunity at the Three Lions. And after he sang and bowed himself off, he heard a roar as if all the lions in creation were there. Coming back for a curtain call with beaming face, he nearly collapsed to discover that the audience was mocking, not applauding him.

He then took a job, of all places, in a nail factory. But he was still determined to make a career on the stage. This time he decided he would become an acrobat. When the factory had closed for the day he would go with his brother Paul to a nearby gymnasium to master the art of trapeze performer. But misfortune dogged him. First he fell and broke an ankle. Recovering from this he toppled from a bar and smashed his face, bearing to this day a small scar as souvenir of that unhappy adventure. He probably would have managed to break his neck had his mother not decided against any more attempts at acrobatics.

Crushed in more ways than one, he managed to get an engagement at another little cafe, the Casino de Tourelles, at the princely salary of $2.40 a week for four performances. His engagement ended when that cafe closed, and to get another job he went to work at the Fourmi to sing for a dollar a week and whatever he might earn in gratuities. It was a sordid atmosphere, and Chevalier was about to give up his place when the manager transferred him to his other cafe, the Parisiana, where he had his first part in a revue, a small part, but a definite one. This, however, was far from recognition in Paris, and to keep going Chevalier took barnstorming jobs for the next few years at Rheims and Marseilles.

THE next time he ventured upon Paris he was equipped to make some headway. He did well at one of the unimportant music halls and then one night a friend took him to the dressing room of the famous dancer Mistinguette at the Folies Bergere and introduced him. He made a favorable impression and was engaged for a part at that celebrated theater. Here he did a dance opposite Mistinguette herself and achieved immediate success. He became her partner. The way seemed open at last for a brilliant career, but once more misfortune reared her ugly head. Chevalier was not past 18 years of age and eligible for military service. Compulsory military training snatched him from the footlights with success within reach. That was in 1913. The next year, while he was still in training, the great war burst upon Europe. It was no time for singing or dancing. Chevalier's next move was into the trenches at the front.

He saw active service as a poilu and here again the misfortune that had always followed him made its appearance. He was wounded by a shrapnel shell and rendered unconscious. When he woke up it was to discover he had been picked up, not by French stretcher bearers, but by a German ambulance, which eventually led to a German prison camp at Alten Grabow.

For 26 months Chevalier remained a prisoner, but he did not spend his time in self commiseration. As soon as he had recovered from his wound he promptly organized vaudeville entertainments for his fellow prisoners. This in turn led to a fortunate friendship with the man who gave him the opportunity for a broadened career. This man was an English Major, a fellow prisoner of war, and from him Chevalier learned to speak English, without which accomplishment the French star would certainly not be appearing before the microphone in Hollywood today.

Out of these entertainments developed another and perhaps equally important friendship with Joe Bridge, also an entertainer from Paris. They teamed up for an act and got along so well together they decided to engage in an act that would test their histrionic abilities to the utmost, an act whose success or failure meant either freedom or death at the hands of a firing squad. They organized a little sketch in which they wore the costumes of Red Cross workers. Attired in these costumes they left the theater at Alten Grabow one night and boldly walked out of the prison camp, made their way into Belgium and eventually reached the French lines in safety. France later honored Chevalier with a military cross.

Tomorrow—How Chevalier came to the United States and made a quick success as a picture star, will be told in the second half of his story.

Frozen Cheese Salad.

This might prove a novelty for the person very fond of salads. Blend one cake cream cheese and one-fourth cup sweet cream. Then add six chopped olives, one tablespoon finely chopped salted pecans, a pinch of salt, a dash of red pepper and one tablespoon sherry. Pack in a small pudding mold and pack in ice and salt for two hours to freeze. Cut in thin slices and serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing.

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts for the New York Academy of Medicine.
Edited by Dr. Iago Galdston.

Sleeplessness

SLEEPLESSNESS, like headache, is not a disease in the true sense of the term, but rather a symptom of some underlying condition.

Insomnia may be due to some physical condition such as pain, cough, or shortness of breath. Again, it may be due to some emotional or psychological state, such as anxiety, fear or depression.

Where there is a physical cause for the sleeplessness, it is, of course, logical to treat it by having the physical disability removed or remedied. A physical cause, however, is not as easily cured as the first type.

Occasional insomnia need not trouble the sufferer much, but persistent insomnia needs attention, for the tendency is for the condition to progress rather than to cure itself.

Often the cause for the inability to fall asleep is self evident to the sufferer, and consequently suggests its own remedy. It may be due to excess fatigue, or to undue excitement. Quiet and rest are the remedies here.

Normal sleep somewhat depends upon regularity of habit, and many an insomnia sufferer has found relief in going to bed at certain appointed times, and adhering to this schedule. A warm bath, a light meal, or a walk before retiring has a soporific effect on some.

The general condition of the body often affects sleep and the sufferer from insomnia will do well to improve his physical condition wherever possible.

Hypnotic drugs, especially those self administered, are dangerous props to lean on. Even if not habit forming, in the sense that narcotics are, they may cause the formation of a dependency upon them which is just as enslaving.

Crisp Lettuce.

Wash your lettuce and then put it in a cloth bag in the icebox for several hours before using, keeping it directly on the ice. The lettuce will be lovely and crisp and need not be taken out of the refrigerator until just before serving, so it will keep its crispness and coldness and be most attractive and appetizing.

Baked Cream Potatoes.

Don't feel that you must always fry the leftover boiled potatoes. Cut the cold boiled potatoes into cubes and blend with a seasoned white sauce. Turn into a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese or buttered bread crumbs and bake until brown.

Get Happy Orchestra	Arlen

The usual "At the Sign of the Green and White" program will be on the air over KMOX at 8 o'clock.

Countess Olga Albani, soprano, a male quartet and an orchestra under Nathaniel Shilkret, will do "Just We Two," selections from Verdi's "Rigoletto" and "Romance" on the Kodak "Week-end" program, from 8:30 until 9 o'clock over KWK.

The program follows:

"Should I?" orchestra and quartet; "Just We Two," Countess Albani and Jack Parker; "The Woman in the Shoe," orchestra and two pianos; "Puttin' on the Ritz," orchestra; "Rigoletto," brass quartet; "Romance," Countess Albani; "My Buddy," quartet with orchestra; "College March Medley," orchestra.

The Gold Medal Fast Freight program will be broadcast over KMOX from 8:30 to 9:00 o'clock.

The program includes "California, Here I Come," "Song of the Islands," "Lucille Valie" and selections from "Maytime." The quartet will sing "That Old Gang of Mine," "The Cowboy's Lament," and a yodeling specialty.

The St. Regis Orchestra will play at 9 o'clock over KSD.

At 9 o'clock KWK will broadcast a Hamilton-Brown Sketch Book program.

Amos and Andy are scheduled at 9:30 over KWK.

A prohibition poll discussion is set for 9:45 over KWK.

At 10 o'clock KSD and allied stations are to broadcast an account of the latter part of organized baseball's first venture in playing games on fields artificially illuminated. The occasion will be the game between Des Moines and Wichita teams at Des Moines, Ia., which will open the Western League's season. The game will be played on a field lighted by 146 flood lights mounted in batteries on six 96-foot towers. The game is scheduled to begin at 8:45, but the network will not pick it up until 10 o'clock. Sen Kaney will be the announcer. WGY will be included in the hook-up, and through it W2XK, on 17.34 meters, W2XAD on 19.56 and W2XAF on 31.48 meters will carry the story to Australia, the Far East, South America, South Africa and Europe.

A Ivy Ball University of Pennsylvania program may be tuned in over KMOX at 10:30.

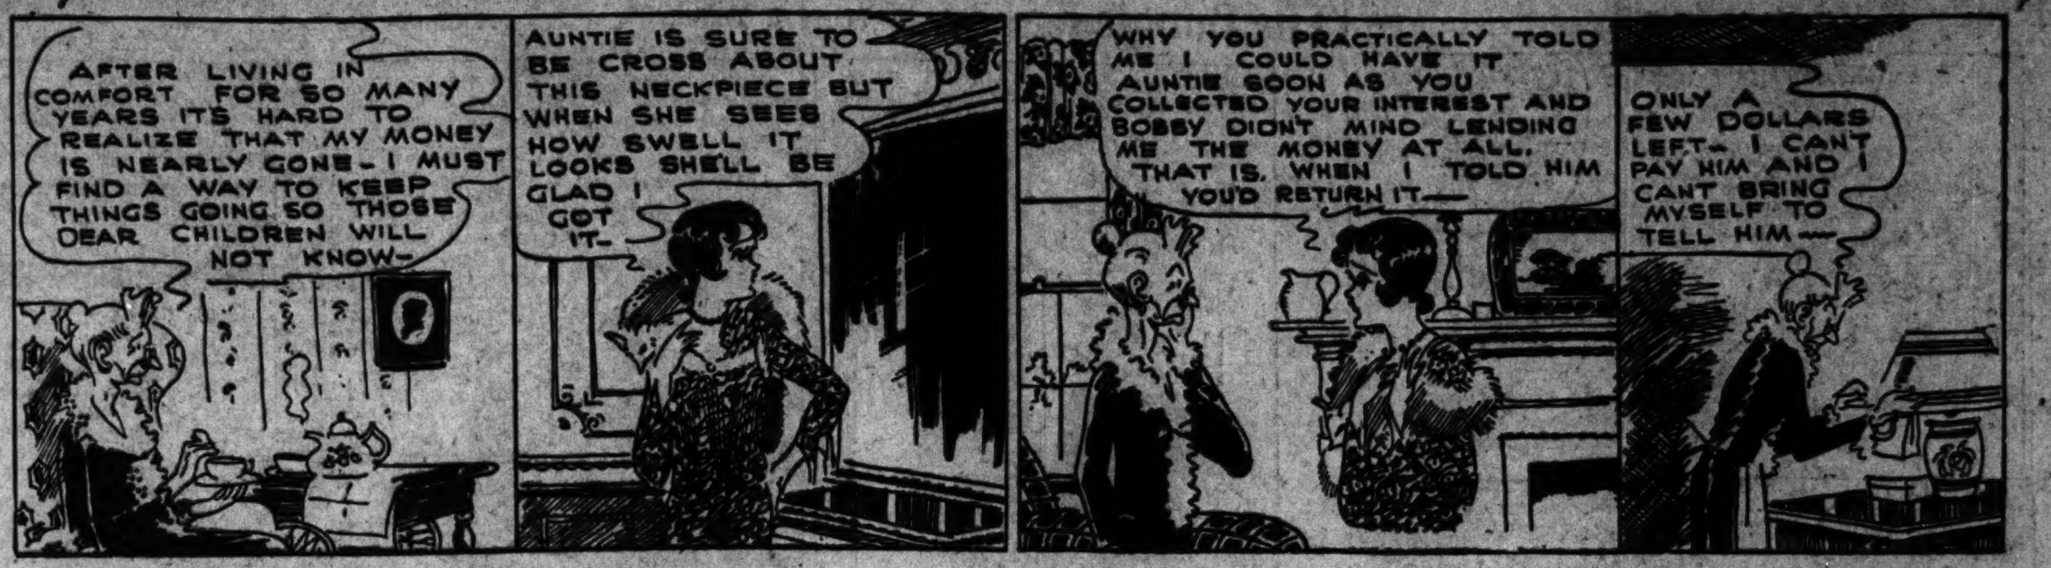
Bobby Thatcher—By George Storm

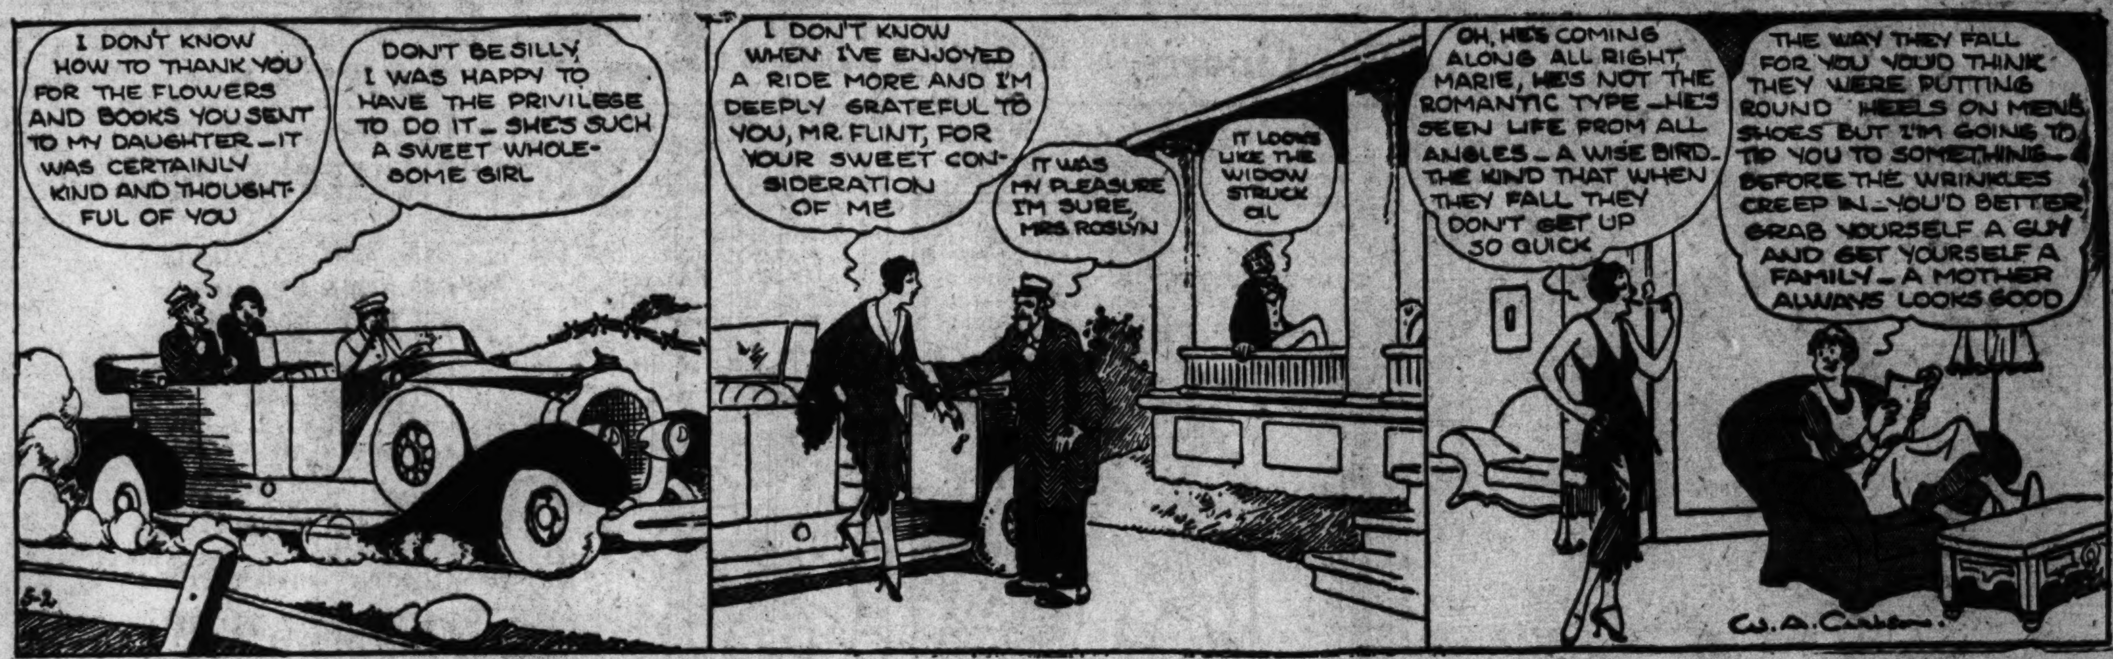
Vanishing Dollars.



AFTER LIVING IN COMFORT FOR SO MANY YEARS IT'S HARD TO REALIZE THAT MY MONEY IS NEARLY GONE — I MUST FIND A WAY TO KEEP THINGS GOING SO THOSE DEAR CHILDREN WILL NOT KNOW—
AUNTIE IS SURE TO BE CROSS ABOUT THIS NECKPIECE BUT WHEN SHE SEES HOW SWELL IT LOOKS SHE'LL BE GLAD I GOT IT—
WHY YOU PRACTICALLY TOLD ME I COULD HAVE IT AUNTIE SOON AS YOU COLLECTED YOUR INTEREST AND BOBBY DIDN'T MIND LENDING ME THE MONEY AT ALL. THAT IS. WHEN I TOLD HIM YOU'D RETURN IT—
ONLY A FEW DOLLARS LEFT — I CAN'T PAY HIM AND I CAN'T BRING MYSELF TO TELL HIM—

The Nebbs—By Sol Hess

And Then What?



I DON'T KNOW HOW TO THANK YOU FOR THE FLOWERS AND BOOKS YOU SENT TO MY DAUGHTER — IT WAS CERTAINLY KIND AND THOUGHTFUL OF YOU
DON'T BE SILLY, I WAS HAPPY TO HAVE THE PRIVILEGE TO DO IT — SHE'S SUCH A SWEET WHOLESOME GIRL
I DON'T KNOW WHEN I'VE ENJOYED A RIDE MORE AND I'M DEEPLY GRATEFUL TO YOU, MR. FLINT, FOR YOUR SWEET CONSIDERATION OF ME
IT WAS MY PLEASURE I'M SURE, MRS. ROSLYN
IT LOOKS LIKE THE WIDOW STRUCK OIL
OH, HE'S COMING ALONG ALL RIGHT MARIE, HE'S NOT THE ROMANTIC TYPE — HE'S SEEN LIFE FROM ALL ANGLES — A WISE BIRD — THE KIND THAT WHEN THEY FALL THEY DON'T GET UP SO QUICK
THE WAY THEY FALL FOR YOU YOU'D THINK THEY WERE PUTTING ROUND HEELS ON MEN'S SHOES BUT I'M GOING TO TIP YOU TO SOMETHING — BEFORE THE WRINKLES CREEP IN — YOU'D BETTER GRAB YOURSELF A GUY AND GET YOURSELF A FAMILY — A MOTHER ALWAYS LOOKS GOOD

Lamb Kidney Pie.

Five kidneys, sliced and sauted a bit in bacon drippings or butter. Mix the kidneys with 1 cup cooked carrots, ½ cup cooked peas, 1 cup cubed cooked potatoes, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, brown gravy to moisten. Turn into an unbaked pie shell, cover with top crust and bake in a hot oven until a nice brown. Make a few slits in the crust for steam to escape.

Frozen Meringues.

Fill meringue shells with sweetened whipped cream, flavored with one teaspoon vanilla extract. Pack in ice cream freezer and pack the freezer in ice and salt. Let stand for three hours. A delightful ending to a large dinner.

Eggs are getting less expensive so that they can be served frequently, either alone or in combination with vegetables and cream sauces for escalloped dishes.

MY WORD. ACCORDING TO THOSE FOLKS NEXTDOOR THE PEOPLE WHO LIVED HERE BEFORE US WERE AS MYSTERIOUS AS A BURGLARY IN A POLICE STATION.
IMAGINE! THEY STAYED UP UNTIL DAYBREAK. KEPT ALL THE LIGHTS BURNING, AND WOULDN'T OPEN THE DOOR UNLESS THEY KNEW JUST WHO WAS THERE. IMAGINE!
FROM THE DESCRIPTION I'D SUPPOSE THEY WERE THE SORT YOU SEE IN THOSE UNDERWORLD MOVIE THRILLERS. UGH! IT MAKES A PERSON FEEL LIKE —— EEE-K! WHAT WAS THAT. NOISE?
SH-HH! OH, IT'S ONLY THOSE FOLKS NEXTDOOR OPENING A WINDOW. MY WORD, I TURNED MY FOOT A LITTLE WHEN I JUMPED SO SUDDENLY!
NO WONDER I FOUND THAT DAGGER IN THE FRONT CLOTHES-CLOSET. THE IDEA OF US MOVING INTO A HOUSE THAT'S BEEN OCCUPIED BY FOLKS WHO WERE SO AFRAID OF EVERYTHING. THE LAW PROBABLY.
ACCORDING TO THAT MAN NEXTDOOR THE BABY WHO LIVED HERE WALKED AROUND LOOKING LIKE A HARDWARE SALESMAN. HIS POCKETS FULL OF KNIVES AND SO FORTH
WELL ANYHOW WHY WORRY! WE MIGHT AS WELL LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE AND—
OH GEORGE PLEASE DON'T START ONE OF THOSE SUNSHINY LECTURES AT A TIME LIKE THIS WHEN I'M — WELL — JUST NERVOUS, THAT'S ALL. I CAN'T IMAGINE ANYTHING SILLIER THAN TO WALK AROUND TRYING TO SMILE WHEN I KNOW THAT I WONT SLEEP A WINK TONIGHT

Ella has finally landed a job as maid-of-all-work in a theatrical boarding-house.
THIS IS A LOVELY CLOTHES-CLOSET, BUT WHERE'S MY ROOM?
THIS IS IT! WHAT DID YOU EXPECT—AN AUDITORIUM?
SHE'S RIGHT! I SHOULDN'T COMPLAIN! FOUR WALLS AND A ROOF ABOVE ARE BETTER THAN ONLY THE EARTH FOR A FLOOR AND A CLOUD FOR A CEILING! AT LEAST IT WILL BE A PLACE FOR THE BABY LEFT IN MY CARE BY THE HEARTBROKEN MOTHER WHOSE NAME I DON'T KNOW!
SILENCE IS THE PRICE OF ADMISSION OR WE'LL FIND OURSELVES OUTSIDE WITH TOO MUCH ROOM AND NOT ENOUGH SHELTER! WE'LL SNEAK INTO MY ROOM AND BE AS COMFORTABLE AS A HERD OF ELEPHANTS IN AN ANT-HILL! SH!
I'M SHUSHING!
BLACKIE, YOU SLEEP ON THE COUCH, GIGGLES WILL SLEEP WITH ME, AND RAGS CAN DECIDE FOR HIMSELF! AND DON'T BOTHER TO YELL GOOD NIGHT OR THE LANDLADY WILL SAY GOOD-BY!
THIS IS JUST LIKE TRYING TO PUT THE WHOLE NAVY IN A ROWBOAT!

TOCK BREAK OST SEVERE SINCE CRASH LAST AUTUMN

ng List of Leading Shares Lose 5 to 14 Points With Some Losses Running Close to 17 Points as Sales Reach Record Volume of 4,867,530 Shares.

ICKER NEARLY 2 HRS. BEHIND AT CLOSE

ape Records Strings of Sales of 5000 to 30,000 Shares at Opening on Liquidation, Short Selling and Possibly Collapse of Recent Pools.

the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Stock rices crumbled with a swiftness experienced since the trouble- me days of last fall tdoay. A ng list of leading stocks lost from to 14 points, with some losses unning close to 17 points. Trad- g set a new Saturday record with turnover of 4,867,530 shares, ut failed to equal the volume per our of Oct. 29, when more than 6,000,000 shares were traded.

The Standard Statistics Co.—Associated Press price index of 90 eading stocks—dropped 5.8 points, xactly duplicating yesterday's loss. The index was reduced to 181.4, ompared to a peak for the year eached April 8 of 205.8, a low at he first of the year of 168.2, and bottom touched last November f 140.2. Widest declines occurred the industrials and utilities, while the index of 20 rails was actically unchanged.

The ticker reported the last stock exchange sale at 1:56 o'clock this afternoon, one hour and 56 minutes after the closing. This was a new record for lateness on a Saturday. The Curb tape recorded the final transaction an hour and 40 minutes after the close.

Overnight Orders Large.

The market opened with a huge ccumulation of overnight selling orders, the tape recording strings of sales of 5000 to 30,000 shares. After these sales were absorbed, the market was inclined to rally for a time, but sold off sharply in the last hour, as the ticker fell about an hour in arrears, and traders became panicky.

In addition to widespread liquidation from all sources, the decline was accelerated by what appeared to be the collapse of pools active in the recent rise, and wholesale short selling. While pools were able to bid up their favorites rapidly, during the rise ended early in April, they had not been able to distribute any large part of their holdings and the recent decline is understood to have caused distress selling by a few.

Vanadium Off 17 Points.

Such issues as U. S. Steel, Colum- a Gas, General Electric and American Telephone lost 5 to 6 points. Vanadium lost nearly 17 points, and Westinghouse Electric 14. The rails appeared to have been fully deflated in the selling of Thursday, and Atchison and Union Pacific closed about 2 points higher. Oil and food shares also showed a fairly firm undertone, although losses of 1 to 3 points were common in this group. The motors, generally sagged only moderately, also appearing to have been deflated previously. Some of the recent pool favorites were hard hit, Radio lost 9 points and United Aircraft dropping about 14 points.

Commodities Down.

Commodities sagged in sympathy with stocks. Wheat lost 1 to 1⅛ cents, the decline acceleratel by bearish weather reports. Cotton lost 75 cents to $1 a bale.

Foreign exchanges were irregular. Sterling was steady with cables at $4.86 1-16. The French franc eased, while marks and guilders were firm.

The selling was a continuation of the movement which developed yesterday, and was scarcely attrib-
